PRAYER STARTS SECOND YEAR FOR ROOSEVELT

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 4.—[Special.]—A year of his greatest of tasks behind him, Franklin Roosevelt today, as in the very hour before he commenced that duty, communed with his God.

In the dim sepulchral vault of Bethlehem chapel of Washington cathedral on Mount St. Albans the President and his wife and his daughter worshiped this afternoon and heard the story of Jacob and his struggles with the wrestling angel, and though the priest did not draw the simile it was clear that he saw the inner struggles of Jacob as those also of the man Franklin Roosevelt.

Looks at Wilson Tomb.

The President in his pew was only a few feet removed from the dust of another man whose struggles he had witnessed intimately, struggles also of great moment. At times the President's glance toward the tomb bore his thoughts to Woodrow Wilson, whose body is enshrined within the stones of that peaceful abode.

None could tell by the placid countenance of the President what supplications and thanksgivings he voiced, but that he did voice them none who knows him can doubt, for he is a sincere believer.

The day smiled kindly on him as he motored with his womenfolk along winding streets to the cathedral, and the warm breeze of spring bore contrast to that day a year ago when, seeking divine blessings upon the responsibilities he was about to assume, he attended a special inaugural service at the Church of St. Thomas.

President, Cabinet Happy.

Tonight the President celebrates in more earthly spirit with the members of his official family, who with their spouses are toasting their leader for the manner in which he and they have carried through the first year of his régime.

It is a merry company, the hearts of the celebrants buoyant with their thoughts that they have succeeded in setting the people of the nation on the path toward better days. If elsewhere there are doubters, the President and the members of his cabinet do not worry over them tonight.

It was not disclosed whether wine graced the tables of tonight's banquet, given by the cabinet to the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, but it might well have done so, for Mr. Roosevelt himself broke the long public abstinence of Presidents last night.

At a formal dinner given by the White House Correspondents' association President Roosevelt sipped at several goblets of white and red sparkling wines. It was the first "legal drinking" in public done by a President of the United States in fourteen years.

President Speaks Today.

Tomorrow morning the President is scheduled to make a most important address, to be broadcast over the land, in which he will make his defense of the NRA against its critics and disclose his future policy for American industry.

Most elaborate plans have been made for the speech, which is to be made in Constitution hall here before 3,000 delegates chosen from code authorities under the NRA.

The President will set the pace for his industrial administrator, Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, and the other federal and code officials who will participate in a week of conferences aimed at strengthening the weaknesses of the NRA and at remedying its worst faults.

Bishop Preaches Sermon.

The sonorous preachments of the Rt. Rev. James E. Freeman, Episcopal bishop of Washington, during the regular Lenten choral evensong service bore, as the President listened, upon the ancient theme that through adversity man is brought closer to God.

In deep purple cassock showing under white lace surplice the devout bishop repeated the story of the Hebrew leader, Jacob, who in a moment for great decision put himself apart from his company and sought confirmation of his judgment in loneliness.

"We read," spoke the bishop, "that Jacob was left alone; and there wrestled a man with him until the breaking of the day.' As the struggle increased the wrestling angel cried out against him, 'Let me go, for the day breaketh,' to which the sorely dis-

SURVEY SHOWS 21½ MILLION ON NEW DEAL ROLL

Relief Costs Among Chief Items.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 4.—[Special.]—The first birthday of the New Deal finds the government in process of expending 15 billion dollars in the effort to recover prosperity and more than 21½ million American citizens living on the government.

One out of every six persons in the country is directly dependent upon the federal goverment for a salary or some sort of cash benefit or loan, a review of official reports showed today. In addition thousands of business concerns, which in turn employ hundreds of persons, are being kept alive by federal cash.

Nearly Million Borrow.

A year after he took office to launch the New Deal President Roosevelt has 20,607,228 persons drawing all or part of the money on which they live through government salaries, pensions, doles, or benefits. Another 860,837 persons have borrowed money from the government to fight off mortgage foreclosures or to keep farms running.

Besides this huge horde of dependent individuals the government has on the list of its debtors half of the banks in the country, most of the railroads, many insurance companies, building and loan associations, and cities, and all of the state governments in the country.

List from Official Reports.

Executive depts. and agencies	591,675
Army and navy	214,117
Judicial staffs	3,301
Legislative staff	8,435
Conservation corps	297,000
Civil works	2,767,000
Public works	1,000,000
Farm benefits	3,400,000
Veterans	1,081,700
Relief cases	11,264,000
Total of persons receiving salaries, benefits, etc.	20,607,228
Seed loans	635,000
Other farm loans	132,242
Home mortgage loans	93,595
Total loans to individuals	860,837
RFC loans	14,402
Public works loans	2,000
Total loans to pub. bodies, bus.	16,402

Although President Roosevelt already has more people dependent on the easy money which he and his aids are handing out than ever voted for any Presidential candidate except himself, he is laying plans to spread the government's paternalism even more widely. Workers stranded in dead industrial centers are to be moved on to federal homesteads, farmers on marginal lands are to get quasi-government salaries for public works to keep them going, the Civic Works army is to become a standard feature of cities.

Millions Get Relief Doles.

By far the largest mass of people dependent on the New Deal are those who are drawing direct relief cash. In January, the last month for which the Federal Relief administration has made a report, there were approximately 11,264,000 drawing relief doles.

A part of this money, and in some states all of it, is being paid out of the federal treasury. Without federal aid, the President has said, direct relief could not go on.

Second largest group receiving federal cash are the farmers being paid by the Agricultural Adjustment administration to cut down their acreage. There are 3,400,000 of them in whose mail boxes have been deposited checks on the federal treasury. This total will swell as the crop control program grows.

Civil Works Army Next.

The Civil Works army, each member of which gets a weekly pay check from Washington, is the third largest group. Having numbered more than 4,000,000 men at one time, the CWA army is now supposed to be down to 2,767,000.

Another million men are reported to be working on public works projects for which the federal government furnishes the cash, 1,061,700 veterans are receiving monthly benefit or pension checks from the government, 297,000 members of the conservation army

NICE TOWN, AMARILLO; ITS MOTHERS-IN-LAW WILL BE FETED TODAY

Amarillo, Tex., March 4.—(AP)—Amarillo husbands bought flowers today for their mothers-in-law.

The occasion: Tomorrow is Mother-in-law day here. Mayor R. D. Rogers decreed Amarillo "show its expressions of love, respect, and genuine understanding of the place our mothers-in-law hold in our hearts and affections."

Such was the response that florists experienced some difficulty in finding enough sweet peas to supply the demand. That flower was selected by the mothers-in-law themselves "because it is cheap."

One florist ordered 10,000 sweet peas, and proportionate numbers of other varieties, in preparation for one of the biggest occasions of the year. Even some daughters-in-law placed orders.

It will be a gala day for the ladies. The city's main business street will be roped off to be used as a stage on which the mothers-in-law will parade. A reception, with the city's dignitaries in the receiving line, and a brief program will be followed by a special theater program.

$316 REPORTED U. S. PER CAPITA INCOME IN 1933

New York, March 4.—[Special.]—The average income of each person in the United States last year was $316, according to statistics made public by the National Industrial conference board today. Higher by $9 than in 1932, when the average income was $307, the lowest in twenty-four years, the per capita income in 1933 was still far below the figure for any of the last fifteen years and less than half that of lush 1929.

Highland Park Jewelry Firm Employe Shoots Self

Gus Ohman, 28 years old, 304 North Green Bay road, Highland Park, was taken to St. Luke's hospital in a serious condition last night from a bullet wound, self-inflicted, under the heart. He was found in the back of the Spaulding-Gorham Jewelry company, 328 South Michigan avenue, where he was employed. Ohman told Policeman William Fuller he was discouraged over his financial condition.

Three Killed as Airplane Falls in Lake

Vincennes, Ind., March 4.—[Special.]—Three men were drowned when their cabin monoplane plunged into the deep waters of Lake Lawrence, just across the Wabash river in Illinois, this afternoon. The victims, all of whom were well known in American Legion circles, were Hoyt Nickloy, 36 years old; Charles Conover, 33 years old, and Clayton Hobbs, 45 years old, all of Vincennes.

The plane, owned by the Vincennes Flying club, had been used steadily during the day taking up passengers for short flights from the airport here. It was functioning well. At 2:30 o'clock Nickloy, a traveling salesman, who holds a commercial flying license, invited his friends to go up with him.

The pilot indulged in various stunts, witnesses said, including a number of unusually steep banks. Several times fear was aroused by his flying at low altitudes. After they had been up an hour the plane was seen skimming over Lake Lawrence. Suddenly it banked sharply, and the left wing struck the water and was torn off. The ship dived and disappeared under the surface.

The bodies were recovered several hours later by volunteers who had to chop a channel for their boat through off shore ice.

PILOT'S SKILL SAVES TWO.

A private pilot who was teaching a student how to land a plane correctly gave an unexpected exhibition of skill credited with saving both their lives yesterday after the propeller of their ship cracked and the vibrations tore the motor from the craft at a height of 300 feet above the Harlem airport at 82d street and Harlem avenue.

Gradually losing altitude, the pilot circled the plane until he landed it about a block from where the motor had deeply imbedded itself in the earth, in a field between Harlem and Ridgeland avenues at 91st street.

Both occupants of the ship were injured, but will recover. The pilot, Charles Lehr, 28 years old, 6332 South Kilpatrick avenue, suffered a cut head, and his pupil, William Brenza, 18 years old, 4940 East End avenue, received severe bruises and possible internal injuries. Brenza is the adopted son of Dr. Sylvester Brenza and is a student in the school of commerce of Northwestern university. He was taken to Holy Cross hospital.

Lehr is an instructor employed by the Monarch Air service, 6200 South Cicero avenue. He was flying a Curtiss Fledgling, powered with a Wright Whirlwind motor. Deputy Sheriff C. A. Kohler said he would conduct an investigation when witnesses reported Lehr was "stunting."

MILD MEASLES CASE PENS SISTIE DALL IN WHITE HOUSE ROOM

Washington, D. C., March 4.—(AP)—Sistie Dall celebrated the first anniversary of her grandfather's arrival in the White House by having the measles.

Dr. R. T. McIntire, White House physician, said 7 year old Sistie has been "strictly quarantined" for almost a week in her third floor room. He added that her measles case had been very mild, with no complications.

Extra precautions were taken to protect her 3 year old brother, "Buzzie," who was able to go to nursery school as usual.

3 BRITONS ADD TO RADIOACTIVE NITROGEN PROOF

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, March 4.—Three young scientists at the Cavendish laboratory in Cambridge have succeeded in producing radioactive nitrogen which emits positive electrons with an energy of 500,000 volts. The scientists are Dr. J. D. Cockroft, Dr. E. T. S. Walton and C. W. Gilbert.

A piece of graphite was bombarded with hydrogen atoms traveling at a terrific speed under an electrical pressure of 600,000 volts. After ten minutes the bombardment was halted, but the graphite continued to pour forth rays which in another ten minutes decreased to half of their original intensity. Photographs of the tracks proved that the radiation consisted of positive electrons.

The work in the Cavendish laboratory confirms the findings of Mme. Irene Curie Jonot and her husband, who produced in Paris several new radioactive substances by bombarding some of the lighter elements with alpha particles. The Cavendish accomplishment is hailed as being of value in the treatment of certain diseases as a substitute for radium which is scarce and expensive.

Investigates Chicken Coop Disturbance—Sees Doctor

Rainier, Ore., March 4.—(AP)—F. Engstrom went to investigate a disturbance in his chicken coop—and when he came back he had to go to a doctor. In the coop Engstrom met and conquered a bald eagle measuring 7 feet, tip to tip. The bird inflicted severe lacerations before he killed it.

Bare $40,000 Daiches Threat in Murder Quiz

Out of this background they fashioned several tentative theories as to why some enemy or enemies might have wanted to put Daiches out of the way. Investigation of his private life, detectives said, revealed that he frequented night clubs and humored extravagant whims.

Pressed for $40,000.

Up to a late hour last night the only significant development in the investigation was the revelation that he was pressed for $40,000, apparently a debt. On Thursday, less than forty-eight hours before he was ambushed in his car at 53d street and the outer drive, he pleaded, it is known, with some unidentified person for a "little more time" to pay the money.

Miss Lucille Osburn, a nurse who lived in the Daiches home in the Sherry hotel at 1725 East 53d street, last night told of the incident concerning the demand for $40,000 while she was being questioned at the Hyde Park station by Assistant State's Attorney Richard Regan and Sergt. James Keely. Late Thursday afternoon, she said, she overheard Daiches speaking on the apartment telephone.

Relates Promise to Pay.

"I heard Mr. Daiches promising some one that he'd be able to pay $40,000 within the next few days," she said. "He appeared disturbed, and he was pleading with the person on the other end of the line for several more days in which to raise the money."

Assistant State's Attorney Regan considered this disclosure important, and he and police busied themselves trying to trace the identity of the person who had called and who ostensibly was threatening Daiches in order to make him pay. For what, specifically, the $40,000 was to be paid was not determined. It had already been established that Daiches had incurred numerous personal debts and that his expenses during the last year were averaging $100 daily.

Question Young Mother.

In seeking a possible murder motive in Daiches' affairs with women the police questioned Mrs. Lillian O'Shea, 32 years old, comely mother of a 5 year old son, who is separated from her husband, Harry O'Shea, who operates and employment agency. She was asked to appear at the inquest today.

Mrs. O'Shea is an amateur aviatrix and a former stage and screen actress. She played parts in Mrs. Samuel Insull's dramatic company. In July, 1932, she was one of a committee to meet President and Mrs. Roosevelt when he flew here to make his speech accepting the nomination at the Stadium.

Assistant State's Attorney Regan said Mrs. O'Shea told him that Daiches maintained apartments for her and spent about $100 a week on her.

She declared she knew of no reason why Daiches should have been killed, and asserted that whatever the motive was neither she nor her friendship with Daiches was involved. Regan

QUICK GETAWAY INDICATES HELP FROM HIS AIDS

John Dillinger, desperado extraordinary, who bluffed his way out of the county jail at Crown Point with a toy pistol on Saturday morning, had completely vanished from sight last night.

His disappearance has baffled the authorities almost as much as the easy manner of his escape, and it is now believed in certain quarters that he is under cover in a prearranged hideout, probably not more than 100 miles from Chicago.

Meanwhile, with a nation-wide search on for the murderer, a four-fold investigation into his escape was launched by the federal government and Indiana state and county authorities. The federal quiz will be made by two men from the department of justice office at Indianapolis. Another inquiry is being carried on by the office of Attorney General Philip Lutz Jr. at the request of Gov. Paul V. McNutt. The two other probes are under way by Prosecutor Robert G. Estill and Judge William J. Murray of Lake county.

Federal Officials Offer Aid.

The aid of the federal men was offered to Attorney General Lutz and they will cooperate with his office. The common purpose of the quadruple inquiry will be to determine whether pure negligence or criminal collusion was responsible for Dillinger's escape. Already Judge Murray, who was to have tried Dillinger for murder, has declared no evidence of bribery or collusion exists. He has charged, however, that negligence, in violating jail rules, has been disclosed.

In this he referred to Sam Cahoon, 64 year old jail repairman and turnkey, who was first to be captured by Dillinger and whose keys were stolen by Dillinger to complete his jail break.

Former Judge Criticizes.

Other comment on Cahoon was made by Martin J. Smith, former judge. He described Cahoon as "irresponsible and incapable of holding a jail job." During the last 14 years, Smith said, Cahoon has been a prisoner in the county jail on several occasions for drunkenness. In some of those incarcerations Cahoon served as a trusty, the ex-judge added. A jail officer defended Cahoon by declaring that Cahoon had not taken a drink of liquor in two years and did not smoke.

Apart from the official inquiries under way last night there will be a special meeting of the Lake county commissioners at 2 o'clock this afternoon. At that time John Baran, board president, will "have plenty to say on the Dillinger escape," according to announcement he made last night. He refused to confirm reports the board might demand Sheriff Lillian Holley's resignation. She herself has denied she will resign.

Search for Killer Spreads.

Principal interest in the escape scandal centered naturally last night on Dillinger himself, his whereabouts, and how to capture or kill him. Although concentrated in Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, and Ohio, the search for him has spread east to New York and west to Oklahoma and Arizona.

In spite of scores of reports placing the fugitive killer and his fellow jailbreaker, Herbert Youngblood, Gary Negro, in as many different towns and highways, he was last seen in the vicinity of Peotone, Ill. That was not much more than two hours after his escape Saturday. Since then he has vanished, so far as police are concerned.

Fear Prearranged Hideout.

Several factors operated, police declared, against such a complete disappearance unless a prearranged hideout were involved. These factors were listed as follows:

1. The car in which Dillinger and Youngblood escaped belonged to Sheriff Holley, and was official sheriff's vehicle, properly marked and equipped with red and green headlights. Were the pair to dare driving such an easily identifiable car they would be taking obvious risks.

2. Youngblood, being a Negro, would facilitate identification of Dillinger and practically make impossible the latter's freedom in the open if the two continued to travel together.

Added to these is the fact that at no time since Saturday afternoon, so far as police are aware, has Dillinger stopped anywhere to replenish the gasoline supply for his commandeered sheriff's automobile. The car could travel, it was said, not more than 100 miles on the fuel it contained when stolen. Thus far there is nothing to indicate that the car has been abandoned.

Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator for the Cook county state's attorney's office, summed up these points last night and expressed the opinion that Dillinger was not operating alone. He named John Hamilton, fugitive member of the Dillinger gang, who is wanted for the slaying of Sergt. William T. Shanley of the Chicago police. He also mentioned Mary Kinder, sweetheart of Harry Pierpont, "kill crazy" member of the Dillinger mob. Pierpont is now in jail at Lima, O., with two other members of the Dillinger gang, awaiting trial for murder.

"I am satisfied that Dillinger had contacts with other members of his gang while he was in jail at Crown Point," said Capt. Gilbert. "We know that Mary Kinder visited him in jail, and it is possible that she acted as a go-between for Dillinger and Hamilton. Hamilton was no doubt busy selecting a suitable hideout while Dillinger was preparing to escape.

"I can't conceive of Dillinger having no other plans than that of wandering about the countryside in a police car with a Negro companion. He certainly knew he would be recognized at once. My belief is that he may have changed cars as soon as possible, separated from his Negro companion, or got in touch with other members of his gang."

If, as police surmise, Dillinger is safe in a hideout, he will probably remain there until the furore over his escape subsides. Plenty of money—the proceeds of bank robberies committed by his gang—would be available, it is thought. Hamilton is believed to have a small fortune on his person.

Take Hideout Theory Seriously.

Chicago police were treating the hideout theory seriously last night, and also preparing themselves against any incursion by Dillinger into the city. On his last reign of terror he maintained hideouts here, with the result that he or his men had several brushes with the police. In one of these Hamilton killed Sergt. Shanley.

"We're ready to shoot and kill Dillinger on sight," said Chief of Detectives Schoemaker last night. "Perhaps he knows that. If he does, he'll stay away from here."

The police of Indiana are equally determined to dispose of Dillinger with bullets, according to spokesmen.

However, most of the activity in Indiana last night was being carried on by the investigating authorities. Gov. McNutt ordered his attorney general, Mr. Lutz, to investigate thoroughly the manner of Dillinger's escape. The governor declared he would do everything within his power to apprehend Dillinger and to fix responsibility for the gangster's escape. He added significantly that he had no power to "remove a sheriff," even if it is proved the sheriff" is guilty of negligence in permitting a prisoner to escape.

Lutz Issues Statement.

On receiving Gov. McNutt's instructions for a sweeping quiz, Mr. Lutz, accompanied by Edward C. Barce, an assistant, and Leroy Hullett, an investigator, went to Crown Point, where he issued the following statement:

"Gov. McNutt has asked my office to look into the Dillinger case to the fullest extent. The nation is horrified and shocked at the escape of this notorious bank robber, and I am surprised that Lake county officials let him get away."

The two other inquiries—one by Prosecutor Estill and the other by Judge Murray—brought no new developments. Mr. Estill still held that "there was something wrong somewhere," and hinted at the possibility of a grand jury quiz. Judge Murray, after questioning several jail employés, expressed himself as satisfied there had been no bribery of jail workers.

Judge Murray held, however, that if the jail rules had been rigidly observed Dillinger could not have escaped. He referred specifically to the action of Cahoon, who opened the corridor door while Dillinger and other prisoners were exercising in the corridors.

Warden Explains Rules.

"Prisoners are allowed periodic times for exercise daily," said the warden. "They are let out of their cells and permitted in the corridor. The rule is absolute that no guard can open the corridor gate while the prisoners are in the corridor exercising. The prisoners should first be sent back to their cells, and the cells locked before the corridor gate is opened. Cahoon, by going into the corridor while the prisoners were still there, thus violated the rule."

Warden Baker was asked about the reports that Cahoon allegedly has been a drunkard. "I don't know, but I understand it is true," the warden replied. "However, he has not touched a drop of liquor during the last two years and he does not smoke."

Baker said that Dillinger's cell had been inspected Friday—24 hours before his escape. He said it was not against the rule for a prisoner to have a safety razor. It was with a safety razor that Dillinger fashioned a toy gun out of a piece of wood and frightened nearly a score of jail guards into submission with it.

First to Be Captured.

Further inquiry developed the information that Cahoon is 64 years old, and is employed at a salary of $50 a month, plus room and board. It is customary for him to carry jail keys, part of his duties being to see that cell door locks are in working order. This custom enabled Dillinger to complete his coup, for he used Cahoon's keys to lock up the jail guards and officials preparatory to his flight.

Cahoon was the first of the jail employés captured by Dillinger. When he stepped into the corridor, Dillinger threatened him with the realistic looking toy pistol. The weapon, it was revealed last night, was carved out of wood from a washboard. The washboard was found under the mattress in Dillinger's cell. On the cell floor, under the bed, were shavings.

Hits Cowardice of Guards.

Columbus, O., March 4.—(AP)—John W. Bricker, Ohio's attorney general, tonight charged that "either cowardice, corruption of public officials or ignorance permitted John Dillinger to escape."

He took Indiana officials to task with a statement that the escape "is a serious indictment against those public officials charged with the preservation of peace and the protection of our law abiding citizens."

The statements were made in a radio address at Columbus.

DILLINGER'S PALS AWAIT DELIVERY FROM LIMA JAIL

Lima, O., March 4.—(AP)—Three henchmen of John Dillinger wore their best suits all day today hopefully awaiting the arrival of the fugitive to deliver them from jail. But Dillinger failed to arrive.

Deputies at the jail where Sheriff Jess L. Sarber was shot to death last fall in a previous exhibition of Dillinger's contempt for prisons, were quick to note the changed dispositions of Harry Pierpont, Charles Makley, and Russell Clark, held here for the Sarber murder. The three were captured with Dillinger in Tucson, Ariz., last Jan. 25.

The prisoners heard a scanty report of the gang leader's fantastic departure from custody over a radio in the sheriff's office. Then came a rumor that Dillinger was somewhere near New Stark, O., not far from Lima.

The three prisoners immediately discarded the pajamas in which they had been lounging and put on street clothing which they had been allowed to keep in their cells. They dropped the sour, forlorn expression which they have displayed since being brought here, and apparently felt that a miracle in the form of a special Dillinger jail delivery was at hand.

Citizens here are inclined to agree that Dillinger will make an appearance before long. The jail has been transformed into something of a fortress and National Guardsmen have taken over the courthouse where they can train machine guns on anyone who attempts to enter the building. Sandbags have been thrown against the front door of the sheriff's residence on the inside, minimizing the possibility that someone might attempt to rush the door.

DILLINGER PLAYS A PART IN THREE ESCAPE PLOTS

Boasts No Jail Is Strong Enough to Hold Him.

John Dillinger, who defiantly boasted more than once that there was no jail in the country strong enough to hold him, has now figured in three sensational prison breaks. The first was at the Indiana state prison at Michigan City, where on Sept. 26, 1933, four members of his notorious gang and six other desperate convicts shot their way to liberty with guns which, it is alleged, Dillinger supplied. Dillinger was at liberty at the time, having been released only five months before from the same penitentiary after serving a sentence of from six to ten years for the robbery of a grocery store.

His four henchmen who escaped in that delivery were James Hamilton, said to be the most dangerous member of his gang, who had served two years of a 25 year sentence for robbery; Harry Pierpont, who had served eight years of a 10 to 20 year sentence for robbery; Russell Clark, who had 14 years left of a 20 year sentence for bank robbery, and Charles Makley, who had served five years of a 10 to 20 year sentence for robbery.

Hamilton Still at Large.

Pierpont, Makley and Clark were arrested at Tucson, Ariz., with Dillinger on Jan. 25 but Hamilton is still at large.

The Michigan City break was executed with the cool deliberation and careful precision that has characterized all of Dillinger's exploits. Clark and Pierpont stepped up to G. H. Stevens, superintendent of the shirt factory where the 10 convicts who escaped worked, and told him that one of the guards wanted him in the basement of the factory.

Unsuspecting, Stevens went to the basement and was seized by the other eight convicts who were already armed and waiting there. Assistant Warden Albert Evans walked in and he too was forced to surrender.

Then with Evans and Stevens preceding them, the prisoners marched from the shirt factory as if they were engaged in routine work. Under the eyes of the guards on the walls, the little procession marched through the streets of the prison city, the convicts concealing their weapons with bundles of shirts. On their way to liberty the men passed hundreds of their fellow convicts who were unaware that a bold bid for freedom was being enacted in front of them.

Prison Gatemen Seized.

Through three steel gates the little procession walked, the hostages being forced to whisper to the gatemen to let them pass. The gatemen were then made prisoners and forced to march with the others, except the third guard who was slugged with pistol butts and knocked unconscious. Evans was also slugged when he remonstrated.

On into the offices of the administration building the men stalked and, after beating into insensibility an official who refused to open up an arsenal of submachine guns, they proceeded into the front office of the building. Here they locked eight clerks in a vault and twice shot and seriously wounded Clerk Finley Carson, 72 years old, who was slow in obeying.

Out into the street the prisoners separated into two groups. One gang seized Sheriff Charles Neel of Harrison county and forced him to drive them away in his car in which he had just driven up to the institution. The other prisoners stopped a motorist and sped away in his car after forcing him and two passengers out. Sheriff Neal was released by the convicts near Gary several hours later.

Dillinger Is Arrested.

The day before the escape, Dillinger, the instigator of the plot, was arrested at Dayton, O., on a bank robbery charge. In his possession police found maps of the Michigan City penitentiary, half a dozen automatic pistols, and a large sum of money.

He was confined in the county jail at Lima, O., and it was there that the four members of his gang, who owed him for their freedom from the Indiana prison, journeyed on the night of Oct. 12, 1933, to repay the debt.

The outlaws strode up the front steps of the jail, which is on a quiet street, and walked boldly into the office of Sheriff Jess Sarber. They announced they had come from the Michigan City pison to take Dillinger back there. Sarber demurred and demanded that the men show their credentials. He was promptly confronted with pistols.

But despite the drop on him, the Sheriff attempted to draw his own gun. The leader of the outlaws shot him down in cold blood, the wound in his abdomen proving fatal a short time later. The report of the gun brought Mrs. Sarber and Deputy Sheriff Wilbert Sharp but they were immediately menaced and locked in cells.

The outlaws then searched until they found the keys of the jail and were able to effect the release of their leader. With him in command, they once more sped away to liberty.

OFFICERS AND OUTLAW FOES THIN SOUTHWEST DESPERADOES' RANKS

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 4.—(AP)—With the killing Saturday of Ford Bradshaw, one of the meanest of the southwestern "tough hombres," by an officer in an isolated eastern Oklahoma roadhouse, authorities and fellow outlaws have left only a few names of young bandit chieftains still on crime blotters.

Harvey Bailey, George Kelly, Ed Davis, Blackie Thompson, Whitey Walker and Raymond Johnson are in prison. Bob Brady, Wilbur Underhill, Bradshaw, Aussie Elliott and Eldon Wilson are in their graves. Bailey and Kelly are serving life terms in Leavenworth federal prison for the Charles F. Urschel kidnaping.

But the books are not closed. A number of desperadoes, including Clyde Barrow of Dallas, Tex.; Charles [Pretty Boy] Floyd of eastern Oklahoma, Frank Delmar of Kansas, Jim Clark of Oklahoma, and Richard T. Galatas of Little Rock have not been "erased."

STUDY FOOTPRINT CLEWS IN KILLING OF TAXI DRIVER

Footprints in a muddy yard were being studied by police last night as a clew in the murder of William Ernstein, 50 years old, 3340 5th avenue, who was found shot to death early yesterday alongside the taxicab he drove at Lill and Lincoln avenues. He had been robbed.

The footprints, widely spaced, as those of a man running would be, were in the back yard of a house at 866 Lill avenue. Mrs. Alma Neime, 875 Lill avenue, across the street from where the body was found, said she heard the crash of glass and hurried to her front window in time to see a man flee from the cab and into the gangway at the 866 address.

said he was satisfied with Mrs. O'Shea's story.

Feted by Daiches.

She said she came from Fort Wayne, Ind., six or seven years ago, and married O'Shea. She left him six months later, before her child was born. Then she sought employment at Daiches' agency. Daiches, police reported that she had said, became personally interested in her, and took her on a round of night clubs and theaters, after which he set up an apartment for her.

Two months ago Daiches sent Mrs. O'Shea to Florida and joined her there later, police said. He returned last month. She came back Thursday, and moved into the apartment hotel at 1400 Lake Shore drive.

She said, however, that Daiches did not set up that apartment, adding that she had become "fed up" with him. She met Daiches Friday night, 12 hours before he was slain, it was learned. They visited a near north side night club, then went to their respective homes.

Although authorities are completely satisfied with Mrs. O'Shea's story they said that they would, as a matter of routine, seek her estranged husband for questioning.

Hold No Witnesses.

With the release of Mrs. O'Shea from further questioning last night, police were holding no witnesses. However, Charles Bowman, Negro chauffeur who was driving Daiches in the outer drive near 53d street when the latter was slain, remained around police headquarters of his own volition. He has declared that Daiches recognized his assassins as they approached and exclaimed "O, my God!" Bowman also said other motorists were in the vicinity.

On the strength of this, police will, between 9 and 11 this morning, stop motorists in the outer drive at 53d street in an effort to find possible witnesses. The theory is that the same drivers use the same lane at the same time periods.

Friends Questioned.

Among the friends and associates of the executive who were questioned are Ned Thomas, president of the Royal Distillers, on account of Daiches agency; Parry Anderson, an officer of the liquor company; John Groves, controler of the Morrison hotel and friend of Daiches; Basil Williams, a vice president of the agency; Sidney A. Weitzman, its secretary, and Robert Plateau, its art director.

None of them could offer a motive for Daiches' murder, declaring Daiches was secretive regarding his private affairs. They described him, however, as a good spender, generous, competent, but somewhat boastful and occasionally rude to strangers.

Weitzman discussed the mysterious beating Daiches had received last year. Who attacked him and why has never been learned, but the police supposition is it may have been prompted because of a love affair.

"The beating a year ago threw a big scare into him," said Weitzman. "He was timid and cautious and seemed to be afraid it might be repeated. No one questioned him about the incident because he was not of a communicative nature on personal affairs."

Life Insured for $200,000.

Weitzman told Assistant State's Attorney Regan that Daiches' life was insured for $200,000 and that the policy was payable to the advertising corporation.

Regan afterward dispatched a telegram to Louis J. Weitzman in New York, brother of Sidney A., and chairman of the board of the company, asking him to attend the inquest, which will be held this morning at 9:30 o'clock.

ARMY DESERTER, ILL, HOPES FOR ARREST TO GET HOSPITAL AID

Sapulpa, Okla., March 4.—(AP)—Beryl McHam, denied an honorable discharge from the army by President Roosevelt's veto, wonders if he could be arrested as a deserter.

"If they arrested me now, would they give me treatment in a prison hospital?" he mused as he looked back with despair upon his 13 year fight to gain exoneration for 4 wartime fist fight and his subsequent desertion. No effort has ever been made to arrest him, he said. "I have been ill since the war gas got me," McHam said, "and I can't work steadily. It was pretty bad when I got the news."

Three Sapulpa physicians have said he needs hospitalization badly.

FLOWER SHOWS TO BE HELD ALL SUMMER AT FAIR

A series of national flower shows sponsored by the Society of American Florists, national organization of the industry, will be a feature of A Century of Progress this year, it was announced yesterday. Flower growers all over the country have promised to send their finest plants to the show. Cash prizes and medals will be awarded the winners of competitions.

The show schedule was approved at a recent meeting of the national flower show committee of the society which has taken over the management of the Horticultural building and the gardens on Northerly Island. Members of the committee expressed the hope that the 1934 horticultural program at the Fair will enjoy a prominence similar to that of the Columbian exposition in 1893.

Beginning June 1, a rose show will inaugurate the three month program at the Horticultural building. This show will continue until Friday, June 8. Thereafter a change of flower exhibitions will take place each Friday night.

NEW YORK FOG HOLDS LINERS; SLOWS TRAFFIC

New York, March 4.—(AP)—Trans-Atlantic sailings were delayed and harbor traffic hampered by a thick fog that hung over New York today.

The Liner Bremen, scheduled to leave her pier in the Hudson last midnight, was held in port by the fog for 11 hours, sailing at noon today.

The United Fruit freighter Atenas of Jacksonville, Fla., nosed aground in the fog on a mudbank in Ambrose channel. The coast guard reported the ship was in no danger.

Meyer Riceman, 35 years old, 3115 North St. Louis avenue, who has been robbed seven times in five years, was held up last night in his gasoline filling station at 3501 Belmont avenue by three men in a small sedan with Indiana license plates. As he tried to run away one of the men fired. Riceman was wounded in the left shoulder. The robbers sped away. Riceman was taken to the Belmont hospital.

FISHERMEN LOST IN FOG ON ICE OFF SANDUSKY

Sandusky, O., March 4.—(AP)—A white wall of fog trapped an unknown number of fishermen on the ice of East bay, Lake Erie, between Sandusky and Cedar Point, early tonight.

No estimate of the size of the group which had been fishing there throughout the day would be ventured by Sandusky firemen and police.

George Gilbert of Sandusky, who found himself surrounded by fog about 6 o'clock, picked his way to shore cautiously and with difficulty. Promptly he reported the dilemma of the other fishermen to the police department.

"I must have passed 20 men who were lost," he told Sergt. Al P. Prempre.

The city's fire whistle, which can be heard for miles, was put into service to guide the wanderers to shore and the fire department drove trucks to the water's edge to shoot beams of light over the bay.

No immediate alarm was felt for the men because the ice still is solid in spite of a two day thaw. It is covered with two or three inches of water. An unfortunate step, however, might plunge a fisherman into one of many dozens of holes which had been drilled to drop lines into the water. There also was danger that some might walk toward the middle of Lake Erie.

Chicago Has Birthday; 97 Years Old as City

Yesterday was Chicago's ninety-seventh anniversary of incorporation as a city, which occurred four years after its incorporation as a village. In that span of years Chicago's area has increased from about ten square miles to more than 200 square miles, and its population has risen from 4,170 to over 3,500,000.

ALICE WYNEKOOP RESTS FOR FINAL STAGES OF TRIAL

Closing Arguments Today and Tomorrow.

Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop, who is being tried in Judge Harry B. Miller's court on a charge of slaying her daughter-in-law, Rheta, was reported to be resting well last night in the county jail, ready to face the final stages of her trial today.

Attorneys for the state and the defense prepared to begin their closing arguments to the jury after the defense lawyers announced they expected to rest their case soon after court convenes this morning. Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty said the state will call only five rebuttal witnesses, all of whom can probably be heard in less than an hour. Thus it is possible that the case may be given to the jury late today, but it is considered more probable that it will not reach the jury until tomorrow.

Soft Pedal on Death Penalty.

Prosecutor Dougherty said he would argue that Dr. Wynekoop's guilt had been proved beyond reasonable doubt. Whether he will ask the death penalty was uncertain. The state's attorney's office was considering the advisability of saying little or nothing about the penalty, stressing only the subject of guilt.

Defense Attorneys W. W. Smith, Milton D. Smith, and Frank Tyrrell will tell the jury that the innocence of their client has been established. Attorney Smith said he would have a few exhibits to offer this morning before closing the case for the defense. He wants to show letters Dr. Wynekoop had written to the First National bank, where her account was overdrawn, and to introduce the reports of the coroner's physician who examined Rheta Wynekoop's body. He said there is a confusion of reports, one to the effect she had eaten a full meal shortly before her death, the other to the contrary.

Case "Cooked Up."

"I expect to show that the state's case is cooked up," said Attorney Smith. "Dr. Wynekoop did not kill Rheta. She was trapped into a statement which the state calls a confession in one breath and in another says it isn't true. She was pestered almost to death for a story and she finally gave them what they wanted.

"This is the most peculiar situation I ever faced as a lawyer. Here is a motherly type of woman, 62 years old, accused of a crime she could not commit. They claim she confessed. Aside from that they have offered not the slightest proof."

Attorney Smith said he did not intend to try to tell the jury who did kill Rheta Wynekoop in the old Wynekoop home at 3406 West Monroe street on Nov. 21 last year. He will only insist that Dr. Wynekoop, who is the mother of three children, one of whom is a woman physician, Dr. Catherine Wynekoop, did not kill Rheta.

Mr. Dougherty said the state has shown conclusively that the murder was the act of none other than Dr. Wynekoop. He said there was a double motive shown the jury: collection of insurance on Rheta's life and ridding her son, Earle, of an unloved wife.

Will Stress Chloroform.

During the trial it was shown that Dr. Wynekoop had financial difficulties and that shortly before the murder she had insured Rheta with herself as beneficiary and with a double indemnity in the event of a death by accident or violence. It was shown also that Earle Wynekoop, son of the accused woman, had never supported his wife and forced her to live on the charity of the mother-in-law. On the other side, Dr. Wynekoop had witnesses testify that she always displayed affection for her daughter-in-law.

The fact that Rheta Wynekoop was chloroformed before she was shot in the back is to be stressed by Mr. Dougherty, he said yesterday. The body of the slain woman was found on Dr. Wynekoop's operating table in the basement of the home and Mr. Dougherty said no other person in the world would both chloroform and shoot Rheta.

CHICAGO GETS REAL TOUCH OF SPRING

Traffic Jammed

Moderate, springlike temperatures coming yesterday on the heels of a period of sustained winter weather brought out thousands of motorists and sent additional thousands in Chicagoland to parks and play places where they might enjoy the sunlight and temperate breezes. There was considerable congestion in city traffic lanes and heavy traffic on widely flung county highways.

Unsettled weather preceded by showers was forecast for today by the weather bureau. Tomorrow will be fair and colder.

County highway police reported that while the motorists were out in force, there were no jams. In the city "bottlenecks" tied up impatient drivers. At Sheridan road and Foster avenue, where traffic leaves and enters the new Lincoln park outer drive extension, automobiles were stationary in lines extending two and three blocks north at times. Traffic was unusually heavy on all park drives. Park police said that thousands came during the day to those recreational centers.

Passenger air lines resumed operating in the city early yesterday after planes had been grounded for two days because of a heavy fog.

Police Asked to Search for Missing Girl of 14

Shakespeare avenue police were asked last night to search for Lucille Shelton, 14 years old, 3038 Carver street, who has been missing from home since Friday. She weighs 125 pounds and is 5 feet 8 inches tall. When last seen she was wearing a black coat with fur collar and cuffs, a brown dress, and black suede oxfords.

FRENCH AIR HERO REPORTED LOST IS SAFE IN GERMANY

PARIS, March 4 (Monday).—(AP)—Diedonne Costes, famous French flier, made than 40 hours' routine on a flight to Copenhagen, landed at Munster, Germany, last night, a Havas news agency dispatch from Berlin revealed.

Costes took off at 12:15 p. m. Saturday from Le Bourget field, near Paris, for the Danish capital. At dawn today, planes set out from Copenhagen to search for the airman, known as "the Lindbergh of France," in the fear he had been forced down. When he left Saturday on a business trip he said he had barely enough gasoline for the flight.

Costes, the Berlin dispatch said, expressed astonishment that there had been any anxiety in France concerning his disappearance. Reached by telephone from Berlin, he said he landed at Munster—which is about 300 miles from Paris on an almost direct line to Copenhagen—late Saturday, after encountering fogs over Bremen.

It was not until 8 o'clock this morning, he said, that he learned he had been reported lost.

Broker's Daughter Leaps to Death After Reprimand

New York, March 4.—(Special.)—Miss Grace Brown, 17 year old daughter of George H. Brown, a broker, and a former student at Temple university, plunged 15 stories to her death tonight on Riverside drive. Her brother, George H. Brown Jr., entered the room just as the girl poised on the sill outside. Police said her mother had remonstrated with her over an afternoon's absence.

EXPLOSION LEVELS 1-STORY RESTAURANT ON NORTHWEST SIDE

Two young men were cut by flying glass early today when an explosion wrecked Billy's Blue Bird restaurant at 4347 Narragansett avenue as they were driving by in their car. They were William Ham, 18 years old, of 1102 Circle avenue, and Charles Mitson, 19, of 931 Hannah avenue, both of Forest Park.

The blast, which police believed to have resulted from gas—although they are considering the possibility of a bomb—leveled the one story frame structure in which the restaurant was situated. Fire followed, but was soon extinguished. On reports that a man, woman and two children generally slept in the rear of the place and might have been in the building at the time of the blast, firemen searched the debris for bodies. None was found.

Part of the furniture of the restaurant and other debris were blown across the road into the grounds of the Dunning asylum for the insane. The blast, which was heard all over the northwest side, aroused the inmates of the asylum, but there was no disorder.

Then applying the holy writ to this day the bishop spoke of the "inconsistencies and inequalities that are conspicuous in our life and have grown apace."

Building Modern Babylon.

"We had thought," he preached, "to build our modern Babylon strong, stable and secure by our unexampled cleverness, our extraordinary astuteness and our unparalleled ingenuity. We have gone through a period of stern wrestling with our nocturnal enemy; have we reached the stage where our sense of impotence and incapacity to carry on forces us to cry out: 'I will not let thee go except thou bless me.'

"No consistent appraisal of the events of recent years, whether here or in other lands, can ignore the fact that moral laxity and supineness have been conspicuous in our life. We shall pass through every strain that is laid upon us—of this we feel sure; we shall meet and survive every crisis as it arises—of this we are certain.

"The large and compelling question is, what shall we garner from these experiences? What shall be the evidence in our individual and corporate life that we are made the better and the stronger for that which we have suffered and endured?

"The world may not have learned the lessons which the tragic happenings of four long years of strife were designed to teach. It may have failed to learn that the millions who died made the supreme sacrifice that this might become a peace loving and warless world.

Sees Benefits from Suffering.

"It is unthinkable—let us believe, impossible—that from the events of these latter years that have been marked by world-wide suffering, we are to secure no lasting benefits, no strengthening of our character, no enrichment of our lives, no permanent blessings.

"Let us learn out of our common sufferings and trials the value of a united endeavor, but let us not lay the flattering unction to our souls that prowess, skill and cleverness are the hall-marks of secured success and restored prosperity.

"Ours is a new fullness of time. A mighty and persistent cry is heard in this distracted, confused and disillusioned world; it is the cry of the human soul, the wrestling, struggling soul as it sees the light of a new day breaking."

PRINCE COMING TO CHICAGO

Prince Iyesato Tokugawa (at left), chairman of the Japanese Red Cross and retired president of the house of pears, with his daughter, Miss Toyo, and son, Hon. I. M. Tokugawa, Japanese minister to Canada, who are to visit Chicago Wednesday.

Will Speak Here

Prince Iyesato Tokugawa of Japan will arrive Wednesday to speak at a luncheon meeting of the Chicago Association of Commerce in the Palmer house, and at the Japan-America Society of Chicago the same evening in the Drake hotel. He will speak on American-Japanese friendship on both occasions. During the afternoon he will be entertained by Japanese Consul Muto and Mrs. Muto at tea.

The prince will be accompanied by his son, I. M. Tokugawa, Japanese minister to Canada, and his daughter, Toyo Tokugawa. They will go to the Drake hotel upon arrival. They expect to leave Chicago Wednesday evening.

draw weekly checks which they must share with their dependents, 214,117 gobs and doughboys are on the military pay roll, 3,301 persons work on judicial staffs, and 8,435 are employed in and around the capitol.

An additional 591,675 employés work in the government's regular bureaus and in the new alphabetical agencies hatched under the New Deal. This total, although it was supposed to shrink under the President's economy program, has mounted month by month recently as burocracy continues to send out new sprouts.

These figures, which run up to a total of 20,607,228, show only the people who are drawing direct cash doles, salaries, or benefits from the government. Another 860,837 persons owe the government money which has been loaned to them out of the federal treasury.

The government, through its Home Owners' Loan corporation, holds the mortgages on 93,595 American homes. More than 767,000 federal loans have been made to farmers to enable them to buy their farms, refinance their mortgages, or buy seeds with which to plant their crops.

A list of borrowers from the government, however, would not stop with individuals. Every state in the union owes the federal government money for relief loans made under the Hoover administration or for public works money borrowed under the New Deal.

Most of the cities, counties, and special districts have dipped loans out of the huge easy money fund for public works.

CALL OFF STRIKE OF MILWAUKEE ELECTRIC MEN

Milwaukee, Wis., March 5 [Monday]. —(AP)—Labor officials early today called off a strike of street car, bus, and power station employés which had been scheduled to start at 4 a. m.

Officials of the Electric Workers' union, after many hours of debate, deferred to the wishes of Senator Robert F. Wagner, chairman of the national labor board, who telegraphed an appeal that strike action be deferred until March 13, when the dispute will be aired at a hearing before the board in Washington.

A statement by Joseph Padway, union attorney, said the strike is "postponed" pending the hearing.

One union objective, that of gaining the attention of the national labor board, has been attained, Padway said.

The union fight principally is for recognition under the NRA. An undetermined number of the electric company's 4,700 employés were represented as being dissatisfied with a company union established 20 years ago.

SEE DEMOCRATIC REVOLT AS VOTE ON TARIFF NEARS

Roosevelt Proposal May Create Rift.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 4.—[Special.]—There are noticeable stirrings of disaffection among Democratic senators and congressmen on the Roosevelt tariff proposals broached by the President in a special message to congress last Friday.

Numerous Democrats, it appears, are unwilling to vote an indefinite grant of power to the executive to revise tariff rates. Suggestions are being heard in Democratic circles that the delegation of authority should be limited to three years. It is not unlikely that a coalition of Republicans and Democrats will force the inclusion of such a limination in the senate, if not in the house.

In the meantime, Republican leaders one after another are taking up cudgels against the President's proposal. The latest one is Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan.

Claims It Is Unconstitutional.

"This proposd new tariff system," said Senator Vandenberg, "violates and abandons the constitutional requirement that taxation shall rest in the control of congress; and equally the constitutional necessity for ratification of international agreements by the senate of the United tSates. It would be so bald a delegation of power to the executive and so abject a surrender of legislative prerogatives that it seems to lack even the color of constitutionality. The Supreme court has made it clear that the existing 'elastic tariff power' exercised through the tariff commission and the President is countenanced only because the law fixes a rule of conduct and decision which clearly determines the use and application of the power. There is not and cannot be any such rule under this proposal which invites the President to go shopping among international bargain counters.

"The proposed new system abandons the existing 'flexible tariff' which permits a fluctuation in the difference in costs of production at home and abroad to be matched by a fluctuation in tariff rates. The death of 'flexible tariffs' would be a step back into the tariff dark ages.

Permits Unchecked Executive.

"The proposed new system permits an uncounseled and unchecked executive to bestow vital economic favors upon one American commodity at the expense of another, and upon one section of the country at the expense of another. For every beneficiary there must be a corresponding victim. It is unthinkable to me that American agriculture and industry should be put at the mercy of any such hazard, no matter how nobly meditated the use of this supreme dictatorial power may be.

"The President says that exports cannot be increased without a corresponding increase in imports. By the same token, then, every artificially created sale abroad must be matched by an abandoned job at home. The sum total of our new advantage is thus zero—or less. Certainly there can be no possible basis for domestic confidence and long range domestic planning if these threatened transpositions are to hang like the sword of Damocles over the heads of American industry and agriculture."

LABOR BOARD'S WORK IS PRAISED BY ROOSEVELT

Washington, March 4.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt commended the national labor board for its work looking toward a peaceful solution of all labor disputes in a letter to Senator Wagner, chairman, made public here today.

At the same time, Senator Wagner announced the number of workers involved in cases before the board reached 1,060,000 March 1.

President Roosevelt's commendation of the board was in response to a report by Senator Wagner on the first six months of the board's operation.

The President's letter follows:

"Thanks very much for your very comprehensive statistical summary of the work of the national labor board and the regional labor boards.

"May I take occasion to express to you my sincere appreciation of the fine, untiring and patriotic service you and your colleagues have rendered. The work that you have been doing is a long step toward that ultimate goal for which we are striving, that of settlement of all differences between capital and labor by peaceful means.

"I would like especially, too, to get to the two hundred and fifty volunteer members my deep appreciation of the sacrifice they are making in carrying on this great work."

Boy Critically Wounded as Brother Shows Pistol

A mail order revolver was accidentally discharged yesterday, the bullet critically wounding Matthew Rutkowski, 16 years old, 2223 South Sawyer avenue. The weapon was purchased a week ago by the victim's brother, Edward, 14, and yesterday he was showing its merits. Matthew was unable to "break" the revolver open to see if there was a cartridge in the chamber. Andrew Lackny, 14 years old, 2222 South Sawyer avenue, grabbed the gun and it went off, according to Lawndale police.

SENATOR SCHALL SEES EFFORT TO 'MUZZLE PRESS'

Declares New Deal Is Like League of Nations.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 4.—[Special.]—Senator Thomas D. Schall [Rep., Minn.] announced today that he will introduce in the senate tomorrow a resolution demanding an investigation of the "relationship between the New Deal and the old league of nations" in which he thinks he detects the explanation of the Roosevelt administration's attempt to muzzle the press of the United States.

"The determination of this administration to force censorship on the press of the United States must be prompted by some ulterior purpose," said Senator Schall. "No honest movement fears the light of publicity. At the last session of congress a bill was introduced making it a penalty of ten years in prison for a publisher who dared to print or comment on any act of this administration relating to a foreign country. The bill was defeated and the public and the press forgot about it.

Plans Are Upset.

"Then came the newspaper code. Against the objection of the administration the newspapers forced the insertion of a clause guaranteeing 'freedom of the press.' This upset the plans of the would be censors and now we find President Roosevelt demanding the power to control and censor all means of communication.

"There must be a reason for this desire to muzzle the press. I have known it for a long time but have refrained from making it public until now because for twelve months this administration has had the public completely fooled. But the time has come to tell the real story. The so-called New Deal is the old league of nations worked from this side of the water. Just pause for a moment and reflect.

Recalls League's Aims.

"The old league of nations wanted to fix our tariffs on a reciprocal basis. Isn't Mr. Roosevelt asking for that power now? The old league of nations wanted to limit our production of wheat, of corn, of cotton and of everything agricultural and industrial so that European nations could share the markets of the United States. Isn't that what the New Deal is doing through the NRA and the AAA? The league of nations wanted to reduce the standard of living in the United States. Isn't Mr. Roosevelt very busy attending to this now? The old league of nations wanted to fix the value of our money. Hasn't Mr. Roosevelt done all that?

"In other words the Roosevelt administration under a fake title, the New Deal, is forcing the United States into the same subservient position the league of nations tried for ten years to accomplish. And without the light of publicity it could have been done. This is the Ethiopian in the wood pile; let's pull him out and give him the light of publicity which the Roosevelt administration so fears."

WAITERS STRIKE, BREAK UP LOOP WEDDING FEASTS

Three hundred patrons of the Telaviv restaurant at 70 West Madison street were forced to walk out with their dinners uneaten last night when a strike was called by local 25 of the waiters' union. The restaurant, a well known Jewish cafe, had been placed in receivership last Wednesday following a bankruptcy petition before Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley.

Three large wedding parties and several club dinners were halted after cocktails had been served.

According to Maurice Klein, the receiver, the men struck because they had not received a week's wages before the court action was taken. Klein asserted nothing could be done about the back wages until the assets had been liquidated. He contended the waiters' union was in contempt of court.

MORE BILLIONS OF EASY CASH ASKED OF NATION

Washington, D. C., March 4.—[Special.]—A nation clamoring for more federal easy money and swiftly spending that which already has been dished out was the picture painted today by Henry M. Waite, deputy public works administrator, after a nation-wide survey.

More than 3 billion 300 million dollars worth of applications for more easy money are now waiting on the doorstep of congress for another appropriation, the PWA said in an official statement.

Returning from a survey of the public works projects being financed out of the original 3 billion 300 million dollars of easy money, the deputy administrator reported that most of the approved projects will be in full swing this summer and reemployment through PWA funds should reach its peak in late spring or early summer, unless more money is voted.

"Field officials confirmed the belief of many in PWA headquarters that a number of the best nonfederal PWA projects to be submitted were those that came in last and have not received allotments because the fund was exhausted," Mr. Waite said.

AGREEMENTS END STRIKES AT TWO RACINE PLANTS

Racine, Wis., March 4.—[Special.] Striking employes will return to work tomorrow at the John Oster Manufacturing company and the E. D. Eisendrath tannery as the result of agreements reached today by the workers' bargaining committees and company officials. Bargaining committees will be elected within a month to determine to the companies' satisfaction that the employes are being represented by the men they want.

The Oster company agreement voted today provides that all employes will be reemployed without discrimination, and that wages will be increased five cents an hour immediately and an additional five cents within 60 days.

As the order was given to withdraw pickets from the two plants, A. F. Mitchell, general organizer for the Racine county workers' committee which sponsored the walkouts, declared that the future peace would depend on whether the company managements carry out recommendations of the regional labor board. The board will supervise the worker elections.

SENATORS TO SIFT SHORT SALES OF AVIATION STOCKS

Banking Committee Will Act Wednesday.

Washington, D. C., March 4.—(AP)—The senate banking committee tomorrow will explore the heavy short sales of aviation stocks just prior to the cancelation of air mail contracts by Postmaster General Farley, with the next session of the air mail investigating committee deferred until Wednesday.

Rumors have flown thick around the capitol as to the identity of some of the short sellers, but Senator Hamilton F. Kean [Rep., N. J.], who instituted the inquiry, said emphatically today that he had no definite information on the subject.

Kean expressed some doubt as to whether it would be possible to ascertain immediately the identity of all aviation stock traders from brokers' records, which Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock exchange, has promised to lay before the committee. He said there might be some question of how far the banking committee would pursue this phase.

Expect "Dummy" Names.

Members of the committee expressed the view that any one selling short because of an "inside tip" probably would do so through the use of a "dummy" name.

Senator Warren R. Austin [Rep., Vt.], who has been the chief Republican inquisitor in the air mail investigation, indicated that if circumstances warranted he would press continuation of the short selling inquiry.

Kean pointed out that the New York Stock exchange frequently sends out questionnaires to its members, such as those mailed Feb. 15, asking details of transactions in special situations. He said he knew nothing of the questionnaire's results.

Covers Two Weeks.

The recent report, made by all stock exchange members to the committee on business conduct, covers all transactions in a specified list of aviation stocks from Jan. 26 to Feb. 9. The corporations included are Bendix Aviation, Curtiss Wright, Douglas Aircraft, North American Aviation, United Aircraft and Transport, and Wright Aeronautical.

Kean asserted his purposes in asking that the reports be scrutinized were to ascertain the competency of stock exchange control of its members and possible participation of aviation company officials and directors in stock dealings, as well as to find out whether any public officials had taken advantage of "leaks" prior to the contract cancelations.

Exchange Orders Probe.

New York, March 4.—(AP)—The committee on business conduct of the New York stock exchange extended today its inquiry into transactions of shares of eight aviation companies.

All members of the exchange were ordered to hand in by Wednesday noon a list of sales, purchases, deliveries, and transfers made between Dec. 1, 1933, and Feb. 9, 1934, of the following securities:

Aviation Corporation of Delaware, common stock; Bendix Aviation corporation, common stock; Curtiss-Wright corporation, class A and common stock; Douglas Aircraft company, Inc., capital stock; National Aviation corporation, capital stock; North American Aviation, Inc., capital stock; United Aircraft and Transport corporation, common stock; Wright Aeronautical corporation, capital stock.

The conduct committee asked for names and addresses of all customers for whom exchange members acted. The order broadens an inquiry started after the cancellation of airmail contracts by Postmaster General Farley. The original time limit in the inquiry was about three weeks. The action was widely interpreted in Wall street as an effort to determine whether there had been any advance information on plans to cancel the airmail contracts.

$5,000,000 Rush Airplane Order Puzzles Probers

Washington, D. C., March 4.—(AP)—Figures showing that the war department spent $24,000,000 on airplanes in the last three and a half years of the Hoover administration and $5,000,000 in the last three days, today put a new puzzler up to congressional investigators of army expenditures.

These figures were presented to the military affairs committee, which has been ordered by the house to investigate reported irregularities in the spending of national defense money.

Committee on Guard.

Committee members, fearful of charges that they were conducting a partisan investigation for political advantage, were quick to explain that they had no intention of trying to put all the blame for the "$5,000,000 rush orders" on Republican office-holders.

Detailed statements on all war department contracts for airplanes, parts, and equipment since 1926 have been submitted to the committee. These show, in the three and one-half years ending last March 4, contracts totalling $24,000,000.

But from mid-December to March 4, around $10,000,000, or nearly half the total, was contracted. And on March 1, 2, and 3, the total commitments were, roughly, $5,000,000.

For nearly a month the military affairs subcommittee headed by Representative Rogers [Dem., N. H.] has been attempting to determine who was responsible for the army's system of buying airplanes on "negotiated" instead of "competitive" contracts.

Contracts Held Up.

Members who helped draft the 1926 aircraft defense act say it was their intention to insure competition for quantity purchases. But they have found that not once since 1926 were any airplane contracts open to competition.

They discovered that last January the public works administration set aside $7,500,000 for the purchase of army airplanes.

Harry H. Woodring, assistant secretary of war, insisted there should be competition. Specifications were drawn. Subsequently, it developed that the performance figures—speed, range, altitude—had been drastically reduced below those first suggested by the air corps.

Woodring denied that he made the changes, and the contracts are still pending.

Committee members say that Woodring, by ordering competition, was attempting to "buck" a long established system and aroused the antagonism of army officers.

Their objective is to find out whether that is a fact. They also want to determine whether these same army officers exerted enough pressure to put through $5,000,000 in "negotiated" contracts the last three days of the Republican administration.

FIRE WRECKS 11 ARMY PLANES AT LEAVENWORTH

Leavenworth, Kas., March 4.—[Special.]—Fire, supposed to have started by the explosion of a gas tank in a pursuit plane, wrecked the new hangar and eleven army planes at the Fort Leavenworth airport early today. Of thirteen planes there all but two were ruined and those two were scorched.

At the time of the explosion five soldiers were sleeping in the north wing of the hangar. They called fire departments from Fort Leavenworth and Leavenworth city. While the north wing was saved the walls of the south wing were wrecked by explosions. The damage to the building is estimated at $100,000. A bombing plane, a pursuit plane and nine observation planes were destroyed.

The bomber alone was valued at $41,000 and the loss of the eleven planes is estimated at $200,000. Maj. Gen. Stuart Heintzman ordered an immediate investigation. None of the Fort Leavenworth air fleet was put into the air mail service. It was requested that they be allowed to remain here. That largely was done to promote instruction of student officers and for working of army field problems.

FRANCE REFUSES TO O. K. ATLANTIC AIR LINE MERGER

PARIS, March 4.—(AP)—France's desire for dominance of the air caused a hitch today in government ratification of the recent accord between the principal air lines of France and Germany for cooperation in south Atlantic air mail service.

The accord, between Air France and Lufthansa, the German line, was reached shortly after Premier Gaston Doumergue took over the cabinet, after deliberations covering a long period.

Air Minister Victor Leon Ernest Denain, however, opposes ratification of the accord since his program to build up a strong French unit of military aviation includes plans to retain the air mail supremacy. Informed quarters said final agreement was likely to be delayed.

Aviation Notes

Exact duplicates of the 14 passenger, two motored Condor planes used by American Airways on its Chicago-New York route, will soon be operating in continental Europe, it was learned yesterday. The Swiss Air Traffic Company, Ltd., will use the ships on lines touching at Amsterdam, Berlin, Munich, Zurich, and other cities.

United Air Lines yesterday announced the discontinuance of passenger-express plane service on its 230 mile spur from Omaha to Watertown, S. D., effective at once. The personnel employed on this run will be absorbed in other divisions of the company.

An interline bus-plane arrangement with the Greyhound bus lines has been completed, according to K. A. Kennedy, general traffic manager for United Air Lines. The agreement makes it possible for air passengers to make reservations at convenient bus line ticket offices for space on transport planes.

GIVE THAT COLD JUST ONE DAY!

Rout It Overnight!

A cold that hangs on is a cold to fear! Serious complications are possible. Dally with no cold, but treat it promptly and for what it is—an internal infection. Employ internal treatment and one that is strictly for colds and not for a lot of other things as well.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what a cold requires. It is expressly a cold remedy. It is internal and direct. It is complete in effect. It does the four things necessary.

It opens the bowels, gently but thoroughly. It combats the cold germs in the system and reduces the fever. It relieves the headache and grippy feeling. It tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack. Anything less than that is courting danger.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine contains nothing harmful and is absolutely safe to take. For more than forty years it has been the standard cold and grippe tablet of the world, the formula keeping pace with Modern Medicine. Every druggist sells Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine, 30c and 50c. Druggists who put your interest above a few pennies extra profit won't try to sell you a substitute.

Don't wait until a cold has taken over your system, but at the first sneeze or chill go right to your druggist for Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. Always ask for it by the full name and look for the letters L B Q stamped on every tablet.

Face All Broken Out?

If your skin is rough and red or the pores clogged with blackheads and pimples, adopt the safe, gentle Resinol treatment as your external aid in restoring skin health.

Cleanse your face well twice daily with the pure, non-irritating lather of Resinol Soap. Rinse thoroughly, pat dry, and generously apply soothing Resinol Ointment to the broken out, smarting places. See how quickly the irritation is relieved, and the skin becomes smoother, clearer and finer. Your druggist sells Resinol Ointment and Soap—why not start the treatment today?

FIGHTING PASTOR DEFIES HITLER'S CHURCH DICTATOR

Appears in Pulpit Despite Suspension Order.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 4.—"Lord, I am ready to go with thee, both into prison and to death." Twice were these words of Peter [St. Luke xxii., 33] solemnly and emphatically declaimed in a sermon today by the Rev. Martin Niemoeller, wartime submarine commander and militant leader of the Pastors' Emergency league, which is combating the Nazi dictatorship over the Protestant church.

The Rev. Mr. Niemoeller again appeared in the pulpit of his church in Dahlem, a Berlin suburb, despite his suspension, which he and his parishioners claim violated the church constitution.

Faith to Church Stressed.

The fighting pastor stressed that members of the church must "be true to the faith and to the belief in the word of the only source of truth."

He added that there were normal times, often extending for centuries, when church members need not seek to draw a line between those living in and those not living in the faith. But, he continued, periods arose, as at the time of Martin Luther, when a clear decision must be made.

"We are now entering one of those periods—a time of testing," the Rev. Mr. Niemoeller proclaimed. "The grain must be winnowed from the chaff."

Last Spartan Sunday Dinner.

BERLIN, March 4.—(AP)—Germans today ate the last of the one course Sunday dinners, the savings on which went to the winter relief fund.

With remarkable discipline they once more dropped the difference between its estimated cost—50 pfennigs [about 20 cents]—and what the dinner would otherwise have cost, into collection boxes presented at every household front door by voluntary social workers.

Revenue for the last six months from this source alone was estimated at 24,000,000 marks [approximately $9,528,000], about 10 per cent of which was contributed by Berlin citizens. Already suggestions have been heard that the monthly "Spartan Sunday dinner" should be adopted as a permanent institution for relief of Germany's poor.

Girl, Despondent Over Love Affair, Ends Life

LOSES $1,000 COAT

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Two gunmen, a tall blond and a short, swarthy man, raided a card party in room 124 of the Abbott hotel, 721 Belmont avenue, early yesterday. Twelve men and women were lined up against the wall. The robbers took $214 from the pockets of the men and from the tables and a fur coat, valued at $1,000, from one of the women. Members of the party were intent in playing poker and rhummy when the bandits entered, after tying up Rudolph Nelson, night clerk of the hotel, in the lobby. One of the victims was Mrs. Rose Soloway, 832 Argyle street, wife of Dr. S. S. Saloway, who lost her fur coat.

AUSTRIAN POLICE BATTLE NAZIS AS DOLLFUSS TALKS

Hitlerites Raise Swastika Banners; 30 Jailed.

VILLACH, Austria, March 4.—(AP)—Police were required to restore order today when a crowd of Austrian Nazis shouted "Heil Hitler!" and hoisted swastika banners at the conclusion of an address by Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss. Thirty of the Nazis were jailed.

The little chancellor, bitter foe of Nazism, had just assured a massmeeting that a new constitution would replace the recently discarded one of the republic within a week.

It will be based, Dollfuss said, on the pope's encyclical "Quadragesima anno," and will be maintained inviolate against any efforts of "those who follow false prophets."

Extends "Friendly Hand."

Despite recent events, Dollfuss said, his government is not filled with a desire for revenge, but stretched out a "friendly hand" to every one.

"Christian love must unite all sections of the populace," the leader asserted. "Our youth must be trained in the Christian spirit, but at the same time every man must be guaranteed freedom of his conscience."

His address came on the anniversary of the abolishment of the Austrian parliament, which marked the beginning of Dollfuss' rigid rule.

The premier, in his fight against Socialists and Nazis, is governing by decree, having shelved the constitution of the republic.

Refers to Changes.

Referring to changes which have taken place since the death of parliament a year ago, Dollfuss said:

"We have all undergone a spiritual transformation in the last year. To our joy we have discovered a conception of Austria which again makes it our homeland.

"We wear again as soldiers and officers the old uniform to show we are true Austrians, with no reason to be ashamed of our past. We have also had to clear away much of the filth and trash of demogogy.

"We are determined once again to live together in the true Christian spirit, because we are convinced that people are happier that way.

Firm and Ruthless.

"We cannot be brutal—that is not our nature—but we are firm and ruthless and will continue to be so if necessary to preserve peace and order."

After announcing that a new constitution would be forthcoming within a week, the chancellor explained it would not take full effect immediately.

It will be an authoritary constitution for a corporative state form, but the provinces will still retain, he said, "essentially" their old autonomy.

"What is happening in Austria," concluded Dollfuss, "sets an example to the whole world. It is our ambition to evolve new forms in this, our homeland, which not only will make our own people happier but will serve as an example to other greater regions."

CATHOLICS IN GERMANY ARE URGED TO CRUSADE FOR HITLER IN AUSTRIA

BERLIN, March 4.—(AP)—All German Catholics were urged today by Dr. Martin Spahn, history professor of the University of Cologne and member of the reichstag, to use their influence in Austria to gain support for Chancellor Hitler.

Writing in the Catholic Germania, edited by Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen, Dr. Spahn said: "It is a matter of immediate concern and the duty of Catholics in the reich to do what they can to secure support for Chancellor Hitler among their co-religionists in Austria."

He said Austria was "the most important of dwarf nations created by the treaty of Versailles around the reich." A negative attitude on the part of either German or Austrian Catholics "represents treason to the German cause," he asserted.

SOCIALISTS RAID FASCIST RALLY IN SPAIN; 26 INJURED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, March 4.—Twenty-six men were injured today when Socialists and communists attacked the first meeting of Spain's new united Fascist front at Valladolid. Hand to hand clashes raged until a huge police force succeeded in separating the fighters and some shots were exchanged.

Five thousand Fascists had packed the bull ring of the old Castillian town to hear young Primo de Rivera, Spain's aspiring Mussolini and son of the late dictator, and other leaders. The occasion was the celebration of the union of the two foremost Spanish Fascist camps.

The united front is the result of the fusing of Primo's Spanish Phalanx and a national sydicalist organization known as the Jons, headed by Ramaro Ledesma. Before the union the members of the Jons repeatedly attacked Primo's followers as "kid glove" Fascists.

FEAR FOR LIVES OF 100 CASTAWAYS ON PACK OF ICE

Hasty Action to Save Them Urged by Alaskans.

NOME, Alaska, March 4. — (AP) — Hasty action to rescue 100 or more shipwreck refugees on the shifting ice pack between Siberia and Wrangel island was urged by Alaskans today, mindful of the reputation of the region as the "death trap of the arctic."

At least 15 adventurers, seeking to colonize Wrangel island, perished in two separate expeditions launched to claim the rocky isle for Canada or Great Britain, not far from where the Russian men, women, and children now are calling for help.

Constant shifting of the ice, under the influence of wind and currents, is regarded as the greatest immediate danger menacing the Russian party, who were cast on the ice floes when their ship, the Cheliuskin, was crushed and swallowed Feb. 13.

Only 12 Miles from Coast.

Food for two months, remnant of the supply cached in the ice when the Cheliuskin became frozen in, temporarily saves the refugees from starvation. A smaller party could subsist in the region as long as it had ammunition, for game and fish abound.

While the refugees are only 12 miles from the Siberian coast, almost insurmountable difficulties prevent their reaching shore on foot. Open water lanes and ice hummocks where the pack has been turned on end into pressure ridges by the strong Arctic ocean currents, would make travel extremely slow and dangerous for any but the most experienced and hardy explorers.

Called a "Death Trap."

Possibility that the floating ice field on which the party is marooned may be cast adrift in Bering sea, there to be broken up, faces the refugees, who were returning from the Kolyma river section and from Wrangel island.

The description of the region as a "death trap" came from Burt M. McConnell, survivor of a Canadian expedition led by Vilhjalmur Stefansson, who attempted to colonize the island for Canada in 1913. Their vessel, the Karluk, was crushed and sank in the ice near the island and 11 men who chose different routes to the mainland perished.

An expedition of four men headed by Allan Crawford, a young Canadian, which planted a bottle on the island in 1921 claiming it for Great Britain, was wiped out, leaving only their heroic Eskimo seamstress, Mrs. Ada Blackjack, alive when a rescue party came to the island in 1923.

The soviet government colonized the island in 1924, taking Charles Wells, an American, and 11 Alaskan Eskimos to Harbin, on the Manchurian border. The Eskimos were returned to the United States by the Red Cross. Wells died in Siberia. He had sought to establish the claims of the United States to the island.

Ten of the soviet Wrangel island colony were among the passengers of the ill-fated Cheliuskin.

The island, which is regarded as important as a future base for aviation routes between Europe and the orient, is claimed by the soviet by virtue of the explorations in the region in 1821-'24 of Baron Ferdinand von Wrangel, Russian governor of Alaska at that time. British claims are based on a voyage of Capt. Kellet of the trading and exploration ship Herald in 1849. Capt. Kellet sighted the island, but did not land.

A party from the United States revenue cutter Corwin made the first recorded landing on Wrangel in 1881, while searching for the Jeannette, an American vessel in which Admiral Melville tried to reach the north pole. The Jeannette, it was later learned, was wrecked on the delta of the Lena river, farther west in Siberia, and only one officer survived.

Flights from Nome to the refugee camp on the ice between Wrangel island and Siberia could be made in three hours.

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, March 4.—The soviet rescue commission for the Cheliuskin party of 101 persons stranded on the Arctic ocean ice near Bering strait tonight discussed plans for a new rescue expedition that will start from Moscow Tuesday.

Ernest Birnbaum, who took part in the army stratosphere balloon flight, will lead the expedition of 100 men. They are going direct to Vladivostok, where they will take ships for Providence bay. They hope to fly from the bay to the marooned party. Otherwise dog sleds will be used.

The expedition will be completely equipped for a three months' stay in the arctic and will take a dirigible as well as two airplanes. In addition there are planes already in Providence bay. Michael Troyanovsky, nephew of the soviet ambassador to Washington, left the Cheliuskin before she sank. He is now in Moscow.

Trapped on Ice Pack

Map shows region where more than 100 shipwrecked men, women, and children are trapped on a shifting ice pack. The Russian party was cast on the ice floes between Wrangel island and Siberia when the ship Cheliuskin was crushed and sank Feb. 13. Russia will send a rescue expedition of 100 men to the region tomorrow.

Nazis Rule All Must Earn Living; Will Tax Spongers

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 4.—Everybody in Germany must work for a living. Those who try to live on the wealth of parents or relatives will have to pay heavy taxes to the state as punishment for their laziness, according to a ruling of the Supreme Financial court of Nazi Germany. Wealthy parents who want their children to enjoy a life of leisure may continue to make large donations to them, but the state will collect a donation tax on these presents.

"HOW I SAVED $27.23 ON MY CAR INSURANCE"

"It certainly paid me to insure with the largest mutual casualty insurance company in the world."

"I SAVED $27.23 on my car insurance last year because I dealt direct with Liberty Mutual.

"You see, they sell only through full-time, salaried automobile insurance specialists. This greatly reduces sales costs.

"They also make big savings by selecting their policyholders. Reckless, dangerous drivers cannot buy insurance from Liberty. Responsible, careful-driving car-owners are entitled to buy insurance at a lower cost—and 115,000 of them did in 1933.

"Under Liberty's strictly mutual plan, these huge savings belong to its policyholders. The balance—after being added to surplus to strengthen the company—is returned to policyholders in the form of cash dividends.

"Every year for 22 years—every Liberty policyholder has received a cash dividend of 20% of his premium. These dividends have totalled over $37,900,000. They have meant an actual saving, because Liberty sells at the same standard initial rates as all reliable companies. That's how I saved $27.23 on my 1933 car insurance.

"And, I received protection from the largest, strongest company of its kind in America—a company which has increased resources and surplus, right through the depression.

"No company I know of settles claims more promptly or fairly. They keep their policyholders out of court and out of trouble. Liberty's 115,000 policyholders are Liberty's best salesmen because they renew their policies every year and recommend Liberty to their friends."

CHEAPER DOLLAR OPENS AUSTRALIA TO U. S. PRODUCTS

Reciprocal Tariffs Needed to Pave Way.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, Australia, March 4.—The Australian federal government is interested in considering reciprocal trading tariffs with the United States on goods not listed under the Ottawa tariff agrement between Australia and Great Britain, according to F. H. Stewart, Australian federal minister for commerce in an interview with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE correspondent.

Definitly Australia wants to sell more of her products to America, because for years the trade between the two countries has been widely unfavorable to Australia. Primary products, such as wool, wheat, wines, mining ores and dairy goods, can be purchased more cheaply in Australia right now due to the 25 per cent depreciation of the Australian pound below the depreciated British pound.

Thus Australia has been building up a favorable trade balance in London in the last two years by her surplus exports, and thereby changing financial debits to credits in England. Australia's favorable overseas margin in the first five months of her present fiscal year amounted to $87,500,000 at par. Excellent prices for wool and better exports of hides and skins assisted materially in this build-up of trade.

Room for Other Pacts.

Stewart informed this writer that England, Canada, and New Zealand are the only countries which have trade treaties with Australia. He said, however, "there are many products outside the limits of the Ottawa agreement which Australia and the United States could well consider in possible trade treaties."

An Australian trade delegation to be headed by Attorney General J. G. Latham is soon to visit Japan to discuss a possible trade treaty. Despite the commonwealth's "White Australia" policy and the ever current fear of Asiatic domination in the Pacific, Australia is taking full advantage of increasing her trade with Japan, which country, by the way, is second only to the United Kingdom among Australia's best customers. Australia buys huge quantities of silks, electrical goods, novelties and paper products from Japan.

The United States buys large quantities of fine Australian wools direct from London, but Australia would like to see more direct American purchases of wool in Australia. By making purchases of wool direct from Australia, American mills could buy on a par with England, and other countries. Shipment of Australian wool to London takes six weeks while the new and better shipping facilities between Australia and New York or Boston would be only four weeks. Banking facilities for the handling of credits to American buyers in Australia are as good as in England, Secretary Stewart pointed out.

Money at Disadvantage.

Though the Ottawa agreement struck a blow to American trade in Australia, particularly to the disadvantage of American sales of automobiles, the high rate of monetary exchange between the two countries has been more harmful to American trade. The low depreciation of the Australian pound [at one time worth only $2.50] made it too costly to buy American goods. The position has changed, however, with America going off the gold standard, and has stimulated a sudden movement of Australian purchases in America, particularly automobiles, which seem more suited to Australian road conditions than British cars.

On top of Australia's unfavorable trade balance with the United States, there are at present two sore points in the business complex against America. They are, firstly, the United States government's low concession of allowing only 10,000 gallons of Australian wines into America until March 31. It is pointed out that the allocation of wine quotas into America was based on wine imports into America during the 1910-14 period when Australian wine production for export was practically negligible compared with other countries. However, since the world war, Australia has developed its wine industry. Australian wines are of many kinds, ranging from the sweet sherry type to choice sparkling white and burgundies. Australian wines have a high natural fortified content.

Peeved at U. S. Shipping.

The second "pin prick" in the Australian complex against American influence is the American shipping regulations against British ships carrying passengers and cargo between the mainland of the United States and American territories like between San Francisco and Hawaii. The Australian press carries on a ceaseless campaign for the imposition of regulations against American shipping between Australia and New Zealand, little realizing the seriousness of possible retaliation against British shipping in the Atlantic. American ships have captured the greater part of trade between Australia, New Zealand and America in the Pacific because of newer and superior ships.

Despite the fact that American goods are discriminated against in tariffs and exchange, the public of Australia still carry the desire to buy them because they are made better and put up better.

Under Australia's policy of greater foreign trade, the government may soon consider sending an official trade delegation to the United States to make a survey of the trade position and perhaps to consult with the American department of commerce on a possible trade treaty.

America could readily consider ways and means of increasing purchases of wool, hides and skins, ores of high iron content, wines, passion fruit for soft drinks, barley-malt whisky, lead, choice meat cuts of lamb, rabbit skins, mother-of-pearl, and hard woods from Queensland and Tasmania. In reciprocity, America could well suggest lessening of tariff restrictions on motor cars, oils and gasoline, motion picture films and machinery.

Another way in which America could assist in evening up Australia's present unfavorable balance of trade with America, would be in an increased tourist traffic to the antipodes.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm

By Bob Becker

Twin Lambs Born in Snow

March 4, 1934.

LIFE goes on at THE TRIBUNE'S experimental farm. The daily routine, akin to that on many other farms—large and small—in this Fox river valley country and elsewhere, keeps the staf busy with the normal problems of feeding, planning, preparing for the spring planting. There are chores to be done and stock to be cared for.

Another set of twin lambs has been born, but only one survived. At 10:30 o'clock yesterday John Rawlings, sheep and poultry man, let the ewes into the feed lot to feed on corn fodder. At 11:15 he went out to the lot and looked them over. They were all right, so he left the feed lot for 30 minutes to do some chores about the poultry yard. When he returned to the ewes he found that the twin lambs had been born in the snow. The shivering babies were rushed to the brooder house stove to be warmed and rubbed dry. Then Rawlings warmed some milk and fed them. But at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon one of the l: ibs died.

The other is up and around and doing splendidly. [This old ewe that gave birth to the twins could only care for one lamb. If the other had lived it would have been necessary to feed it from a bottle.]

Rawlings is planning on staying up most of the night tonight in order to be in the sheepfold because there should be many new additions to the sheep family in the next 24 hours.

The first twin lambs, born last week, are growing in fine style. We've just been in the sheepfold to see them. Rawlings has both them and their mother in a small pen in the sheepfold, where they can be by themselves. With their black legs and plump woolly brown bodies they look very sturdy and apparently immune to the raw March weather.

In order to provide shelter for the ewes and their lambs Rawlings has erected a big brown tent which he calls the "lambing tent." There isn't enough room in the sheepfold proper for all the prospective families, so this big brown tent is needed to provide additional shelter. It has feed racks for the ewes and short wooden sections which look like miniature gates. These can be set up to make small pens for a ewe and her babies.

The Muscovy ducks are building nests, but so far they haven't laid any eggs.

The supply of soy bean hay has been exhausted. Clarence Thurow, the farm manager, is going to have to give the steers more alfalfa feed to keep them in growing shape until grass time.

Charley Sleezer has been wrestling with 90 bales of hay, which will be fed to the stock within the next few days. He placed this supply within easy handling reach of the feed racks.

The brood sows are getting a little more corn now in order to keep them in good condition. About 100 pounds of salt was distributed in the various cattle yards so that the stock could go to these artificial "salt licks" when they want to.

The pheasants on the farm certainly know where to go to get a square meal without much work. They have been joining the wild geese at meal time in order to enjoy the corn and small grain tossed out for the bonkers.

Neighbors and friends of Louis Thurow Sr., who died Thursday here in his home on the experimental farm, have been calling to express their sympathy to Clarence, his son, and other members of the family. The funeral will be held today [Monday] at 2 p. m.

CAMPAIGN BEGUN TO WIDEN CITY'S FOREIGN TRADE

Commerce Group to Issue Business Directory.

The launching of a campaign to increase foreign trade for Chicagoland industries was announced yesterday by the Chicago Association of Commerce. The organization will issue a new foreign trade directory to tell the world what Chicago exports and imports.

The directory is to be published under the title "Chicago International Market." Its publication is the result of agitation on the part of members, who see in current economic conditions an opportunity to broaden their foreign outlets.

Plan Improved Directory.

The last time such a directory was issued was in 1931. The initial effort was successful. Many members of the association reported wide expansion of the market for their products following its distribution. The new directory is to be more pretentious, with the hope that it will achieve greater results.

More than 25,000 copies will be distributed, making available to prospective foreign customers the names and addresses of members engaged in foreign trade. Complimentary copies will be distributed among all foreign business men attending the 1934 World's Fair, through the coöperation of hotels. An illustrated editorial section of the publication will contain pertinent information regarding Chicago and the Fair.

Wider Trade Hopes Grow.

"The substantial increase in the volume of exports from this section of the country in recent months has resulted in a sharp rise in the interest in foreign trade among our members," said C. C. Coldren, vice president of the association. "The depreciation of the dollar has proved an important factor, while depleted inventories throughout the world are finally receiving attention.

"Foreign countries are buying, and the alert company will secure its fair share of this business. President Roosevelt's determination to remove the existing barriers to foreign trade is significant of the trend. The action of the association is a commendable move to grasp benefit of the trade opportunity for Chicago."

Mr. Coldren, who is vice president in charge of foreign trade of the Quaker Oats company, is a student of foreign trade. For 45 years he has sold the products of his company throughout the world and visited many countries to study trade problems.

FRENCH AND JAPS SIGN TRADE PACT ON MANCHUKUO

TOKIO, March 5.—[Monday.]—(AP)—A contract for organizing a Franco-Japanese syndicate for marketing French products in Manchukuo on a long term credit basis was signed today. Andre B. D'Olivier, French representative who has been for some time in Tokio, signed the contract with representatives of the Japanese owned South Manchuria railway. Both Japanese and Manchukuoan governments gave their approval.

The syndicate is to be capitalized at 100,000 yen [about $30,000], the South Manchuria railway and the French Association National Expansion Economique each subscribing half. The syndicate is to find trade opportunities in Manchukuo for French producers who are said to be ready to grant 15 year credits.

A Franco-Japanese commercial alliance in the Far East has furnished talk in the Orient for several years. The French are colonizers of Indo-China, the country bordering China on the south, and have pushed their commercial penetration deeply into Yunnan, the southermost of China's fertile provinces.

GREECE TO ORDER INSULL TO GET OUT THIS WEEK

Will Turn Him Over to the Police for Deportation.

BY EUGENE SPECK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATHENS, March 4.—Samuel Insull probably will be turned over to the police for deportation this week.

Official confirmation of the order issued by the foreign office to the ministry of interior that the fugitive Chicago utilities promoter must leave the country at once was delivered today to the American government. Foreign Secretary Demetrios Maximus informed Minister Lincoln MacVeagh of the government's decision at a conference.

Will See Premier Ttoday.

Minister of Interior John Moundjourides will see Premier Panayoti Tsaldaris tomorrow morning concerning the expulsion of the 74 year old fugitive, who is wanted in Chicago on criminal charges. Moundjourides tonight announced that Insull's deportation will be conducted in the "regular way."

This means that Insull's banishment will be enforced by the Greek gendarmerie, if necessary. In such circumstances a policeman would take Insull into custody and escort him to a boat or the frontier.

Moundjourides flatly announced that Insull will not be permitted to have a new medical examination to determine his ability to travel.

Insull Gives Up Fight.

One person who was admitted to the Insull home said the fugitive has given up his fight to avoid deportation.

"I am old and sick," he is quoted as saying. "I will go home and die."

Where Insull will go from here remains a mystery. According to reports agents who are hunting a place of refuge for him have met with no success.

The former financier has made no application for a Greek travel permit or a new American passport.

FIND GOLD IN DIRT USED FOR DENVER STREETS

Denver, Colo., March 4.—(AP)—Denver citizens may be walking on silver and gold without knowing it.

H. P. Flint of Denver, in applying for a lease on the dump at the old Grant smelter, disclosed that an assay report showed 29.16 ounces of gold and 97.72 ounces of silver to the ton in a sample from the old slag pile.

The city purchased the heap years ago and has been using the slag to pave streets.

City officials are considering Flint's application to work the dump. They said the sample he procured might have come from a "pocket" of refuse much richer in gold and silver than the remainder of the heap.

DR. BUTLER SAILS

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler.

New York, March 4.—[Special.]—Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, sailing yesterday on the Rex of the Italian line, said that the greatest sensation since the world war is the exposure in the March issue of a magazine of the fact that while the war was on the French bought guns and ammunition from the German munitions makers with which to kill Germans while the Germans bought arms and munitions from the French manufacturers with which to slay French soldiers.

Dr. Butler said that the article will not be printed in Germany or France for the reason that the munitions men control the press of those countries.

Dr. Butler expressed approval of President Roosevelt's attitude toward a proposed disarmament program. He said that the President is right insisting that the United States must continue to play the role of a spectator.

Speaking of domestic affairs, Dr. Butler declared that there are no longer political parties in America devoted to principles.

DR. DEAN, DAZED, PLANS SOJOURN ON PLANTATION

Greenwood, Miss., March 4.—(AP)—Described as "completely dazed" by the verdict of guilty returned against her in the poison highball death of Dr. John Preston Kennedy, her one time admirer, Dr. Sarah Ruth Dean, Greenwood child specialist, today was planning to go, as soon as her strength would permit, to Sharon, Miss., to rest and regain her health on the plantation of her forefathers.

She was released in $10,000 bail to await the hearing on her plea for a new trial, tentatively set for June 2 at Indianola.

Many friends of the specialist called today at her neat little cottage. Messages and letters came from many sections of the country from persons seeking to console her.

DE VALERA TELLS OF FEAR OF NEW IRISH CIVIL WAR

Admits Government Is 'Up Against It.'

BY HUGH CURRAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, March 4.—President Eamon de Valera's admission that the elements which produced a civil war in 1922 are again present, and that the government is "up against it" has caused profound anxiety here.

The question is being asked: "What is being done to prevent war?"

Dublin's newspapers call for action, declaring nobody wants the horrors of civil strife. De Valera's speech on the bill to ban the blue shirts organization, chief government foe, gave no sign of any intended action, beyond a casual invitation to all parties to form a composite national force to obtain order.

Former President William T. Cosgrave, a leader in the United Ireland party, tossed this invitation aside as not seriously meant, but offered to consider any genuine proposal.

Clash at Blue Shirt Rally.

Meanwhile 300 civic guards made several baton charges to restore order at Galway today as rival factions clashed at a Blue Shirt rally. A crowd of 10,000 attended the meeting which was addressed by Gen. Owen O'Duffy, Blue Shirt leader.

Trouble began as the Blue Shirts gathered. There were shouts of "Up De Valera!" and brisk fighting followed.

Gen O'Duffy declared that notwithstanding the government's new bill, young men and women would continue wearing blue shirts and blouses and that he would lead them to victory.

Asks Coöperation.

The Irish government newspaper, admitting the gravity of the situation, asserts that the elected ministers are the men to combat it. The Irish Times demands that De Valera, Cosgrave and Gen. O'Duffy move together to prevent disaster.

Cosgrave points out that De Valera only recently refused to attend a joint conference of leaders which was to have been presided over by Cardinal MacRory. De Valera at that time indicated that no immediate outbreak is anticipated. Dr. T. F. O'Higgins, a blue shirt leader, has warned, however, that young blood is hot, and should not be forced beyond control.

The blue shirts have already shown a willingness to observe the law by changing their title three times, and now they are seeking a law court's certificate of their legality. They allege that the bill banning blue shirts has been introduced to forestall the law and to halt the high court's jurisdiction.

Sympathy for De Valera.

There is general sympathy with De Valera in the appalling difficulties which have beset him on all sides. The courts have ruled against him several times, and other decisions are pending. Economic troubles, consequent to the virtual loss of British markets, are hurting all classes and causing discontent and uncertainty in business. Next week the coming year's budget may indicate increased taxation.

De Valera believes that his plans for economic regeneration are right, and relies on the people's mandate, twice given, as complete justification.

O'Duffy's followers claim that another general election now would tell a different tale, but De Valera says that no general election will come for four years.

Jordon, president of the medical subchapter, will be other speakers.

Polish Government Acts to Recognize Manchukuo

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, March 5 [Monday].—Michel Moscicki, Polish minister to Japan, told press representatives at Hsinking [Changchun] today he had been instructed to study the situation in Manchukuo in connection with the Polish government's intention to recognize the new state. Poland, he stated, would probably recognize Manchukuo before Germany, which has dispatched Commercial Attache Knoll to remain in Manchukuo for six months.

BRITISH 'HUNGER' MARCHERS STAGE ANOTHER SHOW

Only 3,000 Attend Session in Trafalgar Square.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 4.—A mass demonstration in support of the British "hunger marchers" today brought only between 2,000 and 3,000 sympathizers to Trafalgar square, despite the fair weather. The meeting had been advertised as the greatest mass-meeting of workers ever to be held in the famous square.

The first contingent of marchers arrived at 3 o'clock this afternoon. They were escorted by a heavy guard of police, who had no difficulty in marshaling them into the square. Fifteen minutes later all the demonstrators had arrived. They stood listening in an orderly manner to various speakers, who addressed them from three sides of the plinth of Nelson's column.

Big Police Force on Duty.

Hundreds of police were on duty in the square, and a large reserve force, mounted and on foot, was held in readiness at various vantage points in the vicinity. The greatest difficulty was in keeping sightseers on the move in order to clear the way for traffic.

One marcher fainted and was taken away in an ambulance, but otherwise there was not a single accident of any sort.

Shortly before 5 o'clock a bugle sounded, marchers made their way to their various posts and, accompanied by heavy police guards, trooped quietly off to their headquarters.

Military Efficiency Shown.

An outstanding feature of the demonstration was the efficient manner in which the leaders handled the demonstrators. It was obvious that some one with an excellent knowledge of military tactics had arranged for the arrival and departure of the marchers.

Police received information today that trouble might break out in the vicinity of Whitehall tomorrow, as demonstrators intend to make a final effort to present their petition on unemployment relief measures to Prime Minister MacDonald at 10 Downing street. A contingent of women marchers will also attempt to interview Isbel MacDonald, the prime minister's daughter, who, like her father, has refused to receive a deputation. The first group of marchers are due to return to their homes Tuesday, and negotiations are going on with railway companies for tickets.

U. S. JUDGE COCHRAN OF CHARLESTON, S. C., ILL, HANGS HIMSELF

Charleston, S. C., March 4.—(AP)—United States District Judge Ernest Ford Cochran, 68 years old, was found hanged to death in his home here today. Coroner John P. De Veaux Jr. termed the death suicide.

For the last several months Judge Cochran had been in ill health. He was a native of Anderson, S. C., and had been District judge since 1923. Previously he served as United States district attorney for 15 years.

Judge Cochran was educated in the Anderson schools and the University of Virginia. His widow, the former Mary Virginia Lewis of Kansas City, Mo., survives.

BELGIAN CROWDS VISIT ROCK CLIFF WHERE KING DIED

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

MARCHE LES DAMES, Belgium, March 4.—A national patriotic pilgrimage was conducted today from all parts of Belgium to the spot where King Albert fell to his death two weeks ago. Excursion trains were crowded and many walked or drove from Namur to Marche les Dames.

From early morning delegation succeeded delegation throughout the day. Carrying flags and accompanied by bands, they brought flowers enough to carpet the narrow gully between the two rocks where the king had fallen. A band took a precarious footing among loose stones and played the national anthem. Among the wreaths was an offering of the 62d district of International rotary, of which King Albert had been president.

The crowds were not encouraged to linger at the spot. After a moment's silence the people knelt before an ancient crucifix that stands at the roadside and passed on. All beggars and peddlers were prohibited from standing within a mile of the spot.

SALOON BUILDING BOMBED TWICE WITHIN 24 HOURS

Police were hunting last night for a gang that twice in twenty-four hours bombed property of Charles Mukutcki at 871 West 18th street. The first blast Saturday morning wrecked the front of Mikutcki's saloon, above which he lives with his family, and a second bomb exploded yesterday morning at a tailor shop owned by Mikutcki at the rear of the saloon.

Another bombing investigation was being carried on by the Maywood police. This was the setting off of a black powder bomb early yesterday at the Bosco Bowling alley at 12 South 19th avenue in the suburb. George and Nicholas Bosco, owners of the building, told the police they could furnish no motive for the bombing.

The Bosco brothers have been active in west suburban politics.

SOVIETS ACCLAIM 16TH ANNIVERSARY RED INTERNATIONAL

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, March 4.—Today, the 16th anniversary of the founding of the Communist International, was greeted by the soviet press—with the notable exception of the government organ Izvestia—with a lavish display of photographs and special articles depicting the future triumph of the proletariat.

The bolshevist writers have found a comforting, if not ultra-convincing, formula to explain the recent submergence of communism abroad by Fascism. As the Communist Youth Pravda puts it editorially:

"The Fascist reaction is not proof of bourgeois strength, but weakness. The bourgeoisie has chosen Fascism because as the soviet union has grown stronger the only hope left to the bourgeoisie is to drown the oncoming revolution in blood."

That Chesterfields are Milder
..that Chesterfields Taste Better is no accident

We ask you to try Chesterfields—to prove to yourself that they are milder —that they taste better

—not by a jugful

IT TAKES just about three years, and lots of money, to make a cigarette that's milder, that tastes better.

To give you the Chesterfield flavor and mildness, we don't just mix together different kinds of good tobaccos —you can't do it that way.

This is what we try to do: We blend and cross-blend aromatic Turkish tobacco with ripe, mellow home-grown tobaccos.

You know what Burbank did for fruits—how he crossed one fruit with another to make a new and more pleasing flavor —we don't do this, but we do blend and cross-blend mild ripe tobaccos to make a milder better-tasting cigarette.

FRANCE STARTS WAR ON STAVISKY TERRORIST GANG

Orders Slayers of Judge "Tracked Down."

PARIS, March 4.—(AP)—War on the terrorist band "of Stavisky gangsters" was officially declared today by the Doumergue government.

Prosecutors in Paris and at Dijon were instructed to "track down and punish" the gang that is believed to have put Judge Albert Prince "on the spot" to silence the most important witness in the $60,000,000 Bayonne pawnshop scandal investigation. Judge Prince was mysteriously slain near Dijon recently.

Bodyguards were reported to have been supplied to persons whose identities have been kept secret to avert a similar fate.

Guard Stavisky Apartment.

Rumored threats to kidnap two children of the late Serge Stavisky, in an effort to intimidate the mother, caused the posting of a detective outside the apartment. The pawnshop collapse was assertedly due to the dealings of Stavisky, who killed himself as he was about to be arrested.

Meanwhile, Mme. Stavisky, once the toast of the gayest French resorts, shivered in a prison cell.

Henry Cheron, minister of justice who is pressing an investigation into the affair which caused the upset of two governments, said, "France is the prey of a band of criminals who stop at nothing to carry out their evil acts."

The prosecutor at Dijon told Cheron he was convinced the gruesome scene where Prince's mangled body was found beside a railroad track was "a stage setting intended to strike terror to the public mind."

Will Quiz Mme. Stavisky.

Mme. Stavisky will be taken under close guard before a parliamentary investigating committee Tuesday for questioning as to her husband's acquaintances and as to who benefited from hundreds of mysterious checks for millions of dollars that Stavisky wrote.

She was arrested Friday. Police said she had stubs for 1,200 checks, but she has maintained a close silence on details of her husband's life.

Stubs of 50 additional checks were recovered at daybreak in a raid on an apartment which resulted in the arrest of the manager of a weekly paper backed by Stavisky. He was the 20th person jailed in the case.

SOCIALISTS GAIN IN ELECTIONS TO ARGENTINE HOUSE

BUENOS AIRES, March 4.—(AP)—The coalition of conservative parties behind the government of President Augustin P. Justo claimed continued control of the Argentine congress with a substantial working majority as a result of country-wide elections today to fill 81 of the 158 seats in the chamber of deputies.

The Socialist party, however, constituting the principal opposition in parliament, was conceded to have won heavily in the city of Buenos Aires. The Socialists claimed seven deputyships in Buenos Aires province and two in Cordoba, in addition to 12 in the capital. They predicted that the anti-administration alliance in congress, of which they are the spearhead, would number 58 deputies or more, a gain of at least one seat.

Provincial legislators and 15 of 30 city council members in Buenos Aires also were chosen today. Socialists claimed eight or nine of the 15 council seats. Radicals of the late Hipolito Yrigoyen's once dominant party refrained officially from participating in the balloting. Most of their leaders are in exile or internment.

NOBLEWOMAN OF SPAIN SAINTED IN PAPAL CEREMONY

Founder of Girls' School; Endured Ridicule.

VATICAN CITY, March 4.—(AP)—A Spanish noblewoman, who once graced Paris court functions with self-torturing devices concealed beneath her clothing, was made a saint today by Pope Pius in ceremonies which brought thousands of ardent worshipers to St. Peter's basilica.

In court life the new saint was known as the Viscountess of Jorbalan. She was known throughout most of her adult life as Mother Maria Micaela, founder of the Institute of Handmaidens of the Most Holy Sacrament.

Her self-punishment was imposed during several years of Parisian court life in the middle of the 19th century. Feeling in duty bound to obey her diplomat brother's wishes, she attended balls, parties, and receptions. But she humiliated her flesh while attending these functions to express her religious devotion, and arose at 5 o'clock each morning to pray until her brother's family got up. She spent most of her time in charity work.

Prince Jaime Attends.

Don Jaime, son of the former King Alfonso of Spain, together with two Spanish cardinals, eight Spanish bishops, and 3,000 Spanish pilgrims attended today's ceremonies.

With the measured Latin command that Blessed Maria Micaela Desmaisieres "be inscribed in the catalog of the saints and her memory celebrated in the universal church each year with pious devotion," Pope Pius finished his portion of the cannonization ritual and a spontaneous burst of applause reverberated through the cathedral.

Maria Micaela Desmaisieres was born to an aristocratic family Jan. 1, 1809. Her father, Don Miguel, was an adjutant general in the Spanish army. Her mother was lady in waiting to Queen Maria Luisa.

School for Fallen Girls.

Mother Micaela began religious devotion early in life. While in mourning for her father, at the age of 13, she started a classroom for poor children in her mother's home at Guadalajara, Spain.

What was to become her life work was started in Madrid in 1845. It was a home and school for fallen girls. Not until Mother Micaela had endured years of ostracism, insult, and several attempts to burn the home did it become a recognized and honored institution.

Cause for Mother Micaela's beatification was begun in Valencia, Spain, in 1899, 24 years after she had died in a cholera epidemic. Two outstanding miracles of healing are attributed to her heavenly intervention. A Sister Virginia was said to have immediately recovered from advanced tuberculosis when she swallowed a paper pellet bearing Mother Micaela's signature. The causes stated that another nun, Sister Angela, was miraculously cured of ulcer when in a frenzy of pain and devotion she swallowed a thread from Mother Micaela's relics.

FILIPINOS READY TO ACCEPT NEW FREEDOM BILL

MANILA, P. I., March 4.—(AP)—Leaders of both factions of the independence question said tonight a special session of the legislature was likely at which the revised Hawes-Cutting-Hare independence bill would be accepted. The present legislature, elected in 1931, continues in existence until its successor is chosen June 5.

Various leaders praised the plan of Manuel Quezon, leader in the independence movement, to invite a congressional committee to visit the islands to consider further changes in the bill. Emilio Aguinaldo, veteran Nationalist, said he was satisfied with the move but hoped the decade transition period would be shortened.

The American owned Daily Bulletin editorially said President Roosevelt's message was "an effort toward many sided face saving." The editorial declared the Quezonistas had thus acquired a new store of ammunition for the campaign for control of the legislature which "was after all the local issue."

FIGHTS DIVORCE WON BY ALBERTA CABINET MEMBER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WINNIPEG, March 4.—Mrs. Cora Lillian McPherson of Edmonton, Alberta, has won the right to appeal to the British privy council in London against the decree of divorce granted her husband, O. L. McPherson, minister of public works in the Alberta government. Mrs. McPherson, the former Cora L. Farmer, of Ashley, Ill., married McPherson in 1908.

Mrs. McPherson asked leave to appeal on the grounds the decree was granted her husband by Justice T. M. Tweedie, of the Alberta Supreme court, after a private hearing, namely in the judge's library. This, according to petitioner's counsel, constituted a serious error in the administration of justice, involving questions of great gravity within the province.

Counsel for McPherson acknowledged that the judge's conduct in not holding trial of the action in open court was improper, but he stated the petitioner had made no complaint for 18 months. In the meantime McPherson had remarried.

(Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.)

PEIPING, March 4.—The Chinese flag was raised over Kupeiskow today as the Japanese army restored to China control of the most important pass in the Great Wall. In a battle nearly a year ago the pass was wrested from the Chinese at a heavy cost of lives on both sides. Some Manchukuan officers and a few Japanese troops remain on the south side of the pass, but the Chinese expect to negotiate their removal soon.

INDIANA AND DILLINGER

The escape of Dillinger gives Indiana an unforgettable scandal. The circumstances are such that although the direct responsibility is on county officials the whole political structure of the state is suspect. If that structure is taken apart the explanation may be found.

Dillinger's return to the state, after the Arizona police caught him and the other gangsters, was something of a triumph, but not, it would seem, of the law. There was more of the homecoming of a popular boy, and the misguided state's attorney allowed himself to be photographed with his arm affectionately on the shoulders of the killer. The scene was shocking to the proprieties—the law and crime just pals together. In much that is maudlin and vicious in the administration of criminal law this episode made an impression all its own, a notable achievement.

The probability of collusion in Dillinger's escape is too large to be dismissed. Other explanations must deal with more feeble mindedness and imbecility than are expectable even in Indiana politics. Dillinger in late September was the outside criminal who managed the escape of ten convicts from the penitentiary at Michigan City. That was a political scandal which is still raw. In October Dillinger was arrested in Lima, O., as a bank robber. Three of the convicts he had released from the Indiana prison took him out of the Lima jail and killed the sheriff.

The gang then began to raid the country. Banks in Racine, Chicago, and East Chicago were robbed, two policemen were killed and seven other banks raided in Ohio and Indiana may have been victims of these criminals. Three murders are directly traceable to the Indiana prison break, a disgraceful record which the Arizona police were thought to have ended. These shrewd and quick shooting officers got the gangsters who had broken from prisons and police traps.

Dillinger has put an indelible stain upon the administration of criminal law in the state. Explanations will not take it away.

EFFICIENT FIRING.

The coal industry, lagging far in the rear of the march of American industry, would do well by itself to adopt a feature of the drive on smoke abatement now on in Chicago. The department of smoke inspection and abatement, with the aid of 150 engineers from the CWA, proposes to instruct home owners and plant operators in how to fire furnaces with a minimum of smoke and a maximum of fuel efficiency.

The coal industry will serve its own as well as the public's interests if it will go into this educational movement. It is a necessary step forward. Careless firing, which produces a public nuisance and reduces the efficiency of coal as a fuel, is an obstruction to the use of coal, which now is in competition with other kinds of fuel and has lost ground disastrously in recent years. To make coal as efficient as possible obviously induces the use of coal. Inefficient firing is one of the serious handicaps which coal has to contend with in its race with other fuels, to say nothing of the smoke nuisance as a public offense. The furnace industry and the coal industry should help to educate the public more generally and systematically.

FREIGHT RATES BY CONTRACT.

The British bureau of transport, after exhaustive study, came to the conclusion that the freezing of freight rates through mileage schedules was having a deleterious effect not only on commerce but on the revenues of the carriers themselves.

After the transportation act of 1920 had provided for both minimum and maximum rate control by a regulatory body in the United States, the English blindly followed with similar legislation. The theory was that simplified schedules conforming to mileage would produce a rate fabric that would foster the widest possible distribution of commerce and eliminate all possibility of discrimination. The British now realize that mileage is a minor factor in proper, and therefore scientific, rate construction and have swung back to the old system of agreed contract rates between carrier and shipper.

Thus, a manufacturer of emery wheels and other abrasives at Manchester has agreed with the railroad to forward all of his traffic at stated intervals and to stated destinations in consideration of a flat freight rate of 49s 6d per ton, roughly equal to 54 cents per hundred pounds. A shipper of fertilizer and seeds has signed a railway contract to ship his entire output from Raynes Park to certain destinations in Great Britain at a flat, specified rate. A producer of paints and varnishes agrees to forward all of his traffic to his branch warehouses at a rate of 30s per ton, and so on.

For 54 cents per hundred pounds emery wheels and abrasives could be transported distances of two hundred and fifty to three hundred miles in this country. The average haul from Manchester could not be more than half that distance, but that is somewhat beside the point. There is a striking similarity between these British rate arrangements and the commuter system used in this country, through the medium of which a passenger undertakes to utilize certain transportation space daily and is accorded, in return, a low rate because the railway is assured maximum use of its equipment. There is the incidental saving of an immense amount of clerical work. The transportation item on the manufacturer's cost sheets becomes a fixed instead of a highly variable figure, ascertainable only at the end of the season, when it may be found to have cut deeply into estimated profits if not to have wiped them out.

The British transport authority has given our interstate commerce commission, Mr. Eastman, and our railway executives something to think about. After all, a substantial volume of the country's commerce moves on schedule. The attempt to visualize each shipment as a separate contract entails an enormous amount of trouble which might be avoided. There has been much written about the "chaotic conditions" produced by the truck in American transportation because truck rates are not published. In England they are going one step further and publishing a cross section of transportation costs for the information of competitors, because all of these contracts are subject to the approval of the transport bureau.

GETTING TO AND FROM THE JOB.

Though the notion is favored among architects of a new world that labor is truly Adam's curse and to be got rid of as soon and completely as possible, we retain the notion that eight hours' work in a six day week will in many occupations hurt no reasonably healthy person. But in fixing the hours of labor and its compensation we also think it fair to take into account the time consumed in going to and from the place of employment. An eight hour day in some places where the worker finds wholesome dwelling conditions near the place of work is really equivalent to a shorter workday here the worker must live a long distance away from his work. Thus an eight hour day in, say, Waterloo, Ia., or any like community may correspond to a six hour day in Chicago, a five hour day in New York, perhaps a six and a half hour day in Detroit, Cleveland, Baltimore, or Boston.

The adjustment involves difficulties, no doubt, but it deserves serious consideration, for it is supported by reasons of justice and public policy. It may be objected that it would be unfair or inexpedient to pay for riding to work what is paid for time spent in labor, but this does not seem a serious objection. If the policy induced workers to live at a distance from their places of employment, its influence would be all the more advantageous. It would help to reduce congested areas and permit workers to seek better environment for themselves and their children. And there will be plenty of work to go around when and if industry is free to carry on.

THE BULL BY THE TAIL.

President Roosevelt, approving the $40,000,000 appropriation for emergency crop production loans, said he did so only to taper off this agricultural relief experiment rather than stop it abruptly. The loans have been a cause of great loss to the government. Administrative costs have been larger than the interest collected. The President's understanding is that this year's will be the last of the loans and he may view the failure with personal detachment because the crop loans did not begin in his administration.

Mr. Hoover's administrators experimented just as Mr. Roosevelt's administrators are experimenting. The farm board bought wheat to hold up prices and failed. Every one was willing to get rid of the farm board. Mr. Wallace killed little pigs until something of a moral shock hit the country. He plowed under cotton and subsidized untilled grain lands. Price fixing in the milk market failed.

Progress is supposed to be by trial and error, but when error is discovered the administrators are afraid to let go. If they thought they could handle the bull by the nose ring and find they have him by the tail they have to go along. It's error which will not permit itself to be dropped. If they learn to deplore the cause they are still more afraid of the consequences of stopping. They have created private rights in the public funds and do not themselves see the end of it.

Editorial of the Day

[The Washington Post.]

It is to be hoped that Senator Fletcher has adequate evidence to support his scathing denunciation of stock exchange "propaganda" against the regulatory bill which bears his name. The attack is certainly unbalanced when it attributes all responsibility for the market collapse last summer to inside manipulators. Speculation at that time was definitly encouraged by the administration's monetary experiments, and ever since last March fear of inflation has almost forced many people into the market, a fact certainly to be balanced against malpractices of operators. The major issue raised by Mr. Fletcher's blast, however, goes deeper than the chapter and verse of his justification.

The fair minded public is heartily sick of efforts, similar to this by Senator Fletcher, to cry down legitimate criticism by vilifying those who express dissent. It seems to be entirely forgotten that the vitality of a democratic society depends upon the right of individuals and groups to give free expression to their views, whether interested or disinterested. As a matter of fact, the most trenchant, because best informed, critics of legislative proposals and regulatory policies are usually individuals directly affected and selfishly concerned about contemplated changes.

In former days Senator Fletcher's attack upon the critics of his bill might have been dismissed as one man's effort to prevent revision of a measure known by his name. Unfortunately, his jeremiad today reflects an all too frequent response to any analysis of legislative and administrative proposals. Whether the question relates to monetary policies or cancellation of air mail contracts, those who have voiced objections are subjected to personal attacks the more objectionable because they seem calculated to distract attention from fundamental issues. From Dr. Sprague, whose professional reputation was openly disparaged by Gen. Johnson, to Col. Lindbergh, just the other day, those who have exercised their fundamental rights as citizens have been denounced instead of being met on the ground upon which they have taken their stand.

It is high time that the true significance of this contemptible practice be realized. Government by decree is the prerogative of dictators; it has no place in the United States. But if our legislators abdicate their rights to discuss and criticize the measures that come before them, and if men in political power hold dissenters up to public contumely, we shall soon be living under a system in which the difference between autocracy and democracy will be difficult to define.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. By H. L.

A WOMAN obtained a divorce in Chicago last week on the grounds that her husband said she had no sense of humor. Proving that he had a high sense of humor, he struck her when she laughed at something she heard over the radio and at three other separate and distinct times when she laughed at jokes told her by various people at parties. Of course, the fact that the lady laughed at something she heard over the radio would seem to prove the husband was correct in maintaining she had no sense of humor. Her laughing at three jokes told at parties as proving or disproving her sense of humor depends entirely on the jokes. If they were the four usually told on such occasions they were the ones beginning: "There were two Irishmen, Pat and Mike . . ."; "An Irishman who wanted a good talking parrot went to a bird store . . ."; "A Jew who had just landed in New York . . ."; "A man went up to a hotel clerk and asked for a room, the . . ." If the lady laughed at those stories . . . but what's the use? The case has been decided, anyhow.

THE HAUNTED ONES.

One fantom all men follow
To kiss but seldom keep;
Though blood run bold or shallow
By paltry pools or deep.
And this all boys are born for—
A ghost to guess and mourn for,
A dream all men are torn for
Till they are put to sleep.

Scolded by sun and weather,
By fire and by frost,
On lonesome hill or heather
Though double death the cost,
She makes us seek to find her
With charms more queer and kinder
Than angels who must mind her.
Love us or we are lost!

We are ruined now forever
By rage and hope and lust.
We could marry her never
But meet her we must:
Though we will have to borrow
Again from shame and sorrow,
Though we will feed tomorrow
On the low lonesome dust.

On plains of plum and clover,
At time of seed or sheaves,
For hermit nor for rover
In land of frost or leaves,
No lover's word is spoken.
The bell of speech is broken,
Except the lips that grieve.

Are all men living only
For one unfruitful quest?
Will they always be lonely,
Will they never find rest—
While silver buds and golden,
And fresher leaves and olden
Still flourish to embolden
The blood within their breast?

In all our days of living
By glad or shameful schemes,
In all our gain or giving
Life is not what it seems.
Of winds and waters sighing,
And ghosts and fantoms flying,
Of death that leads us dying
A ghostly life of dreams.

Spring comes to mix and mingle
With flowers new and old;
With many leaves and single,
And blossoms blue and gold.
We run to pluck and choose them
But autumn breaks and spews them
On wind where we must lose them
With bands too weak to hold.

This is end and beginning—
A fantom took for wife:
Sister of saint and sinning,
Desire and hate and strife.
She comes to kiss and kill us
With love to soothe and still us,
But never does she will us
The lock and key of life.

We were lost at beginning,
We will lose at the end.
Through our praying or sinning
We lose every friend
Save earth that bore and bred us
With lust that took and led us
To Time that broke and bled us
Where blood will never mend.

"THERE WERE ONLY TWO MEN in the sixty reserved seats and they cast fearful glances at the wave of corpulent femininity which threatened ot engulf them."—The Wynekoop trial. Why is it that a plump lady is so drawn to a murder trial? You would think it would be the lean, skinny ladies who would be the ones fighting to get into the courtroom. According to all the popular concepts, if persons are fat they are jolly, laughing people who keep away from the sad, sinister phases of life. Yet at all murder trials the stout ladies are massed in solid ranks. They jump to a murder trial like a flea to a dog's back, a hungry bull to a haystack, a mother to her long lost child, a Democratic party worker to the CWA. Why? Well, that's one of those things that nobody knows.

IT WOULD BE NICE if Gen. Johnson called some more conventions of critics. It isn't that one enjoys reading what the critics say, but it is such fun to watch the general toss 'em about in the air and mop 'em around the floor after they've made their kicks.

COURTING SLEEP.

OUR friend, Harvey T. Woodruff, gives the world his remedy for insomnia. He had been worried for a month or so about insomnia. He tried to relax and employed all the usual suggestions, even counting imaginary sheep as they jumped over a fence. After the assorted methods had been given a try he would get out of bed, light his pipe, and read until he was worn down by exhaustion; whereupon he would fall over into bed and go to sleep. This method having its limitations and disadvantages, he hit upon another. He considers this his invention. The principle of this method consisted in fooling himself. He made no preparations for bed. He laid down on the bed in slippers and dressing gown just to take a little nap. The nap extended automatically into a night's sleep.

This thing of "sleeping in your clothes" is not exactly new. Many bibulous and nonbibulous have worked it for various reasons. It is the custom in the flop houses, once on the writer's calling list. In the form and method Harvey used it for the purpose he had in view it is new, and he may be able to patent it and grow rich on his royalties. If he did, he might never sleep short of the long sleep, since it is said the rich are unable to sleep.

But the principle of Harvey's method is well understood. He had developed insomniphobia. He worried about not sleeping. At times he may have become an insomniac. He tells us he would get out of bed and sit up reading and smoking for hours. That suggests a temporary insomniac state. He tells us about the tricks he worked to invite sleep. He was too anxious to sleep, worried too much about not sleeping, put too much thought on how to invite sleep, got too keyed up over those sheep jumping over that fence, grew too tense in his efforts to relax. Sometimes he became so tense trying to relax that he got up, turned on the light, and lit his pipe. If the cat was around the chances are he kicked it. If there was no cat to kick he probably sucked his pipe pretty hard.

And then what? He decided to quit all trying. He did not awaken himself by elaborate preparations for bed. He did not put his hair up in curl papers nor cream his face. He just said, "O, heck! What's the use? I don't give a darn whether I sleep or not." Then, for the first time, he relaxed mentally and emotionally. Presently he had relaxed physically, because when one lies quietly in bed he cannot keep from relaxing physically except by effort. And then came sleep.

When Harvey became indifferent he had already cured his insomniphobia—at least temporarily. If he can make his don't-care attitude permanent he will have permanently cured his insomniphobia. The insomniac angle was just fringe on the garment—icing on the cake. It disappeared spontaneously.

SOY BEAN AS FOOD.

F. G. M., M. D., writes: Your recent article on the use of the soy bean interested me. For a year I have been prescribing the soy bean in various forms freely. The phosphorus it contains makes it a fine nerve builder, and the iron and copper help in the anemias. The proteins are nearly perfect. It has the effect of changing the intestinal flora to a remarkable degree. It relieves most persons who have chronic constipation, and, strange as it may seem, it relieves diarrhea in the diabetic. It puts pep into the rundown person as no remedy I ever prescribed has done.

The Scientific American for December had an article on its history and use. I prescribe it for many farmers who have an abundance of milk because of its superior qualities in many respects. For the city and town folks it is much less expensive than cow's milk and it is always clean.

My patients get to using soy flour in many ways, and I know of none who have given it up when once they got a start on it. My family of three uses two quarts of soy gruel every day.

HAS RIGHT COMBINATION.

M. E. D. writes:

1. Will you tell us how John D. Rockefeller, with his physical handicaps, has succeeded in prolonging his life to such a healthful old age?

2. In what ways have his habits of living differed from those of the average person who kicks off at sixty or seventy years, if not sooner?

3. A summary of the statistics bearing on the ways of living of those who have reached a ripe old age would be of great interest to many persons.

REPLY.

1. His father lived to a ripe old age. He is thin and considerably underweight. He has the advantage of all the care money can buy, and his habits are said to have been good all of his life. This is a somewhat exceptional combination in making for longevity.

2. It is said he eats sparingly of simple foods. His sleeping, resting, and exercising habits are said to be very wisely chosen, well adapted to his strength, and, more important, they are followed persistently. It is said he does not use alcoholic beverages or tobacco.

3. I presume you mean to ask what habits have been followed by those who have reached extreme old age. Stanley Hall tried to investigate that. His book on senescence has a chapter on the subject. He wrote that interviewing old people as to their habits led him to nothing of value.

FIND THE CAUSE.

R. M. R. writes: Some time ago a Dr. G. M. B. had a letter in your column regarding rashes above the eyelids being caused by the use of cosmetics. I have such a rash and have had same for about a year. I have tried various pastes with little success. I have also changed all my cosmetics to different brands, but the rash still persists. Do you know of any cure for this? It is very irritating and itches considerably. When I awake in the morning it seems quite swollen and the eyelid is slightly disfigured. I use cold cream, powder, rouge, and lipstick.

REPLY.

Have you thought of doing without cosmetics?

If you find and avoid the cause the rash will disappear. Otherwise it will abide with you.

IRON IN FOOD.

Mrs. W. P. S. writes: What foods contain iron?

REPLY.

BOND INTEREST.

Chicago, March 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have a $100 bond of an issue of $1,300 on a house worth about $2,500. There has been no interest paid the last three times it was due. Three of the bondholders have started foreclosure [without notifying me] and have named me and one other bondholder with the property owner as defendants. They had the court appoint a receiver and [1] are getting money from the property. 2. Should I receive some of this? 3. Can they foreclose and leave me out altogether? 4. Is it possible to lose it all holding a first mortgage bond? 5. What steps should I take? E. S.

1. We doubt if the money is actually being paid over to the complainant.
2. Ultimately you would be entitled to an accounting.
3. You state that they have not done this.
4. In general, no.
5. We do not have sufficient facts before us to advise you. If you do not understand the matter any better than is indicated by your letter it would seem advisable for you to go over your facts in a personal interview with an attorney.

"HARD" TIRES.

Chicago, March 1.—[Friend of the People.]—For the last month on Washington boulevard from Hamlin avenue west there have been great numbers of solid tire trucks hauling debris, operating both ways on the boulevard, to the great damage of the boulevard and buildings. They shake my two flat to the very foundation every time they pass. A law was passed some time ago prohibiting the use of trucks without pneumatic tires. Why is this violation permitted?

E. C. H.

I am not unmindful of the fact that our solid tire trucks are using our boulevards and that the writer is justified in making such complaint. I wish to inform you, however, that we are gradually changing our equipment to pneumatic tires and at the present time practically all of our tractors are so equipped. It is our intention to make these changes as rapidly as our finances will permit so as to save our boulevards from damage as well as the annoyance to the people residing along such boulevards.

President, West Park Commissioners.

MAKING A WILL.

Chicago, March 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Is there an age limit for a man in order to make a will? 2. What is the age limit? M. N.

1. No, there is not.
2. The only limit is that he must have a sound and disposing mind and not be subject to undue influence.

From Across the Sea

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON.—Speaking at a meeting in London recently, Dr. F. A. Freeth, chief research chemist of Imperial Chemical Industries, said, that in his opinion, widespread harm is being caused in Great Britain and elsewhere by highly colored stories of secret poison gases, which in wartime could spread death and destruction among the civil population.

"I do not want in any way to minimize the nature of modern chemical warfare, but I wish to make it quite clear that the dangers are not so great as the nation has been led to believe," Dr. Freeth said.

"Recently there has flowed from the pens of novelists and authors the most utter nonsense. Slowly, but surely, there has been built up in the minds of peoples of the world the thought that they will be wiped out by gases if there is another war. There is nothing more likely to lead to another war than this state of things. It is time to think clearly and calmly on the subject.

"I can say that there is today no secret gas—and, in fact, no generally known gas—which could produce such dire results on the civilian population.

"There are no gas bombs in existence which could cause any greater havoc in congested towns than the high explosive bombs which were used in the air raids during the war. There is no gas in any part of the world, or in any of the military laboratories against which it is impossible to devise some simple form of apparatus which could effectively and completely protect the civil population in time of war."

OUTSIDE THE NEW DEAL.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—Almost everybody else works under the NRA. What's the matter with housemaids doing that? Look through the want ads some time and see what some of these women have the nerve to offer us girls. They ought to be ashamed of themselves. I've answered a lot of ads, and have worked for some of these women. They tell you it's light housework. But, believe you me, I know different. I've worked for a lady for four weeks at $3 a week, and the light housework turned out to be 20 shirts each week, besides taking care of a six room flat and taking care of children. There was to be no cooking, but this lady managed to call up every day before supper and said she was sorry but she couldn't get home in time for supper. Wouldn't I be a dear girl and cook supper?

Well, the only reason I stayed that long was that I didn't have any money at all. I'm telling you if I had the money and power I'd see that these girls got a break.

Don't misunderstand me. I'm not condemning all these women. There are some left that treat us like human beings. But they either have girls [who know when they're well off] or haven't the heart to offer a girl such a lousy [sorry I had to use that word] salary. Can anybody tell me how we girls are expected to get along on $3 a week?

Why not give us a hand, President Roosevelt? We sure need you. H. Z.

MOTOR LICENSES IN ILLINOIS.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—It is not necessary to arrest motorists for not having license plates. Nobody is permitted to drive an automobile without gasoline on Jan. 1, so why should they be permitted to do so without license plates? On Jan. 1 simply herd all automobiles or trucks without proper plates into vacant lots, padlock them, empty water from radiators, with proper guards stationed, such as unemployed war veterans, on duty day and night with proper shifts, whose pay will come from a fine to be apportioned and collected from offending motorists—we will say one or two dollars from each car. If any one is so unfortunate as to have his plates stolen it is just too bad for him, and he naturally is in the same category as though he "forgot" to buy new plates. And these cars stay there until the owner comes and puts the plates on, at which time he can then drive his car, but he cannot have his car until he brings the plates. In other words, "No checkee, no washee."

REMARKS ON THE BLUE EAGLE.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—I wish to make a very violent criticism of the cartoon of Mr. Carey Orr in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE of Feb. 28, which shows Hugh Johnson patching up the NRA eagle, which Blue Eagle is not properly shown.

The true NRA eagle is very chesty and has lots of cheek; the rest of him being composed entirely of legs and wings. As a result he has no region in which to develop the well known intestinal fortitude. In his left claw [the plural is clause] he carries a bunch of [used?] excelsior, the material commonly used for bedding down horses and cattle. In his right claw, instead of a nice, big, new gear wheel shown by Cartoonist Orr, the real Blue Eagle carries only a small broken pinion, and we all know what happened to the bird with the broken pinion. J. GARDNER BENNETT,
Professor of Civil Engineering.

THE EXPERIMENTAL FARM.

Dwight, Ill., Feb. 28.—I read with interest in yesterday's TRIBUNE about the experimental farm you are establishing at Yorkville. I feel that there is a chance for you to accomplish a great deal of good for the agricultural industry in this region with this undertaking.

I have felt for the last two or three years that what we need most is to develop some new crops suitable for the farms of this great central valley. For years we have devoted our lands principally to growing animal feed. The market for oats and hay has greatly diminished; that leaves us with corn alone, and no country can be prosperous consistently on a one crop plan. Further than that, those crops grown for human consumption always sell for more money than feed crops.

After all I doubt if the value of wheat and other human food crops we export equals the value of sugar and other food crops we import. In other words, if we rearrange our agriculture to produce those things we consume domestically we would have no surplus to burden our markets and we would need no acreage reduction scheme to balance us up to our own requirements. I would like to see some figures on this.

I have under my supervision here more than 11,000 acres of Scully estate farm lands, and I feel the need of new crops to add to the farm income. We are located less than fifty miles from Yorkville, and I want to go over and see your farm in the growing season, and I will watch with interest the results of your experiments.

J. F. ZIEGLER.

A PROSPECTIVE VISITOR.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—I want to compliment THE TRIBUNE for carrying on the experimental farm in Kendall county as outlined in THE TRIBUNE on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of this week. The project is one that is fraught with many potentialities for the benefit of farmers as well as others.

The writer spent ten years of his early manhood on a fine old farm in northern Ohio and is thoroughly familiar by reason of that fact and contact since that time with projects of this kind.

Later on I hope to have the pleasure of visiting the farm, which I know will be of great interest not only to farmers but to others also.

THE ARMY FLYERS.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—Since the cancellation of the air mail contracts five army flyers have lost their lives; we hear nothing about the number of lives lost during the first three years the air mail was carried by private companies. Why? Because the obstructionists are frantically grasping at another opportunity to undermine the President's recovery program.

The deaths of these five army flyers who were pressed into mail service were due to their over-anxious desire to make good. I think the responsibility rests with the individual flyer and his supervisory officer, and not with the President.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—On Sunday, Feb. 25, you had a beautiful picture and a big write-up about the Carlsbad cavern of Arizona. I have been in New Mexico several times and own quite a lot of land down there, and I know there is a big Carlsbad cavern in New Mexico, but I have never heard of one in Arizona.

OUR SECRET AMBITION

HORNER TO URGE SPEED ON SCHOOL AID LEGISLATION

Assembly Takes Up Relief Bills Tomorrow.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

With the reading of Gov. Horner's special message urging speedy legislative action the assembly tomorrow will return to the knotty problem of providing financial aid for the public schools of Illinois. At least twenty bills to this end have been introduced in the senate and lower house at Springfield.

The governor said that his message to the legislators would call for passage of bills to relieve the school situation "with rapidity and without adjournment."

Governor Asks Quick Action.

"I am anxious that legislation be adopted as soon as possible," asserted Gov. Horner yesterday in Springfield. "Unless something is done immediately many schools in the state will close in April."

The governor reiterated his stand that the sales tax and liquor taxes of the state should not be diverted to the common school fund for apportionment to all school districts in Illinois. He said that it might be possible to enact an income tax measure if it were practical and constitutional.

Nearly all the proposed legislation provides for the pouring of old and new taxes into the common school fund. The annual appropriations for this fund under the present law is $10,500,000. Chicago's share of this amount is $3,200,000.

Primary Complications.

According to some members of the legislature any possibility of speedy action in the enactment of school relief measures is complicated by the April 10 primary when nominations for 153 seats in the lower house and twenty-five in the senate will take place. Many of the members who have a fight in prospect to retain their seats are anxious to stay in the home bailiwick and direct the campaign.

Voting of a new tax with the primaries at hand is also said to be a factor likely to hinder rapid consideration of the school measures.

Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg [Rep., Chicago], minority leader of the lower house, said that the public schools needed more financial support from the state, but that new taxes should be voted only as a last resource.

Hopes to Hold Quorum.

"I shall do my best to keep the members in Springfield to pass the necessary legislation," said Schnackenberg. "At present there is no agreement on a program. Working out something that will pass is our first task. Proposals that are not feasible should be discarded immediately."

Schnackenberg said that he would attempt to push his bill, providing for diversion of the state's liquor taxes into the school fund, through to passage in the house tomorrow. The bill is on third reading there. It is the only school bill, with the exception of Chicago school legislation which is nearly all completed, that has progressed this far.

Other legislation is being sponsored by the Illinois State Teachers' association, of which Robert Moore is the executive secretary.

List of Proposals.

The proposals, any one of which is expected to provoke a hot battle in the legislature, include: Flotation of a $12,000,000 bond issue to apportion this amount, now in arrears, in the state distributive fund; an increase in the fund to $35,000,000; a tax of ⅛ of a cent on each bushel of grain sold for future delivery; a 2 per cent income tax on persons and fiduciaries; a 3 per cent tax on the net incomes of corporations for using franchises and doing business in the state; and tobacco and document taxes.

The seventh and final bill in the Chicago school board's legislative program, the so-called "pegged levy" bill, is scheduled for passage in the senate tomorrow. The measure would arbitrarily fix the educational fund levy at $44,000,000 for 1933 and $43,000,000 for 1934, and produce $8,500,000 more in revenue than the existing tax rates, according to its proponents. The bill passed the house last week.

NEW AUTO TITLE CERTIFICATE LAW CHECKING THEFTS

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

Stolen, 52; recovered, 30; stripped, 4 [from police records for 24 hours ending at midnight Saturday].

The new state law requiring certificates of title for automobiles, which became effective two months ago, is already proving helpful in checking automobile thievery, according to Lieut. John Kelly, head of the stolen auto detail.

He expressed this view yesterday while going over the records with Lieut. George Teeling, his chief aid. Both predicted that the full effect of the state law on motor thefts will not come before six or eight months.

"This state law is making it increasingly difficult for thieves to sell stolen cars," said Lieut. Kelly. "Crooked fences are afraid to purchase the machines without certificates. Consequently the oulet is growing smaller."

Even without the aid of the title certificate law the police in coöperation with other agencies are succeeding this year in reducing auto thefts, Lieut. Kelly said. He cited figures.

In January, 1933, he said, there were 2,451 cars stolen. In January of this year the stolen machines totaled 1,685. In February, 1933, 1,724 automobiles were stolen, and this February only 1,055 cars were stolen.

"We are convicting fences and auto thieves regularly now," said Lieut. Kelly. "We also have had the licenses of seven second hand dealers revoked, and are proceeding against several others. Those failing to keep proper records are being taken to court. We'll keep it up."

Lieut. Kelly attributed the successful campaign against auto thievery to six points. These he listed as greater teamwork in the police division detailed to the job; effective grand jury action, fine coöperation of the state's attorney's office, the new certificate law, and the work of Judge Joseph Graber in the new auto court.

WOMEN RUNNING LARGE SHARE OF LIQUOR INDUSTRY

Many Among Dealers at Convention.

Women have definitly taken their place in the wine and liquor business, it was indicated yesterday by the advance list of registrations for the first annual convention of the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers' association, to be held this week in Hotel Sherman. Of the 6,000 persons registered, more than 35 per cent are women.

They are not merely the wives or stenographers of the men delegates but are sales managers, treasurers, and presidents in their own right. They will participate in the meetings to be held for four days beginning today, in efforts to untangle legislative, marketing, and trade problems resulting from the resurrection of the wine and liquor business three months ago.

"Women have come into their own in this industry," said Walter P. Powers, president of the Illinois Wholesale Liquor Dealers' association, whose organization will be host at the show. "I could point out any number of retail, wholesale, and manufacturing wine and liquor companies that are either owned or operated by capable women.

"One of the most successful retailers in the loop is a woman. Another woman manufactures whisky on the north side. One of the largest importing concerns in the country is managed by a woman. And some of the cleverest post-prohibition liquor salespersons are girls."

Recalls Helen of Troy.

It was also pointed out by Maj. Charles T. Estes, who recently returned from Europe, where he made a study of the wines of many countries, that Helen of Troy was an expert in the selection of wines.

Comely Li Yen Pi, 22 year old Chinese girl, will be on hand at the show to exhibit samples of a shipment of wines and liquors she brought with her from her native land. She will have bottles of real "snake bite liquor," for its rare flavor is derived from soaking a drowned snake in rice whisky.

Each day during the liquor show a special jury of connoisseurs will pass judgment on foreign and domestic wines in the international tasting room on the second floor of the hotel.

Mayor Kelly to Speak.

The first speaker at the convention will be Mayor Kelly, whose address will be made after Chairman Powers calls the convention to order at noon today. The keynote of the convention will be sounded in a paper on "The liquor industry's problems" to be read by C. C. Degenhardt, a consulting engineer.

Final settlement on the code authority for the liquor industry will be taken up during the convention. The delegates will be advised by Edwin Lowry of the federal alcohol control administration. The distilled spirits rectifying industry has been operating without a code authority since the signing of the code by President Roosevelt on Dec. 3. It was asserted that because of the press of business a representative group for the industry could not be assembled, but it was finally decided that this convention would comprise a representative group. Mr. Lowry will be present during the congress to approve the selection of code authority members.

CHANCES OF U. S. ON WAR DEBTS HELD 'REMOTE'

New York, March 4.—[Special.]—The problems and purposes of the Roosevelt administration were outlined today by Prof. Raymond Moley, former assistant secretary of state and editor of Today, in an address to members of Congregation Rodeph Sholem.

Reviewing the first year of the New Deal, Prof. Moley said it had sped up the process of building the nation, a process which "never stops," and which had as its end the development of a finer "home" for the American people.

The speaker confined his one hour talk to domestic issues, but in response to a written question at its conclusion declared the collection of war debts owed to the United States was "pretty remote."

"Not because they're not just debts," he added, slowly, "but because—I must say this—because the debtors aren't just."

ONLY MUSHROOM TEST IS TO EAT IT, EXPERT ASSERTS

Buy 'Em, Don't Pick 'Em, Professor Warns.

Qouth Prof. L. J. Muchmore, biologist of the Los Angeles Museum of History, Science, and Art:

"Eat the mushroom; if you live, it's nonpoisonous. If you die, it's poisonous."

Eighteen persons have died of toadstool poisoning in California within the last week. Fifteen of them after a "mushroom" banquet at Arroyo Grande, near San Lois Obispo.

Prof. Muchmore offers this advice:

"Purchase your mushrooms in commercial channels. By so doing you can rest assured the mushroom you have eaten was no more poisonous than any other food of which you may have partaken.

Silver Tarnish Test Is "Bunk."

"Don't go out into the forest or meadow to pick mushrooms. Only an expert can determine the difference between the mushroom and the so-called toadstool."

The ancient belief that a silver spoon placed in the pot with boiling mushrooms turns black if they are poisonous or does not change in color if they are edible is "just so much bunk," Prof. Muchmore asserted.

Prof. Muchmore pointed out today there are more than 60 edible types of the fungi and six considered deadly poison. The fact is, however, he said, that of the six poisonous varieties only two may be considered to cause certain death. The other four, he explained, may cause death unless medical aid is immediately given.

Toxic Effect Delayed.

To eat the venenarous phalloides or "deadly amanita," Prof. Muchmore asserted, or the amanita verna, means certain death, even though a physician may be called immediately upon appearance of the symptoms of poisoning.

Unfortunately, he continued, the symptoms do not appear until four or five hours after the poisonous fungi have been eaten.

The poison in the deadly amanita and the amanita verna, Prof. Muchmore said, is exactly the same as that of a rattlesnake bite. Victims of a rattlesnake, he pointed out, may be saved, but they always know they have been bitten, whereas the person who has eaten the deadly amanita or the amanita verna does not realize he has feasted on poison.

Second Yankee Dies from Peruvian Oil Well Blast

LIMA, Peru, March 4.—(AP)—A second American, A. R. Farmer, 29, dispatches said today, died at Talara of injuries suffered in the explosion of the "High Verdun" oil well there Friday. J. L. Stuart, 36, the other American, was killed outright. Both he and Farmer, who were engineers, were blown high in the air, witnesses said. Enormous pressure from inside the well caused the explosion, it was said.

HORSES, MULES MAKE COMEBACK; PRICES CLIMBING

Shortage of Animals Is Enlivening Market.

Des Moines, Ia., March 4.—(AP)—Betsy and Old Dobbin and Billy the mule are back in style.

The dapple grays and the roans, the fillies and even the nags are prancing onto the auction block amid the clamor of spirited bidding—prices are the best since 1930.

Good horses and mules are hard to find in the corn belt and on the western ranges. The farmer who wants a span of trusty mares for the spring plowing and planting is paying a good price.

One farmer in Iowa paid $117.50 for a three-year-old and $136 for an excellent animal of five years, recently. Seasoned veterans of the barnyard, too old for listing of ages, brought $100 each.

Eagle eyed horsemen ran up a bid of $200 for a sturdy team at an eastern Iowa auction, and purchased other animals at $40 and $45 each.

Top prices at other auctions have ranged from $125 to $150. The department of agriculture reports an average price of $73 a head, compared to $53.76 a year ago, for Iowa and $66.42 average for the nation.

This lack of horses may mean a neat profit to the shrewd farmer, Prof. A. B. Caine of Iowa State college animal husbandry department believes.

He predicts a sharp pickup in the number of colts raised this year. Horse traders in many Iowa communities already are shipping several carloads weekly to market centers.

This may reflect to the farmers' disadvantage, however, Prof. Caine warns. Other states have experienced shortage, and very few animals of desirable type and weight are left on the western ranges, he said.

The farmer who sells off his good work horses, intending to pick up western horses cheaply, may be out of luck, the Iowa animal husbandry specialist said.

Horses aren't the only farm commodity in demand at the auctions. Retiring farmers and tenants moving to a new section are obtaining good bids on corn, stabilized in value largely because of corn loans at 45 cents a bushel by the federal government. Forty-two and a half cents for corn and 31 cents for oats are frequent bids.

Bidders for dairy cows are offering $35 to $50 for cows. At this time a year ago, cows in one rural community were offered for rent at $1.25 a week, provided the renter would feed the cow.

JOHN DEMPSEY, G. O. P. LEADER, IS ROBBERS' VICTIM

John Dempsey, Republican ward committeeman of the 33d ward and a former assistant state's attorney, was kidnaped for a few minutes by bandits last night and robbed of $13 and his automobile. Dempsey was in his car in front of his home at 2532 North Richmond street when two young gunmen drove up to him in another car.

One of the robbers boarded Dempsel's automobile and made him drive to Diversey and California avenues. The other followed in the bandit car. They then took Dempsey's money and car. Later a police squad pursued and fired at the bandits.

Two armed bandits yesterday held up Daniel Manos in his grocery store at 1554 East 63d street and took $554 from a safe that they forced Manos to open before shutting him and a friend in the store refrigerator.

Jumps from Window of Home in Suicide Attempt

Morris Bookstein, 48 years old, 1113 South Troy street, was probably fatally injured last night when he jumped from a third floor window of his home. He was taken to Mount Sinai hospital. Police said that Bookstein, a painter, and his wife, Anna, had been quarreling because he had been jobless, and during the dispute he jumped from the window.

Painters' Union Official Robbed of $350 in Home

Evar Anderson, secretary of local 147, Painters' union, and his wife, Mary, were stopped by two gunmen in the hallway of their home at 1507 Wieland street last night. The robbers forced the Andersons to take them to their apartment. There they robbed Anderson of $350 in union dues which Anderson had kept in a tin box.

ALL NEWSPAPER WORKERS GO ON STRIKE IN HAVANA

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

HAVANA, March 5 [Monday].—[Special.]—All newspaper workers and dock workers went on strike last night. The stevedores struck to protest the loading of tobacco, which they had refused to handle since the Grau régime, by strikebreakers protected by soldiers. Newspaper employes walked out in sympathy with the stevedores' union, and there will be no papers tomorrow.

For Quick Results There is No Market Like CLEVELAND

● Here is your best proving ground. An outstanding, major market—large enough so that results really mean something. But a remarkably compact market. Especially fortunate for testing purposes in that it can be covered by just one newspaper—the Plain Dealer.

Consider what that means. Think what you gain in being able to cover a triple-million market with one newspaper and one newspaper alone. The only morning newspaper covering the Cleveland market is the Plain Dealer. The only Sunday newspaper is the Plain Dealer.

Cleveland is a market where the home delivered morning newspaper and the Sunday newspaper receive first attention. There is no duplication. Not a single copy is wasted.

Know how your product and the Plain Dealer can make a big success in Cleveland this year. The proof in fact form is ready for your use—simply write or wire.

Infant Society to Be Formed by Post-Debs

Jean Hyman to Be Hostess at First Meeting.

BY JUDITH CASS.

FOLLOWING in the footsteps of their mothers and grandmothers who for years have devoted a part of every week to charity work, a group of nine girls is meeting tomorrow to form a Junior auxiliary of the North Side Infant Welfare center, another link in the great chain of infant welfare societies that extends through Chicago and its suburbs.

At 1 o'clock these young ladies, all close friends and all post-debutantes, will gather at the luncheon table in the apartment of the Robert W. Hymans high above Lake Shore drive, with the Hymans' attractive daughter, Miss Jean Hyman, as their hostess. The group will include Miss Helen Marie Castle, Miss Lydia Swift, Mrs. John R. Hurley [Gwendolyn Juergens] Miss Isobel, and Miss Marion Gordon, Miss Helen Dawes, Miss Nancy Traylor, and Miss Martha Lee. During the luncheon they will elect officers from among themselves, and discuss ways and means of raising money for the infant welfare.

This news means that before long society will be digging deep in its pockets for sweet charity's sake, for all of the members of this group are experienced in drawing forth the elusive dollar—experience gained in selling gardenias and programs often and successfully during the last two years at benefits sponsored by their parents.

Early Program to Be Limited to Luncheons.

First the auxiliary is limiting its activities to a weekly or bi-monthly luncheon at the home of one of the members. Luncheon will cost the members a quarter. Profit from the fee will go into an Infant Welfare bank and then will be turned over to the society as soon as a sizable sum has been accumulated.

These enterprising young women have a great many plans up their sleeves for "turning an honest penny," in the interests of charity, but until they are more experienced they are approaching active work rather slowly, waiting first to confer with Mrs. Hyman, who is a member of the Infant Welfare; Mrs. H. Paul Juergens; Mrs. Hurley's mother, who has had much experience with the Vocational Society for Shut-Ins, of whose junior auxiliary Mrs. Hurley is president, and Mrs. Frank M. Gordon, the Misses Gordon's mother, who works constructively for the Madonna Center Settlement house.

After the business session today, Miss Hyman and her guests will play bridge.

Edward John Fleming to Wed Indianapolis Girl.

From Indianapolis this morning comes news of an engagement that concerns one of Chicago's popular and eligible bachelors. It is that of Miss Betty Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dwight Brown of Indianapolis, to Edward John Fleming, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward James Fleming of Evanston.

Although Miss Brown and Mr. Fleming have been friends for more than two years, the news comes as a surprise to Mr. Fleming's many friends here. It is even something of a surprise to Mr. Fleming's parents, who are now on a cruise on the Caribbean.

Miss Brown was educated at Pine Manor at Wellesley, Mass. Since then she has devoted most of her time to travel and charity as a member of the Junior league. Mr. Fleming was graduated from Dartmouth in the class of 1926 and afterward took his law degree at Northwestern university.

Miss Brown has come up from her home in Indianapolis to be the guest this week of Mr. Fleming's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Seibold Jr. at their home in Glencoe. The wedding is to be an event of May or June.

Nancy Yuille to Wed Viscount Wednesday.

Immediately after their engagement was announced Friday in Palm Beach, Miss Nancy Yuille, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Yuille of New York City and a sister of Mr. and Mrs. Wolcott Blair, and Viscount Adare, the eldest son and heir of the fifth earl of Dunraven and Mountearl, Ireland, went to the West Palm Beach courthouse and obtained a marriage license. The ceremony is to be a very quiet affair in the late afternoon Wednesday at Villa Lauwanna, the Palm Beach home of Mrs. Wannamaker Munn, which Mr. and Mrs. Blair have taken for the season.

The engagement was formally made known at a dinner Friday evening at Il Palmetto, the home of Joseph E. Widener of Philadelphia, where Viscount Adare is a guest. Miss Yuille arrived the day before from New York with Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Carstairs [the former Susan Burks Yuille] and Miss Melissa Yuille to visit her sister and brother-in-law, the Blairs. Unfortunately Miss Melissa Yuille could remain only for the party Friday night because of the illness of her father, the senior Mr. Yuille, in New York.

Ever since Viscount Adare came to this country in January with the Duchess of Sutherland as the guest of Charles A. Munn of London and Palm Beach, he has been fêted both in New York and the south. A few weeks ago he went on a cruise to the Bahamas with Capt. and Mrs. R. Amcotts Wilson and then returned to visit Mr. Widener and Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. B. Widener II.

Viscount Is Friend of Prince of Wales.

Forty-eight years old and a captain of the Twelfth Royal Lancers during the world war, Viscount Adare is a charming Irishman who will some day

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

We've been slow in writing about a treatment for the neck and double chin that took the country by storm a short time back. We've been experimenting with it for six weeks to make sure that it had merits. We can tell in a week whether we like a face cream and what it does to or for us, but things in the nature of corrective treatments demand a longer trial.

This treatment consists of the use of two products, a rich oil cream and a strong astringent, both to be used on the throat and neck to preserve youthful contour and to treat a crépy condition there.

The oily cream is applied generously to the neck with an upward, circular motion. At the chin it is patted in firmly with the back of the hand. Give it about twenty minutes to soak in and then use the astringent, without removing the cream. The method of application for the astringent is rather special: Saturate a generous pad of cotton with it and press it firmly into the skin. Then allow it to dry. Even through the cream you'll feel a stimulating little tingle of the skin.

We found on some very sensitive skins that the astringent was sometimes irritating, but that a massage with cream afterward soothed this most effectively.

After a trial of six weeks our verdict is that this treatment is a good one for feminine throats that are inclined to be crinkly and sagging. It's the sort of thing we think it behooves the woman, say of 30, to begin to use as a measure of preparedness against the onslaught of age and a double chin. For the woman who already has a voluminous chin and a crinkled neck, it's valuable, too, since it is lubricating, bracing, and calls for some brisk patting.

By Mae Tinee.

Good Morning!

So many exciting things CAN happen, apparently, on a transcontinental train that you wonder why on earth your own railroad journeys persist in being so uneventful!

Now the Bombay Mail, crack train running between Calcutta and Bombay, started out one day with the governor of Bengal aboard.

Sir Anthony Daniels—his name—was a brave little man, albeit he knew well that there were those interested in putting him out of the way.

His murder is accomplished—and there appears on the scene a Raffles-like sleuth from Scotland Yard to sift evidence and decide which of many suspects is the guilty party.

No sooner has this astute individual started shaking his sleve than one of the other passangers—the maharajah of Zungore—is shot in the back. Which complicates matters much, for the Indian prince had been on the point of disclosing certain evidence. . . .

But nothing daunts Inspector Dyke. Calmly, with an eye that never sleeps, he goes about his business.

Among the suspects are a cryptic Ghandi-like Indian agitator, a Miss Jones, the late Sir Anthony's wife, so suave in public, but known to have been shrewish to the old man in private, the two male secretaries of the deceased, a French toxicologist, and a young gentleman conspiring to kyp a pair of Americans out of certain ruby holdings. . . .

All of them puppets—just puppets to Inspector Dyke. He's neither mounted nor a Canadian, but you learn that he always gets his man. [Or woman. See, I'm not telling you a thing.]

Edmund Lowe is splendid as Lyke. Easy, plausible, and SO good looking. Other rôles are adequately handled and suspense has been well maintained.

A good mystery story; a good railroad yarn, is always fascinating. In "Bombay Mail" you find the two combined.

So what seems to be the answer?

Front Views and Profiles

THE story of Chicago's rapid rise from a village in the prairie mud to a city of 4,000,000 inhabitants is a familiar story, but it is pointed, with exceptional interest and charm, in a little document in the possession of a Lake Forest family. The late Senator Charles B. Farwell, who was elected to congress three times, retired from public life, then was again nominated for congress in 1880, and served in the senate from 1887 to 1891, made a bet with a friend in 1847. He wagered as to the growth of the city, and the bet, as recorded in faded handwriting on yellowed paper, follows:

Chicago, 28th Aug., 1847.

We, the undersigned, have this day made the following bet, viz.: Charles B. Farwell offers a bet of a six dollar pair of boots that according to the federal census to be taken in 1850 there will be 27,500 inhabitants within the present corporate limits of the city of Chicago. Charles N. MacKulin takes the bet.

In witness whereof we have hereunto set our hands and seals this day and year above mentioned.

CHARLES N. MACKULIN.
CHARLES B. FARWELL.

According to the almanac, Senator Farwell won the bet, as the population was listed at 29,963 in 1850. The wager, framed, is in the possession of his grandson, Charles Farwell Winston of Lake Forest.

* *

SOMETHING new in letter endings, as relayed by Joseph James Salvato:

"Well, as the Tudor kings used to say, thanks for allowing me two pages."

* *

JACOB WEHRUNG of 3624 Lincoln avenue recently celebrated his 80th birthday, and his friends sent him telegrams of congratulation signed "Franklin D. Roosevelt," "Mahatma Gandhi," and "Father Time." The telegram that most amused Mr. Wehrung, who is in the gold leaf business, was signed "St. Peter," and read:

"Roosevelt took all the gold out golden gates Stop Won't work Stop Delay your coming ten or twenty years Stop."

* *

WHICH brings to mind the story Pianist Egon Petri told when he was in Chicago last. It concerned St. Peter receiving souls in heaven and asking the Americans what state they hailed from. When one soul vouchsafed that he had been a Californian St. Peter said:

"Come in, but you won't like it."

IT was Mr. Petri, too, who defined a motorist as "a person in a hurry to do nothing somewhere else."

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

Franz Lehar's light opera, "Gypsy Love," one of the major works in the career of the composer of "The Merry Widow," was staged for one performance in the Civic Opera house last night, with eminent success both on the stage and in the box office. The occasion was for the benefit of the German Old People's home, and the size of the audience must have been balm to the trustees of that charitable institution. The singers were well known German-American professionals, experienced in all forms of opera, and the interpretation of Lehar's richly scored musical romance was skilful in all departments.

This piece had successful production on the American stage during the season of 1909-'10, two years after "The Merry Widow" vogue swept the country. It is a more leisurely and formal work than its famous predecessor. Many of its numbers are written for the stand-and-deliver methods of grand opera rather than the festive style of operetta, and its comic episodes offer few opportunities for the exercise of the American sense of humor. Therefore, although admired for its score by the old timers, it has never found a place in the stock company repertories.

"Gypsy Love" tells a placid story of Hungarian country folk. The heroine, on the eve of her betrothal ceremonies, falls in love with a gypsy fiddler, and contemplates an elopement. In a dream, which occupies the second act, she experiences certain unhappy episodes in her life-to-be with this Romany enchanter. She wakes up and marries the right man in the third act. In other words, it's just another mid-European libretto about a sentimental girl with gypsy trouble.

Lehar lavished his gift for romantic melody upon the score, and "Gypsy Love" ranks high in his brilliant record as a composer for the light lyric stage. The orchestra assembled for this performance gave an excellent account of itself under the direction of Siegfried Vollstedt.

Lucie Westen as the heroine, Max Bratt as the gypsy, Angelo Lippich as a comic father, and Irma Ferenzy as a village seductrix were the leading figures in the company. Their singing had opera house value, and Miss Ferenzy's soubrettish conduct was, for me, a pleasant discovery.

William L. Klein, the impresario of this performance, has hopes of staging other Sunday night productions of German operetta at the Civic Opera house. I am ready to encourage him in the idea.

"Ten Minute Alibi" moved from the Erlanger to the Selwyn theater last night, to continue its engagement until the promised dramatic stock company begins its sessions there.

"Anathema," a drama by Andreyev, Russian author of "He Who Gets Slapped," will be staged for a week's performances in the Goodman theater tomorrow night. David Itkin will appear as the central character, who happens to be Satan.

Shoe Gadgets Show Trend to the Feminine

BY RHEA SEEGER.

With the rest of the smartest wardrobes going feminine you'll not be surprised to see the bows and decorations that are being anchored on the insteps.

Some of the best looking collections of shoe or slipper gadgets that have been unpacked in years are now to be found in practically every shoe shop. They are interesting notes for your shoe wardrobe . . . you'll find trim, tailored leather bows that can be clasped on the instep of your new pumps while you wait . . . you will find all kinds of buckles, in every conceivable shade and tone, with metal contrasts such as silver, gold or the ever shining chromium.

You will find short narrow affairs, mere bars of dazzling metal or swanky blocky things for street shoes and some of the glittering deep bronze and cut steel square cut creations for afternoon footwear. Some of these perky little black patent leather bows, some combining black or brown and white and some stitched bows will do wonders for a plain pump.

And speaking of stitches . . . the newest street tie slipper is now stitched from toe to heel . . . stunning new models that are perfect for all these tailored dresses and tweeds that every one will be hustling into the first balmy days. These stitched kidskins have a decidedly continental flair . . . the heels are high without being teetery, the rows of stitchings keep the things from undue stretching and you can get them in dull black and smart navy blue. Later they will arrive in white kidskin, and before you know it, matching handbags will be available, that are also stitched in the new manner.

Some eye-filling gay young sandals with the very low heels are here . . . tall gals with short dancing partners please notice . . . they come in gold and silver kid, pleasingly dulled and tied high on the ankle with a small bow. Also arrived are some cocktail sandals that fit as wickedly smooth as they look . . . high slender heels with a scanty arrangement of scarlet straps that cut diagonally across the instep are all they amount to, but they are as new as they are seductively decorative.

THE WILD BIRD

By OWEN JOHNSON

SYNOPSIS.

Barbara Brawne, aged 22, is completely dominated by an adoring though jealous father, who is against every modern idea and improvement. Lynwood, their home, is in the prim and proper village of Oxbridge, a place of intellectual sanctity. Barbara seems predestined to join the ranks of the village spinsters. Her father scares away any would-be suitors. She contemplates rebellion. Gregory Rance, popular novelist, is visiting her cousin, Laurie Chiswick. They are mutually attracted. Barbara overhears Rance asking Laurie about her. He says she is the sort of girl he'd want to marry. Barbara proposes to Rance. But Rance is divorced and her father hates divorce and uses this as an excuse to oppose their marriage. When Barbara determines to marry Rance, regardless, her father has a stroke. Barbara fears he'll kill himself deliberately. She promises him she won't marry Rance without his consent. Gregory goes away and Barbara strives futilely to put him out of her mind. Disbrough, her father's partner, is a frequent visitor at Lynwood. Her father approves of him as a husband for Barbara, knowing she is not in love with him. In desperation, Barbara marries Disbrough. It is to be, until Barbara decides otherwise, a marriage in name only. Barbara sharing her fortune with him. Then with his daughter safe from his enemy Brawne loses his grip on life.

INSTALLMENT XLIII.

A MIND IN FLIGHT.

Some measure of liberty had come to Barbara with her marriage. She had assumed a new authority. A certain implacability of character, derived from her father, began to show in her. With the renunciation of her romance a rigidity of purpose had come. For the sacrifice that had been exacted of her she, too, would exact her pound of flesh. The landau remained, but only for the constitutionals her father required in the afternoon. She herself had her automobile. A garage was built and a chauffeur appeared. A telephone was installed and a hot water furnace. She announced these revolutionary decisions and her father accepted them sullenly, as though he, too, recognized her right to a new authority.

With her husband there was no difficulty. Their conversations carefully avoided intimacy. In his absence she dined out as she pleased in Paget and Oxbridge. Whatever decisions were to be made she made them. She came and went as she pleased. He had under consideration the acceptance of a post in the department of state. It was understood that he would take a house in Washington in the winter, which she would open and, for form's sake, appear at occasionally, but for the rest she determined to remain with her father either at Lynwood or on a trip to some southern resort. Disbrough never opposed her, waiting patiently. There was no rancor between them, each guided by a scrupulous politeness. There was nothing in him she could resent except that he was her husband and that some day if she carried out her intentions she would have to go to him.

Rance had never replied to her letter. She had waited, hoping, fearing. For months she had wondered when she would pick up the paper and read of his marriage. He had probably revolted against her letter, torn her from his memories. It were better so, better that his feelings towards her had turned to bitterness. She herself was confident that she would respond to the numbed sense of memory and the healing passage of time.

In an attic trunk she found what she had been seeking.

Brawne into a paroxysm of excitement. He was like a prophet in Israel who had seen the scourge of Jehovah descend on his people to vindicate him. He had lived to see it. He had been right. The world that hated and fought was collapsing before his eyes. The false gods were crumbling, the harvest of wrath was at hand. The generation that had contemptuously brushed aside the old loyalties and authorities would now be discredited. The turn of the cycle would restore society to the rigor of authority and the discipline of eternal verities.

The fierce, unbridled rage of joy which possessed him was too much for his enfeebled constitution. In the moment of his triumph he had another attack that affected his brain and for a while threatened to be fatal. The stubborn clinging to life in his body saved him, but when again he was able to leave his bed, his mind was definitely blurred, a victim of recurring periods of amnesia, in which he could not remember which sister had died and spoke of his wife as though she were living. Sometimes he mistook Barbara for her and spoke to her savagely and with an old rancor. There could be no question now of a southern trip. She resigned herself to spending the winter at Lynwood with this confused shadow, a body that went on groping for sunlight and food, when the mind had taken itself away in flight.

Occasionally a flicker of understanding would come back to him and for a brief vacillating moment he would look out again at the world hazily, recognizing familiar things and tormented by the obsession of work to be done. At such times they were forced to keep up a pretense of consulting him on legal matters that did not exist, until perplexed and tired he would fall asleep.

All her life the figure of her mother had been one of mystery to Barbara. She had a faint memory of a gentle woman singing to her in childhood. Beyond that, nothing. As a young girl she had sought to make her father talk to her, but always he had resented the question and turned it aside peremptorily. She had the feeling either that the tragedy of her death had been too acute to be reopened or that something had been wrong, something that had left an abiding bitterness. Gradually this last view had prevailed. One or two remarks in his moments of irritation against her had opened her eyes. The things her father feared, hated and had ruthlessly suppressed in her were the things he had hated and suppressed in her mother. Looking back at her own tragedy she wondered, striving to evoke the figure of the woman who was so close to her by every thwarted emotion. What had been her life?

In the whole house there were but three photographs of her, one in Aunt Abbie's room, one in the red plush album by the stone cupid in the parlor, and a faded enlargement over her bed. All were in profile. Had she deliberately wished to keep from her daughter the too revealing expression in her eyes? Her name was written in a few books, a faint tracing on the fly leaves, thin and yellowed. Many times Barbara had searched in the attic among the molding leather trunks for some reminder of her mother, and found nothing.

One day, in the bleak winter, the longing to evoke the figure that was so relentlessly denied her was so strong that she made a new forage into the attic, and at last in a trunk of souvenirs of her Aunt Mattie, found what she had been seeking. The photograph was of her mother seated and herself standing at her knee. She sat down amid the storehouse of trunks and heaped up furniture and studied it eagerly. For the first time she looked into her mother's face. They were strikingly alike, the same curious foreshortened oval, the deep eyes and the waving masses of dark hair. But there was no smile about the lips or in the eyes. She gazed on it breathlessly, with a feeling that a veil had been drawn for her. A gentle nature, broken and resigned, with a look in the eyes that might have been her own.

She went down to her aunt's bedroom, where the old lady, thinner and quieter than ever, was knitting, with her rocking chair against the heater.

"Look what I found," she said, producing the photograph.

Aunt Abbie adjusted her spectacles.

"Good heavens, child, where did you find that?"

She explained.

"It's such a sad face, Aunt Abbie. What was wrong?"

The old lady hemmed.

"Yes, there was something—but I don't remember now. It was such a long time ago."

"You do remember, Auntie, but you don't want to tell me. Isn't that it? She was unhappy with my father, wasn't she?"

"Was she? I can't remember. But then, my dear, I never inquired what was going on. She was very kind to us, you know; very kind."

She saw that she would learn nothing and drove down that afternoon to Miss Mintie's, whom she found behind her tea kettle in the dim Georgian parlor.

"I want you to tell me about my mother," she said directly, when the weather had been disposed of. "You knew her well, didn't you?"

"Of course I did. We went to school together, Farmington."

"What was she like? Was she terribly serious, always?"

"Hattie Pepoon? The idea? She was the greatest harum scarum bit of mischief you ever saw."

"Really?"

"Who ought to know?" said Miss Mintie tartly. "Serious? The idea! You're a serious person, my dear. Your mother was up to every prank in the school."

inherit Adare Manor in Limerick and Dunraven castle at Bridgend. He is a good friend of the prince of Wales.

Miss Yuille, who has spent considerable of her life in England, knows many of Lord Adare's friends and enjoys deep sea fishing, racing, shooting, and several of the other sports in which he excels. She made her debut several years ago in New York City and after that was to have been presented at the court of St. James', but withdrew her name from the list at the last moment.

Tonight Mr. and Mrs. Blair will give a supper dance for their sister and Lord Adare at the Seminole club in Palm Beach.

Cradle Musical and Cenacle Lecture Today.

There are always two series of events during the late winter that fall on Mondays. One of them is the Cradle tiffin musicals, the other the Lenten lectures of the Chapel Guild of the Cenacle. When a large audience of north shore matrons gathers at 11 o'clock this morning at the Cradle in Evanston, Jan Chiapusso, the internationally famous pianist, will give a lecture recital.

Mrs. Henry C. Murphy and Miss Gertrude McCarthy will be hostesses at the third Cenacle Guild lecture at 2:30 this afternoon at the Lake Shore Drive hotel. The Rev. Edwin V. Hoover, head of archdiocesan music in Chicago and director of the Cardinal's Cathedral choristers, will be the speaker. He will discuss "The Spirit of Lent in Music."

University Guild Hears Stark Today.

Art and life in the glamorous period of the steamboat will hold the interest of the members of the University Guild of Evanston when they meet for tea this afternoon at Harris hall at Northwestern university. Harold Stark, lecturer and authority on the first half of the 19th century in America, is to speak on "Steamboat Gothic."

Mr. Stark, who has traveled from coast to coast photographing the Gothic mansions and Italian villas that have survived the steamboat days, will illustrate his talk with old prints and pictures of the houses and boats of the river days. Mr. Stark was formerly with the Metropolitan museum in New York City. He is the author of a book on famous American and European artists and is now collecting material for a book on the period of the steamboat.

Mrs. Paul Troup and Mrs. Robert Elliott, the guild president, will be hostesses at the tea. Presiding at the tea and coffee urns will be Mrs. Robert E. Wilson, Mrs. Edson B. Fowler, and Mrs. George F. Koester.

Kenwood Mannequins Attend Tea Today.

By 3 o'clock this afternoon the committee chairmen and mannequins for the Kenwood Social Service club's fashion show to be held Saturday afternoon at the Drake hotel will be gathered in the living room of Mrs. Philip A. Copenhaver's home on Kimbark avenue to make certain that the last minute details of the show are in perfect order. Mrs. E. M. Van Winkle will assist Mrs. Copenhaver as hostess at the tea party this afternoon.

The P. E. N. club is giving a dinner tonight at the Casino for Miss Clemence Dane, visiting novelist. Arthur Meeker Jr. is secretary of the club.

WHY HAVE GRAY HAIR OR DANDRUFF?

Marvelous, Positively Safe Liquid, Works Like Magic!

You, too, can have gloriously beautiful hair, free from GRAY and DANDRUFF.

Don't lose your job or social position, due to these handicaps. Try the truly wonderful DOUBLE-ACTING Liquid-Nourishine for Gray Hair and Dandruff.

Nourishine is applied like a tonic—so easy to use. You get SAFE and POSITIVE results. Your hair will become soft, lustrous, with a natural appearing color that defies detection. Nourishine is absolutely non-injurious to hair or scalp—is positively beneficial.

"Nourishine's tonic-like qualities make it the BEST hair preparation," every user enthusiastically says this about Nourishine.

No matter what you have tried for gray hair or dandruff, forget past disappointments and try this absolutely different liquid. It is not greasy—does not rub off nor stain pillow or linen. The one liquid that imparts any color. You can easily prove it best for gray hair and dandruff. Try Nourishine now!

For better results use NOURISHINE SHAMPOO. Contains no acids that hinder the action of Nourishine.

Write for our free booklet, "Home Care of the Hair." Contains helpful hints on the home care of permanents, marcels, oily and dry scalp, describes coloring methods, etc.

Nourishine, $1.25; shampoo, 50c, at drug and department stores or by mail from NOURISHINE COMPANY, 539 S. Broadway, Los Angeles.

NOURISHINE BEST FOR GRAY HAIR

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, March 3.—[Special.]—Mrs. John H. Wright and Miss Rosalie Wright have left the Ambassador for Aiken, S. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Petersen will give a dinner Saturday at the Carlyle.

Mrs. Henry C. Abell has returned to 565 Park avenue from the south.

Mrs. Fletcher Webster Jewell, after passing the winter here, sailed on the Champlain for her home in Paris.

Friday on the liner Santa Elena. They will visit Havana, Colombia, Panama, El Salvador, Guatemala, Mexico, California, British Columbia, and Washington.

Miss Suzanne Morris, the gay, delightful daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Chester Morris, is expecting Miss Betty Alexander to visit her for a week soon. Miss Anderson's arrival next Thursday will be the signal for some parties. She is returning to Florida after her short visit.

Lake Forest Academy Sends Bids for Fete.

Invitations were in the week-end mail for the annual midwinter festivities next week-end at Lake Forest academy. They will be the primary interest of many of the popular subdebs in town and on the north shore. Last Monday we told you that "Ellsworth of the Zouaves," the civil war play by Louis E. Laflin Jr., is to be one of the high lights of the week-end and now added to this are several more interesting events.

The academy's musical clubs are to present a concert at 7:15 Friday evening in the school chapel. After this there will be an informal dance in the school gymnasium. Then on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock there will be a hotly contested basketball game in the gymnasium. The festivities will reach their climax in a formal party Saturday night, also in the gymnasium.

Mr. Laflin's play is to have its premiere at 2:15 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Deerpath theater. And to judge by the hours the cast has been putting into rehearsal the last week—every afternoon and evening—it will have all the earmarks of a finished production. Mr. Laflin has assumed the responsibility of the direction, with Edward Arpee of the academy staf as his assistant.

The Charles E. Browns have gone to Hot Springs for a rest. Before returning to Chicago they may go down to Florida for a week or two.

Extremely Shy Boy Is Usually Maladjusted

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Last Saturday we promised an article for today to follow up the one whose subject was, "If Your Boy Is the Gentle Type Don't Try to Force Him to Be Rough and Ready." And the point was, you may remember, that some boys are not naturally aggressive and are not ever going to be fighters or athletes so parents should learn to accept them as they are.

But the point was also made that every boy should be given full opportunity in the way of companionship and outdoor life and play and sports. For we want to be sure that our gentle, thoughtful boy—or girl, either—is just that and is not timid or too shy or crawling into his shell through fearfulness or inability to mix with other children.

The gentle or quiet or thoughtful boy who is quite normal socially, but just doesn't care for rough and tumble will show it by being happy and having friends. We do not need to worry about him.

It is the one who is on the outside looking longingly in—the one who can't get along with other boys—that a mother needs to concern herself with.

There may be a number of causes for this. First, there may be a physical origin—such as a frail physique. Or nearsightedness, which, uncorrected, prevents a lad from playing games well.

Next, a boy may have been with other children so little that he hasn't learned how to play.

In school he may be much younger than his classmates or much older so that he feels himself a misfit.

He may have been so sheltered that he is overcautious. Or he may have been brought up by grownups who are fearful of everything so that he has no sense of adventurousness and is even fearful of ordinary experiences.

He may be so domineered over or suppressed at home that he is robbed of all initiative and confidence in himself.

Some boys, of course, can throw off such influences and meet the world easily. But if your son doesn't seem to be taking a fairly normal place in the world of boys, look for these or other causes and correct them.

Doris Blake Answers

"Dear Miss Blake: I thought I fell in love with a girl and now that she loves me, I find I no longer care for her. What shall I do? BILL L."

A fickle youth, aren't you, Bill? O, well, it happens that way when you're young and unsettled. Tell the girl the truth.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a boy three years younger than myself. He tells me he loves me, but after a few drinks gets extremely sarcastic and hurts me. Can this chap really love me? HONEY."

He wouldn't say or do anything to hurt you if he really cared. Honey.

Matrix to Hear Mary Bailey.

Miss Mary D. Bailey, assistant United States attorney in the narcotic division, will discuss the Tugwell-Copeland bill at a meeting of the Matrix club this evening in its Mather tower clubrooms.

Child Study Group to Hear Variety of Views on Family

The sociologist, the economist, the physician, the psychiatrist, the psychoanalyst, and the educator will take a look at the American family next Saturday at an all day meeting of the Chicago Association of Child Study and Parent Education in the Palmer house.

Dr. P. J. Lichtenberger, University of Pennsylvania, will be the sociologist; Prof. Paul Douglas of the University of Chicago, the economist; Dean Thomas E. Benner of the University of Illinois, the educator; Dr. Douglas G. Campbell, University of Chicago, the psychiatrist; and Dr. Karen Horney, Institute for Psychoanalysis, the psychoanalyst. A round table discussion will be held on the physician's view.

BY MARY MEADE.

Even people who brag about their French will tell you that "au gratin" means "with cheese." But it's not so. For au gratin means dressed with browned crums and if you don't believe it borrow a dictionary and look it up. Cheese just isn't in the picture.

Although it couldn't get its name in the title cheese does come sprinkling its way into most au gratin dishes, which probably started the tale.

But our business today is with crums and I've been wondering whether you've become acquainted with all the possibilities. Bread and toast frequently dry out in the best of households, so slide them in the oven for a complete drying, then run them, in a hurry, through a food chopper and house the crums in a closed container ready for service. White, whole wheat, and rye bread crums, or those from any of your special breads, are in order. Corn bread crums are delicious on a scalloped apple and ham dish. Crumbled rusks or crackers are likewise au gratin toppers and usually they're the handiest of all because they need no drying and their rolling is the job of a minute. The speediest way, of course, is to tuck them into a paper sack, twist its nose, and then roll lightly with a rolling pin. There are even boxed crums ready for use available at stores for a very pleasing price.

So here are some au gratin dishes which should do credit to anybody's French:

BANANAS AU GRATIN.
6 bananas
2 lemons, juiced
1 dozen cheese crackers
2 tablespoons butter

Peel and cut the bananas in halves lengthwise. Dip them in the lemon juice and roll in the finely crumbled cheese crackers. Place in a buttered baking dish, dot with butter, and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 12 minutes or until tender.

And just because the business of smothering the steak with mushrooms isn't so new any more try a handsome rival for honors:

(To Glorify Broiled Steak.)
2 pounds fresh mushrooms
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon chopped onion or chives
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
¼ cup bacon fat
8 soda crackers, rolled
1-3 cup cream

Clean the mushrooms, mincing the stems. Place the caps in a greased baking dish and combine the minced stems with the onion, parsley, and cracker crums. Spread this mixture over the top of the mushrooms in the pan, dot with butter or bacon fat, and pour the cream over all. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for half an hour.

But the chances are really great that you've never yet gratined a dish with ginger snap crums, so let's use this as a finale. It gives you an excellent answer for the luncheon dish problem during Lent.

SWEET POTATO AND BANANA SCALLOP.
6 medium sweet potatoes
3 bananas
16 ginger snaps
1 cup boiling water
Butter

Cook, peel, and slice the potatoes about one-quarter inch thick. Peel and slice the bananas. Crumble the ginger snaps finely. Butter a casserole and in it put down alternate layers of potatoes, bananas, and crums, dotting them with butter. Pour over this the boiling water and bake in a hot oven (475 degrees F.) for half an hour with the cover on. Then uncover and let brown.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

Mr. Sims is universally acclaimed the greatest living contract and auction player. He was captain of the renowned "Four Horsemen" team of four, now disbanded, and has won twenty-four national championships since 1924. These articles are based on the Sims system, which includes the one-over-one principle which the Sims group of players was the first to employ and develop.

RESPONSES OTHER THAN THE ONE-OVER-ONE.

MANY hands with which a response to partner's opening bid is obviously required are precluded from the one-over-one because they do not have a bidable suit of higher rank than the opening bid. It is then necessary either to bid a lower ranking out in no suit, or to take trumps, or to raise in partner's suit, according to the nature of one's holdings.

Weakness Takeout in Lower Ranking Suit.

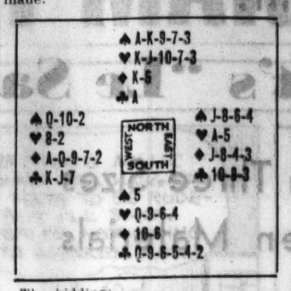
A takeout in another suit may be advisable from extreme weakness in the hand because it is a misfit for partner's suit, and the length of your weak takeout suit seems to offer great safety for a low contract, even though that contract be for two odd, as an alternative to a pass. In other words, you are so weak in primary values that you would pass but for the consideration that your uneven distribution compensates for your weakness in face cards, and impels you to seek safety in bidding rather than passing.

If your partner opens with one heart and you hold a singleton or worthless doubleton in hearts together with six clubs to the queen, but without any other face card in the hand, look for a safer refuge by bidding two clubs. Since you would also bid two clubs on five clubs to the A Q J with an outside primary trick, but lacking normal support for hearts, it is evident that at this point your partner is completely in the dark regarding the nature of your takeout. He is faced with a guess whether your bid was based on distribution without primary strength or on a hand with which you would have opened the bidding had he passed.

Clarifying the Situation.

The fog will not hover for long. Your next bid, in conjunction with whatever response he has made to your takeout, will clarify the situation for him. He may then be able to take further action which will reveal your apparently pitiful misfit hand as the modest key to a game contract.

Here is an example where the bidding was kept open on two queens and ultimately a game was bid and made:



The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 Sp [1]	Pass	2 Cl [2]	2 Di [3]
2 Ht [4]	Pass	3 Ht [5]	Pass
3 N T [6]	Pass	4 Ht [7]	Pass

1. An aggressive type of hand that is far more than a minimum.
2. A distributional takeout without any part of a primary trick.
3. This side is not vulnerable, therefore the bid is sound.
4. North is released from any obligation to bid, even over a response force by West's overcall. His bid assumes a very optimistic aspect although not forcing. It certainly shows a two suiter.
5. The four hearts to the queen become a very important offensive factor and if his partner is short of diamonds game is apparent.
6. Showing a diamond stop and a high club. Of course, North has no idea of the extreme weakness in his partner's hand and rightly assumes at this time the possibility of a slam in the hands.
7. South's response is "signing off." In effect he is telling his partner that his raise was made on distribution and four hearts. The play does not call for any detail as the hand is foolproof. No play could avoid losing the two aces.

Versatile Blouse and Skirt May Be Combined in Lovely Two Piece Dress

WOMAN'S AND MISS' BLOUSE AND SKIRT.

The original skirt and blouse, as sketched, were made of a yellow silk crêpe for the blouse, and the skirt of a tweed woolen in yellow, blue, and orange. The weave was a loose one. Another scheme is to carry it out as a complete two piece dress.

The pattern, No. 2594, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measure.

THE IDEAL LAXATIVE FOR YOUNG AND OLD

Lying to One's Future Mate Is Mean, Cheap

Dishonesty Leads to Scant Happiness.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

What is the use of lying to the man you hope to have marry you?

What is the use of lying, anyway? You can't start married life with a lot of fabrications to live with, and expect to get any peace out of the adventure. You have to keep on lying and lying and, before you know it, you're so enmeshed in fabrications that the job of keeping up with your stories overshadows all chance of happiness. Besides, it is a vicious habit in itself, telling lies, when the truth would serve far better.

It is incredible that, with her own pen, a woman will confess planning to marry without a divorce from a husband, expecting to get away with it with number two. Even though the first man may have disappeared from the horizon for years, there is no assurance that he will not return one day to confront the woman in her new home. But it is the rank dishonesty of the thing that is appalling. No good could be expected to come from pretending you were a single woman when you're not. Besides it is a serious legal offense, and certainly nothing to be cast aside with a lie. Heaven only knows divorcing is not so hard a job these days if one wants a divorce.

Then, again, we have in this morning's mail a letter from a man whose fiancée told him that she was sixteen when she married the first time, that she was already divorced from this man. The man finds out that the girl was not sixteen when she married, and that she did not get her divorce until after he asked her to marry him. Her story of cruel treatment from number one is now doubted. Her every word is doubted. And, while the man says the girl has a terrific attraction for him, her lying has put the fear of marriage in his soul. His question is whether she could sue him for breach of promise indicating that he definitly is looking for a way out.

A case presented, not long ago, was that of a young woman, who was estranged from her parents. The advisability of leading her fiancé on to believe that she was an orphan was tormenting her. As if one could possibly get away with a yarn like that under any circumstances. There's always some one to be counted on to bob up and refute the story. But, aside from the consequences of lying, there is the indisputable wrong of it. You can't possibly incorporate lying into the foundation stones of a domestic ménage and expect even a brief run of happiness from it.

Satin Wrap from Paris Fashioned Like a Surplice

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Last season Marcel Rochas had a fanciful idea to make an evening wrap cut after the surplice worn by choir boys and this spring he uses the same idea to make satin wraps for wool frocks that are intended for street wear.

Just what these look like you can see by consulting the sketch. Charming wrap, methinks, for warm days and one that can be worn over a variety of frocks.

This model is made of black satin with a drooping shoulder yoke that drapes into ties at the front and to the lower edge of which both the plaited sleeves and the plaited body are attached. One smart point of this unusual wrap is the complete failure of the two sides of the front to meet. A wide gap is left so that any one can get a good view of the accompanying frock. Most Paris dresses are given a showing by the spring wrap.

The dress in this case is made of black mossy wool in semi-sheer weight. It is a straight line model that buttons down the front from the round neck almost to the knees on polished black gallilith buttons. The belt is of black patent leather.

Felbers Give Joint Recital in Series of String Quartet

Ordinarily the Chicago String quartet gives chamber music concerts at the Chicago Woman's club theater on the first Sunday of the month, but occasionally, as on yesterday afternoon, there is a variant from the normal procedure. This time it become a joint recital by Estelle Hughes Felber, soprano, and Herman Felber Jr., the director and first violin of the quartet.

Mrs. Felber is a singer of much charm with a knowledge of the art of singing which takes her into such diverse channels as Handel and Mozart arias, Schubert lieder, and such operatic excerpts as the Mad Scene from "Lucia di Lammermoor," not to mention songs of many varieties. She has voice, technic, and musical ability for them all, and her appearance yesterday was the same artistic and pupular success that had been expected from the memory of her former performances.

Mr. Felber is a brilliant concert artist, as fine in the solo field as when he is at the head of an ensemble group. Bruch's Concerto in D minor, of late years somewhat slighted by concert artists, was, as Mr. Felber played it, a warm, living rendition of one of the most striking compositions in the répertoire. This was followed a bit later by a group of shorter but equally effective numbers, in which his success as a notable interpreter was equally marked. E. M.

Anton Lang Jr., Son of Passion Player, to Lecture in City

Anton Lang Jr., son of the famous Christus of the Oberammergau Passion Play, is to lecture under the auspices of the Church Club of Chicago Saturday afternoon, March 24, in the gold ballroom of the Drake hotel. Mr. Lang, who is touring this country, is looked upon as the probable successor to his father in the leading rôle of the passion play, which is having its 300th aniversary presentation this summer. John D. Allen is president of the Church club, and Col. Robert G. Peck is vice president. Among the directors are George A. Ranney, Edward L. Ryerson, Angus Hibbard and Ernest S. Ballard.

Chinese Silk Embroideries Added to Museum Exhibit

Silk altar embroideries dating back to 1836-'95 have been added to the Chinese exhibits at the Field Museum of Natural History, it was announced yesterday. Some of the symbolical designs show peaches of paradise, believed to confer immortality on any one who ate them, and bats, indicating the blessings of old age, wealth, health, virtue, and natural death.

HOW DULL, LIFELESS HAIR GAINS NEW LIFE AND LUSTRE
—without the use of dyes, bleaches, henna or oils

Now an utterly new and original make-up for the hair that restores youthful beauty

It is called Geral—and the improvement it makes in the appearance of the hair is almost unbelievable. Hair that was dull, soon gleams with beautiful highlights and lustre. Hair that appeared lifeless takes on a vigorous, healthy look. Hair that was "straw like" in texture becomes soft and fluffy. Do you wonder then that women by the thousands are daily flocking to this original make-up for the hair?

Utterly New and Different

Geral is utterly different from anything you have ever used on your hair. It is not a dye, bleach or henna—nor does it contain oil. Applied in a moment, it actually beautifies the hair as rouge, powder and lipstick beautify the face. Geral makes Blonde hair more blonde. Gives Red hair a redder glow. Enriches the color and sheen of Brown and Brunette hair. And causes White or Gray hair to lose that ugly yellowish cast. Geral imparts NOT an artificial look but the natural life, sheen and softness of youthful girlhood. Obtain Geral at all good toilet counters or drug stores.

Young Lady's GroomingNeed Not Be Costly

Cleanliness and Neatness Are Essentials.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

When a young woman of eighteen inquires how, on a salary of twenty-five dollars a week, she can keep herself looking attractive, aren't you inclined to wonder, with me, what's wrong with the girl?

I could produce a young woman of twenty who has no job at all, at the present, but who manages to step out looking the smartest, cleanest, most attractive miss you ever saw. She is one of these blonde young ladies who knows her act to be extreme neatness and cleanliness of person and dress. She has a flair for wearing clothes, it's true, but her infinite charm is that scrubbed, and tubbed, and meticulously clean look of which we speak. How does she do it? For one thing, she never turns in nights—and, believe it, her day is sometimes discouraging enough—without washing out every item of her belongings that is washable, stockings, gloves, undies, hanky, and powder puff. She is one of the few girls we know who will not use a powder puff a second day. She has two for alternate use. Her shoes are rubbed off and cleaned up when necessary. These are her dress contributions to her nice appearance. She creams her face nightly and looks her nails over. If they need fixing, they're attended to.

Necessity has forced her to learn to do a good many things for herself, such as setting her hair and keeping it beautifully groomed and giving herself a weekly manicure. The girl dresses on comparatively little. Being young and not heavy, she has picked up rare bargains. The point is that when you are young, and have that well groomed and clean [I don't like the word, but it has no good synonym] look, you've got about all you need. It's the older women who have to worry about facials and more expensive materials. You young ones "make" your clothes look like a million with your enviable youth charms.

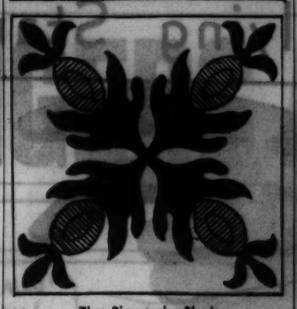
And, I repeat, outside of your little bit of rouge, your lipstick, powder, and cleansing cream, you haven't cosmetic expense worries. You don't need astringents, nor tissue creams, nor any of the corrective lotions the older woman needs. As prices are today, for good products, including good soap, your cosmetic outlay need not be a great drain on the budget allowance for appearance upkeep, after bed, and board, and food, and weekly savings have been attended to out of twenty-five per week.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., March 4.—[Special.]—The end of President Roosevelt's first year in the White House was celebrated by a dinner party given tonight by the members of the cabinet and their wives in honor of the chief executive and Mrs. Roosevelt at the Mayflower. The company included the Vice President and Mrs. Garner, the speaker of the house and Mrs. Rainey, the secretary of state and Mrs. Cordell Hull, the secretary of the treasury and Mrs. Henry Morgenthau Jr., the secretary of war and Mrs. Dern, the attorney general and Mrs. Cummings, the postmaster general and Mrs. Farley, the secretary of the navy and Mrs. Swanson, the secretary of the interior and Mrs. Ickes, the secretary of agriculture and Mrs. Wallace, the secretary of commerce and Mrs. Roper, Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, the director of the budget and Mrs. Lewis W. Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic A. Delano, uncle and aunt of the President, and Mrs. Curtis Dall, daughter of the President. The reception which preceded the dinner was held in the Pan-American room and the dinner followed in the Chinese room.

Mrs. Cordell Hull, wife the secretary of state, was the guest of honor at tea yesterday afternoon of the Woman's National Democratic club in its clubhouse on New Hampshire avenue. Mrs. Charles S. Hamlin, just reëlected president of the club, made the presentations.

Pineapple Motif for Quilts Done in Simple Design



The Pineapple Block.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Here is another of the many pineapple patterns known to the quilt world. Although this block is larger and more elaborate than the one shown previously in this department, it requires fewar blocks for the completed spread. Yellow and green, brown and green, and soft red and green are popular color schemes for this particular pineapple block. The serpentine or ocean wave quilting design is especially suitable for the completion of the coverlet.

For a pattern of this quilt design, send 5 cents in stamps or coin to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service offices, One South Dearborn street, and Tribune Tower.

Write New Version of 'Merry Widow' for Chevalier Film

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

Hollywood, March 4.—[Special.]—Not only is Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer having "The Merry Widow" rewritten to frame the tuneful old favorite for the personality of Maurice Chevalier, but the moot question has developed of what kind of uniforms to have him wear as Prince Danilo. When you see it on the screen there won't be much of the same stuff left to provide you with comparisons between Chevalier and the silent portrayal given by Jack Gilbert or the old and new film versions by Mae Murray and Jeanette MacDonald. The studio explains the rewriting of the story as "changes of characterization in order to be more forceful, dramatic, and human with Chevalier than the conventional comic opera rôle." The studio also says "the exact locale of the story will not be shown." Admirers of the old will be glad to hear they won't change Franz Lehar's music.

Royalists in Rasputin Film Fictitious, Says Lionel Barrymore

Columbus, O., March 4.—(AP)—To the man who played the "Mad Monk" Rasputin on the screen, the libel suit being heard in London against the picture's producers is "like the second baseman who saw a picture in which a second baseman dropped the ball and lost the game."

The ball player concluded, said Lionel Barrymore, portrayer of the title rôle in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Rasputin and the Empress," "that he was the second baseman in the picture and so went out and filed a damage suit."

In his dressing room at a theater here where he is making a personal appearance Barrymore explained that he knew little about the case except what he read in the newspapers.

"But," he said with a wave of his hands, "it seems to me that members of the Russian royalty, who were made heroes and martyrs in the picture, have become offended at the portrayal of wrong against them for which they were in no way responsible."

He explained that as far as he knew, the royalist characters in the picture were entirely fictitious—that they were invented to provide a build-up for the dastardly escapades of the "mad monk."

Scientific Way Cleans Dull, Stained Teeth Faster And Better... Makes Teeth Whiter... Try It

NOW don't let dingy, yellowish, ugly-looking teeth stand in the way of happiness. If you are one of those who have tried perhaps a dozen different ways to make your teeth attractive, we urge you to try Kolynos—the dental cream that acts differently from any preparation you have ever used.

You use Kolynos just as you would any ordinary toothpaste—with these two exceptions... use only half as much and put it on a dry brush. Don't wet your brush. You'll see results almost at once. Teeth will gain a new sparkle, new lustre, new whiteness.

This scientific dental cream cleans and whitens teeth so much better and faster because it contains certain properties not found in ordinary toothpaste. It contains the finest cleansing and whitening agents known to science PLUS an important ingredient—an antiseptic that dental authorities say should be added to remove the "bacteria plaque" which makes teeth look so dingy and dull.

HAWKS BEAT MAROONS, 4-2; TIE RANGERS AGAIN

BABE HERMAN SIGNS, BUT ROOT IS CUB HOLDOUT

Report $15,000 as Offer to Pitcher.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., March 4—The Cubs, seeking physical perfection which they'll need for the tough summer ahead, slipped into their Catalina Island camp this noon under cover of one of California's justly famous high fogs. The unusual weather, however, worked no hardship on the athletes, who expect to go to work tomorrow on a ten day siege of intensive drilling.

Not many hours after the Cubs had passed through Los Angeles, the holdout ranks were deserted by Babe Herman, who expects to be Charley Grimm's regular right fielder this summer. Charley Root, the veteran pitcher, refused to retreat from his stand that the club had taken too much of a slice from his salary of the two previous seasons.

$12,000 for Babe?

Both players conferred with William Walker, Cub president, at Los Angeles. The Babe was easily satisfied and promised to arrive in camp tomorrow. His pay last season was in the neighborhood of $18,000, and if he was able to settle for $12,000 today, he was lucky.

Root, under his previous contract was paid $22,500 for two consecutive seasons. Under the new scale adopted by the club Root undoubtedly was offered about $15,000, and now is thought to be demanding $18,000. Walker refused to consider whatever it was Root asked for. The club president said this afternoon that the next move would be up to Root.

No Sign of Billy Herman.

A third holdout, Infielder Billy Herman, was expected to show up at the Los Angeles salary conference, but nothing was heard from him. The presumption is that he is determined to stay away either until a better bid is submitted or until the California visit is about concluded. Young Bill dreads the possibilities of another earthquake such as jarred him last spring.

Only one of the party making the journey from Chicago was missing when the steamer tied up at the dock on the main stem. Woody English, the veteran third baseman, had to remain in Los Angeles this morning. He picked up a cinder in his left eye during the train ride westward and the ailment refused to yield to the emergency treatment of Doc Andy Lotshaw, the eminent trainer. Los Angeles specialists will conduct an expedition in quest of the annoying particle. Woody hopes to reach camp tomorrow noon.

Trunks Go Astray.

The final phases of the journey were not accomplished without some slight difficulties, which caused Bob Lewis, the rotund traveling secretary, no end of annoyance. At some place along the line during the night the railroad erred by side tracking the sealed baggage car which was carrying all the personal trunks of the Cubs. This omission caused no inconvenience except for Lewis, who wished to change over from his now famous coat built on the line of a hunting jacket with accommodations for twenty birds at any season. The trunks arrived this evening by special barge from the mainland.

Another slight upset was caused by a wayward cow. The boys make the jump from the Los Angeles station to the boat dock at Wilmington by special bus. Because of the low visibility this morning one of the two buses chartered for the occasion met up with a cow which had a preference for the paved highway. The cow wouldn't move and the bus couldn't stop, so there was a crash and one bus headlight went to Valhalla. The cow, however, was not impressed. She strolled into the green pastures along the road and began to eat.

Hartnett Only Fat Man.

The start of work tomorrow was preceded this afternoon by the sorting of paraphernalia at the team's club house on the waters edge. Mr. Lotshaw insisted all hands were outfitted with garments neither too large nor too small. Some may prove to be too large, however, owing to the absence of the usual number of fat men. Gabby Hartnett seems to be the only one eligible for the annual course, but the veteran has been that way every spring, so the symptoms are not alarming.

ERNIE TRIPLETT, TWO OTHERS DIE IN RACING CRASH

Imperial, Cal., March 4.—(AP)—Ernie Triplett, among the most famous of the nation's racing drivers, died here tonight as the result of injuries received in a pileup of racing cars at the Imperial county fair today.

The pileup, which came in a 50 mile automobile race, also caused the death of a driver and a mechanic.

George [Swede] Smith, 35, died in a Brawley hospital of internal injuries several hours after the accident. Hap Hafferly, mechanic, died in a hospital in El Centro. Triplett received a skull fracture.

A car driven by Mimmie Wilkinson blew a tire and turned over, pinning him beneath it. Hafferly ran across the track to free him and was struck by Triplett, who turned his car over in an effort to avoid hitting the mechanic. Triplett's machine hurtled into one driven by Al Gordon, which turned over also.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Montreal Maroons and the Blackhawks, who are in danger of meeting up with each other in the imminent Stanley Cup play-offs, engaged in a hocky match before 10,000 at the Chicago Stadium last night and the result augured well for Chicago in the title play, seeing as how the Hawks won, 4 to 2.

Father Mike Rodden, the patriarch of the National Hocky league, and a Mr. McCurry, who may be called the unknown referee because he is the only official in the organization without a number, had a busy evening trying to solve the checking and jostling which went on, but finally settled for seven penalties, two of them majors. The latter were given to Wallie Kilrea and Louie Trudel for a rassling bout which they put on near the end of the second period.

Back in Tie.

The Hawks' victory was highly remunerative, since it moved them back into a second place tie with the New York Rangers in the American division of the league. The Maroons, on the other hand, continued to linger only a half game ahead of their home town foes, the Canadiens, in second place in the Canadian section.

The Hawks thus are certain of meeting at least one Montreal team in the play-offs, since it seems unlikely that they will run into the Detroit Red Wings, now in first place, who come to the Stadium Thursday night.

Johnny Gottselig scored the first Hawk goal with only 24 seconds of the first period, which was quite rugged, remaining. Paul Thompson then collaborated with Doc Romnes and Mush March on the second in the first minute of the second period. Hooley Smith contributed the first Maroon goal.

Youngsters Get Together.

The children's minute then came on for the Hawks, Leroy Goldsworthy, Trudel, and Jack Leswick, the youngsters of the Hawks, getting together in the middle of the second period, with Leroy scoring his first Chicago goal with the assistance of Louie and Jack.

Baldy Northcott accounted for the second Montreal goal at the opening of the third period, but Thompson, March, and Romnes came back and contributed the Hawks' fourth goal, with Paul getting the shot.

TENNES WINS IN FLORIDA MOTOR BOAT RACING

New Smyrna, Fla., March 4.—(AP)—America and France divided honors in the second and third of a series of international motor boat races here today. Thirty thousand spectators saw the speedy little class X boats speed around the course for the ten mile events.

Horace Tennes, 21 years old, Northwestern university engineering student from Chicago, again placed his Miss Hootnanny VI. in front to score a smashing victory over Jean Dupuy in the second race here. Dupuy came back to win the third event, after Tennes' craft developed motor trouble while leading into the final lap. Tennes won the first race between the best drivers from six countries yesterday.

Tennes hit the starting line with the gun and stayed in front in the event he won today. He averaged 52.50 miles per hour. Dupuy averaged 52.386 to win second place.

Walter Everett won the three heats of the Sir Thomas Lipton trophy race today. He averaged 52.32 miles per hour for the first heat, and won the others handily.

Tennes, also entered in the class P event, placed second, and Cal Meloon, Pinecastle, Fla., was third.

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

TWO members of Purdue's Big Ten championship basketball team were included in the university's distinguished student list released a few days ago. . . . They are John Eddy, forward, and William Fehring, center. . . . Carleton college of Northfield, Minn., has won 62 straight basketball games on its home floor. . . . its Midwest conference run of 46 in a row on all courts was stopped by Coe last week, but Carleton evened up in the return engagement at Northfield. . . .

WILLIAM FEHRING.

Bronko Nagurski was a grieved young man when he rolled into Minneapolis after his coast trip with the Bears. . . . While in California he had his pockets picked. . . . He wasn't so sore about losing $15, but the thief took all the cards he had collected for various gridiron honors. . . .

For no reason at all Dykes, Haas and Simmons of the White Sox have started calling one another by their middle names. . . . It's Algy Dykes, Willie Haas, and Harry Simmons. . . . Clark Shaughnessy, football coach at the University of Chicago, almost cost the Maroons a conference championship in 1913. . . . In the closing moments of the Chicago-Minnesota game that fall, with the Chicago eleven leading, 13 to 7, Shaughnessy, playing full back for the Gophers, broke away for a long run. . . . He was brought down by the last Chicago man in his path, Nelson Norgren, now one of Shaughnessy's assistants on the Midway. . . .

The University of California at Los Angeles permits athletes to earn money by granting them the concession of operating an automobile parking stand adjacent to the university buildings. . . . Other students pay 50 cents a month to park there. . . . The athletes net a tidy sum, for usually about 3,000 cars are parked daily. . . . Nelson Droulard, Michigan pole vaulter, took 20 hours of work in school last semester, one-third more than the average course, and earned all A grades. . . . Bill Boice, back stroker on the Wolverine swimming team, who elected 17 hours, also scored a perfect rating. . . . When De Paul university defeated Western State Normal at Kalamazoo last week it was the first trimming the Teachers had taken on their own court since 1929, when Valparaiso scored a 31 to 28 victory. . . . Max Hayford, Northwestern university ticket manager, is commodore of the Sheridan Shore Yacht club in Wilmette, and holds several Lake Michigan sailing championships. . . . Jerry Jordan, assistant baseball coach at Illinois and also assistant to Athletic Director George Huff, enlisted in the navy in the world war when he was 17 and served 17 months as a gob. . . . Maj. DAY OF REST? NOT FOR SOX—19 ASK CHANCE TO WORK

So Vacation Turns Into a Regular Practice.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., March 4.—There seems no end to this mysterious training enthusiasm the White Sox are manifesting this year. Take today, for instance: Manager Fonseca had called it a day of rest; several pitchers wanted to work out when the mercury mounted to the eighties; more and more athletes got the urge, and the windup was a regulation drill for 19 performers who had asked to work on their day off.

The records are not complete in such matters, but today's wilful demonstration is thought to be a world mark. An odd thing about the pepped up scene is that it is not attended by any pennant talk. The lads do not appear to be kidding themselves about anything. They simply are going about their labors with increased earnestness.

Maybe They Like Contracts.

Gratitude is a word that does not figure largely in the baseball vocabulary, but it may be that the White Sox players, who formed a rather mediocre sixth place team in 1933, have concluded they have been pretty well taken care of in their contracts, as they read of the troubles experienced by men who played on the winning teams of the American league.

Nomadic Luke Appling continues to roam and it is hoped that he eventually will come this way. Sox officials feel confident that if he happens to be looking out the window and sees "Pasadena" on the station he will scamper off the train, seek out Owner Comiskey's bungalow, and sign.

Tonight a Pasadena telegraph operator told Owner Comiskey he had been on a wire with an Atlanta operator and had been advised that a man resembling Appling had been seen getting on a westbound train. So, you see, it's getting to be a man hunt of considerable proportions.

C'mon, Luke, Get a Pen!

The Sox officials haven't started to really worry about Luke's safety or their failure to hear from him. If it turns out that he is balking, however, there will be plenty of action. Shortstops who can hit .322 aren't to be picked up every day. While Luke's fielding last year left something to be desired, he has shown steady improvement and observers are expecting him to have a great season.

Routine practices are scheduled for tomorrow and the two succeeding days. By that time the athletes should be able to stage a few red hot intra-club games.

ROSS BATTLES KLICK TONIGHT IN TEN ROUNDS

San Francisco, Cal., March 4.—(AP)—Barney Ross, lightweight champion, and Frankie Klick, holder of the synthetic junior lightweight title, will meet here tomorrow night in a ten round bout. The bout is expected to draw 10,000 fans to the civic auditorium.

Ross also is recognized as junior welterweight champion in Illinois and California and this title will be at stake. Klick has had to increase his weight for this bout in order to come in over the 135 pound lightweight limit. He is normally a featherweight. There will be only a pound or so difference between the pair as Ross is expected to weigh around 137 pounds.

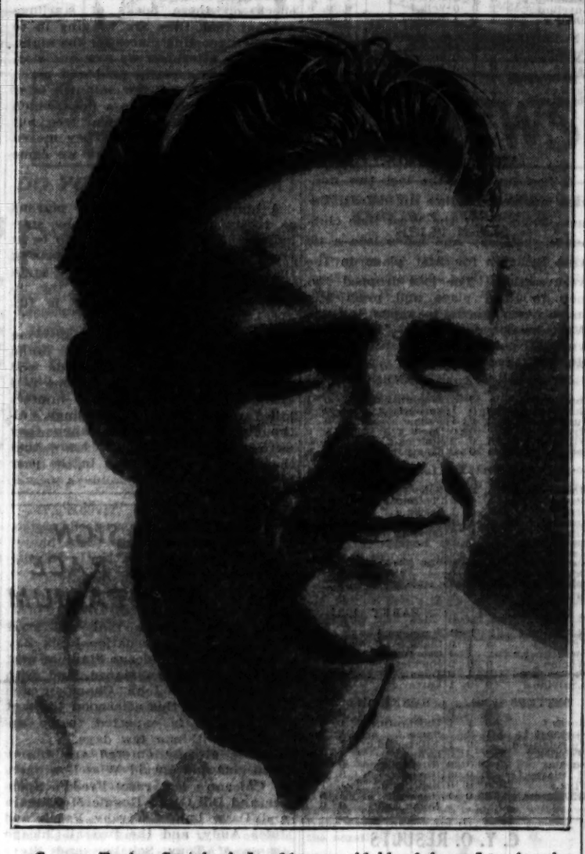
Ross will go into the ring a 2½ to 1 favorite. He is a decidedly better boxer than Klick, although the latter has improved considerably since his last appearance here more than a year ago.

As a basis of comparison each has fought Tony Canzoneri. Ross won his two titles from Tony and beat him in a return match. Klick lost a fairly close decision to Canzoneri.

Orrego Sets Chilean Dirt Highway Record

SANTIAGO, Chile, March 4.—(AP)—Carlos Orrego, driving a Ford, set a new Chilean record of 160 kilometers an hour over a dirt highway course between the towns of Malloco and Penaflor today. Santiago Lazo, in a Studebaker, was second, and Pedro Pavone, in an Auburn, third.

$75,000 CUB BEAUTY



George Tucker Stainback Jr., 21 year old blond from Los Angeles, who is expected to play a lot of baseball for the Cubs this season. The late William Veeck insured Stainback for $75,000 when he purchased him two years ago. [Acme Photo.]

Stainback Is Cubs' Latest Outfield Find

[This is the first of a series of articles on rookies in spring training with the Cubs and the White Sox.]

Chicago's north side, for years the stamping ground of outfield idols, is promised another sensation when the Cubs return to Wrigley field on April 7 to meet the Washington Senators, American league champions, in a spring exhibition series.

He is George Tucker Stainback Jr., familiarly known throughout the Pacific Coast league as Tuck.

Cubs outfield candidates include Chuck Klein, Kiki Cuyler, Riggs Stephenson, Babe Herman and Stainback. Tuck is the youngster of the quintet. He was born Aug. 4, 1912, at Los Angeles. During the last two seasons he starred as a member of the Wrigley owned Los Angeles team, both as a hitter and a fielder.

Stainback was purchased by the late William L. Veeck in the fall of 1932, following which he was insured for $75,000 and permitted to linger with the Angels for seasoning.

He is 5 feet 11½ inches tall and weighs 170 pounds. He is a blond with brown eyes and a chap who might have fared successfully in the movies. He is single and hits and throws right handed.

In 1933 Tuck hit .335, as compared to his mark of .356 in 1932. His 264 hits last season included 41 doubles, seven triples and 19 home runs. He stole 19 bases, scored 149 runs and drove in 148.

Wonderbolts Beat Sparta, 2-1; Enter Western Cup Final

The Wieboldt Wonderbolts soccer team yesterday defeated the Sparta Leaders, 2 to 1, in a western semi-final game for the National cup. The victory gave the Wonderbolts the right to meet the Stix, Baer and Fuller team of St. Louis in a three game series for the western championship next week. Six thousand saw the contest at Sparta stadium.

After 25 minutes of scoreless play, Vleck of the Sparta Leaders shot the ball past Goalie Hjulian for the opening goal. Sparta held this 1 to 0 advantage at the half.

The Wonderbolts returned in the second period to score after only three minutes had elapsed. Monro crossed to Cuthbert who booted in the ball to even the count. After 20 minutes more of battling Marshall suffered an injury and was replaced by Coutts, who picked up a neat pass from Lilly to score what proved the winning goal.

Sparta then carried the attack to the Wonderbolts, but was repulsed by the brilliant defense work of Scott, Hjulian, and Davidson. Vleck lost a chance to tie the score near the end of the contest as the ball just missed the goal. Lineup: was a pretty shrewd sort of a gent. He knew a bargain when he saw it. And if old Joe Hoss Trader were around today, he'd snap at the chance to buy tickets to the Golden Gloves finals, for these bouts offer boxing's best show and boxing's biggest bargain.

SPARTA		WIEBOLDT WONDERBOLTS [2].

AN OLD HOSS TRADER—

The fights—24 thrillers—will be waged in the Chicago Stadium ring Friday night. And there's no need to cripple the family bank roll, either. For there are plenty of choice seats available at $2.20, $1.65, $1.10 and 55 cents. All are reserved. Top price is $3.30.

MIDDLEWEIGHTS? WORLD'S BEST IN GOLDEN GLOVES!

Champions Go on Parade Friday Night.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Only 24 fights of three rounds each remain on Friday before the 1934 Golden Gloves champions take their places in the line of succession in amateur boxing's greatest tournament.

Not only will Friday's finale have the greatest number of evenly matched bouts, it will have the greatest number of out of town contestants, 24 boys. Also it will reach an attendance mark that will compare favorably with the 1931 Golden Gloves finals, when an all-time indoor record for both professional and amateur bouts was established.

More than 23,000 saw the final bouts in Chicago in 1931. While many excellent seats now remain at all prices, from 55 cents to $3.30, this won't be the case three days from now. Tickets may be purchased at the Tribune Public Service offices in the Tribune Tower and at 1 South Dearborn street.

160 Pounders Lead.

Now about these semi-final and final matches. After all, it is the ability of these 32 boxers, survivors in a field of more than 8,000, that was responsible for the all time attendance marks during the Tournament of Champions. These boys can fight. In addition, they fight with such abandon, with so wholehearted a purpose, that each match is a torrent of action.

Probably no weight class offers better proof of ability, experience and courage than the middleweight. Who will emerge a winner from this group—Charles Wozniak, Bill Treest, Fred Tyus, and Fred Caserio?

It is no vain boast to say that no better group of four amateur boxers can be found in the country. For that matter, there probably is no amateur middleweight in the world who could conquer these boys. Now, let's prove it.

We'll start with Fred Tyus, veteran amateur from Peoria, Ill. This Negro lad has fought most of his bouts downstate, and consequently is not well known in Chicago. But Kenneth Jones of the Peoria Journal Transcript will give you an argument if you insinuate that Tyus can't lick Caserio, Treest, or Wozniak. Before the Tournament of Champions a week ago, Caserio picked Tyus as one boy outside of Chicago most likely to qualify for the semi-finals. Tyus did just that.

Wozniak Can Punch.

How about Charles Wozniak? Don't underestimate this husky middleweight, champion of the Catholic Youth Organization, veteran of three Golden Gloves tournaments and the C. Y. O. intercity competition last January in San Francisco. Wozniak is a fighter, not a boxer. He throws a lot of punches, and only a rugged scrapper can stand up to him. There'll be a lot of fans rooting for this popular young man and hoping he wins his first diamond studded Golden Glove Friday night at the Stadium.

Bill Treest of St. Charles, Ill., winner of the 160 pound title in the Joliet sectional, qualifies in this select foursome. In 1932 Bill started on the trail of the Golden Glove as a welterweight and finished as a member of the Chicago squad which invaded Madison Square Garden. Bill was an alternate. Last year he was nosed out by Caserio in the finals and again was on the sidelines when Jim Cummings and Caserio were the middleweight fighters on the Chicago team which defeated New York at the Stadium, 10 bouts to 6.

Just to prove that he was a better man, Treest entered the Central A. A. U. tournament and defeated Cummings. As champion of Illinois and Wisconsin, Bill went to Boston and reached the finals. Treest likes to slug it out with an opponent, and this sometimes has cost him the decision when he was piling up points by superior boxing.

Caserio Is Veteran.

Fred Caserio needs no introduction. Caserio's 23 now, and in his long career [he first boxed in a Golden Gloves tournament six years ago] he fought in Boston, New York, San Francisco, and the way stations. Golden Gloves champion in 1931, captain of the team which overwhelmed New York at the CLEVELAND BOYS O. K., BUT DON'T GET TOO CLOSE!

Six Golden Glovers All Pack Punches of K. O. Variety.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Who are these Cleveland dandies who have caused such a turmoil in in THE TRIBUNE'S Golden Gloves fighting ranks?

JOE BAUER.

Surely they must be just a little something more than good amateur boxers to create such a stir. There must be something behind this great drive the Cleveland team is making for the championship.

Yet upon close scrutiny they don't seem to be anything more than a group of plucky kids who get great enjoyment out of their conquests.

Levels Likes His Cigars.

See if you don't come to the same conclusion after you read these short sketches of the six lads from Cleveland who will soon be on their way back to the battle fields to finish up the work of winning Golden Gloves:

JESSE LEVELS, flyweight — Has just completed two years of high school work and is attending night school now in an effort to finish the course. He has ambitions to be a pianist. Was born in Memphis nineteen years ago, but moved to Cleveland when a youngster. Smokes cigars as a regular training diet. Never had a boxing glove on his flying mitts until three years ago.

Starts in Street Scraps.

TROY BELINI, bantamweight — A sophomore in the Lincoln High school in Cleveland. Comes from Italian stock, but was born in Akron and is 18 years old. Aims to be a great mechanic some day. If not that, a radio announcer. He plays baseball and basketball. Won so many arguments in street scraps on his way to and from school his playmates urged him to take up amateur boxing. It's his left jab that mows down the opponents.

FRANK BOJACK, lightweight — Comes from a fighting family. He's the kid brother of the pro, Eddie Bojack. Doesn't know whether he likes boxing or baseball best, but plans to withhold final decision until he whips Barney Ross and Jimmy McLaren. Shaved his head just before Tournament of Champions opened. Says it's an omen of good luck in his family. His enormous appetite has come closer to whipping him than any amateur lightweight, but so far he has been able to scale down to 135 pounds.

Danny's an Honor Student.

DANNY FARRAR, welterweight—Comes from Youngstown, O., where he works in his father's shoe repair shop. Was an honor student at South High in Youngstown when he was graduated last year. He was a good football player and mixed it with boxing during last two years in school. Endeavoring to land college scholarship now and wants to study engineering.

JOE BAUER, light heavyweight—Another member of a fighting family, his brother being Frankie Bauer, a popular Cleveland professional. He works as a welder in a Cleveland factory and has been boxing among the amateurs for three years. He's also a star ice skater. Admits he won't lose any time turning "pro" soon as he wins a Golden Glove.

Steve Packs a Wallop.

STEVE SMOZY, heavyweight — [Note: the other heavyweight semi-finalists should not read this.] Steve smacked an opponent so hard with his right in the Cleveland tournament the opponent's jaw was fractured. He works in the machine shop of a steel company. He's 21 years old and is of Polish descent. Scored three straight knockouts in the early rounds of the Tournament of Champions.

But after all, these Cleveland fighters aren't anything to worry about so long as you don't have to get any nearer to them than the press row.

Canisius, 33; St. Bonaventure, 31.

JOHNNY STROPPA, GENE HIGGINS TO BATTLE TONIGHT

Johnny Pacek Is to Fight Walter Madey.

Higgins replaces Mickey Joy, who was awarded a disputed decision over Stroppa Jan. 22 against the Winnipeg fighter. He earned the chance by whipping Joy Feb. 19 and stopping George Engel last Monday.

Johnny Pacek and Jimmy Christy, former amateur champions, will appear in supporting bouts. Pacek is paired with Walter Madey, south side heavyweight, and Christy will hook up with Joey Bozak, Blue Island featherweight, at four rounds. Lenny Cohen, local bantamweight, collides with Frank Mirabel of Argo in a five round semi-final. The card:

Johnny Stroppa vs. Gene Higgins [8], 142.
Frank Mirabel vs. Lenny Cohen [5], 120.
Johnny Pacek vs. Walter Madey [4], heavyweights.
Jimmy Christy vs. Joey Bozak [4], 126.
Tony Hadlich vs. Pete Hoitz [wrestling].

Six bouts will comprise the program tonight at Midway arena, 6115 Cottage Grove avenue.

Don Mesina and Al Schlarato, 137 pound fighters, will clash in the five pound semi-final. Four round preliminary arguments will bring together Jack Kranz and Frank Ketter, heavyweights, and George Schrosbree and Paddy Waltier, lightweights.

Kid Mephisto and Pierre Labell have signed to appear in the semi-final to the Alex Kasaboski-Franz Hart windup wrestling bout at the Rainbo Fronton Wednesday. Paddy Mack, Columbus, and Ted Traves, Los Angeles, are to wage a battle for 30 minutes in a preliminary. Zack Malkov, north side light heavyweight, will appear in another against an opponent yet to be signed.

Jim Londos, heavyweight wrestling title claimant, and Jack Smith of Chicago will meet in the main event at Milwaukee Wednesday. Jim McMillen of Grays Lake, Ill., clashes with Milo Steinborn in the semi-windup. Supporting encounters:

Buckets Goldenberg vs. Jack Zaravitch.
Broncho Nagurski vs. Floyd Marshall.

Hans Bauer and Charles Peterson.
Vic Soldat and Jack Mason.

Frank Battaglia, Winnipeg, Man., middleweight, left town yesterday for Minneapolis. . . . Jerk Doran, former manager of My Sullivan, has been appointed matchmaker for the Minneapolis Boxing club. His first program will be held on March 9 and the second March 19. . . . Paul Lee, Indianapolis bantamweight, and Bobby O'Dowd of Sioux City, Ia., are matched at Hot Springs, Ark., next Monday.

Paul Dazzo, west side junior lightweight, will resume training labor this afternoon for his 10 round encounter with Leo Rodak of the south side at White City next Monday. He took a rest yesterday. . . . Jackie London, who was considered one of Chicago's most promising boxers three years ago, has started preparations for a comeback. He now weighs 133 pounds. F. M.

KIRKWOOD AND SARAZEN BEATEN IN MIAMI GOLF

Miami, Fla., March 4.—(AP)—Gene Sarazen and Joe Kirkwood were beaten in the first round of the international four ball professional golf tournament today. They were defeated by Phil Perkins of Cleveland and Ralph Stonehouse of Indianapolis, 2 and 1, over the 36 hole route.

The defending champions, Horton Smith of Chicago and Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., were forced to go two extra holes to counquer Willie Klein and Jimmy Hines, a Long Island pair.

CALIFORNIA TO SEND QUINTET TO LOYOLA TOURNEY

For the first time since the National Catholic interscholastic basketball tournament was started eleven years ago, California will have a representative this season when the annual prep classic is staged at Loyola university from March 21 to 25.

This was assured yesterday when word was received that an invitation to St. Mary's High school of Stockton, Cal., had been accepted and that the Pacific coast team would leave for Chicago on March 15. The Stockton team has won 13 and lost 2 games this season, among its victims being the freshman team of St. Mary's college. The quintet also holds the Northern California Catholic league championship.

Acceptance of the California team brought the number of states already represented to five. Bids have already been accepted by Cathedral High school of Indianapolis, the defending champion; Elmira, N. Y., Catholic High school; Campion academy of Prairie du Chien, Wis., and St. Francis mission of St. Francis, S. D., in addition to the California team.

Carnera to Give Exhibition on Stribling Memorial Card

Miami, Fla., March 4.—(AP)—Primo Carnera, world's heavyweight champion, plans to leave here tomorrow by airplane for Macon, Ga., to attend a memorial boxing exhibition to be given there in honor of the late Young Stribling. Carnera, who recently successfully defended his title in a 15 round bout here with Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia, plans to box in one of the exhibition rounds on the program.

LEADS PRINCETON HOCKY TEAM

ENGLEWOOD WINS FROM M'HALE IN K. OF C. LEAGUE

Loyola-Hyde Park Beats Calumet, 36-20.

Led by Tony Carp with 13 points and Vince McGowan with 9, Englewood tightened its grip on first place in the South section of the Knights of Columbus Basketball league at White City yesterday by defeating McHale, 26 to 19. Englewood led, 15 to 6, at the half, and was never in danger. Loyola-Hyde Park, three time divisional champion, made sure of a place in the final round with a 36 to 20 victory over Calumet. Scores:

WEST SECTION.

A fast finish in the last two minutes enabled Hughes to defeat Damen, 30 to 27, at the West Side clubhouse yesterday and move into a tie with St. Cyr for first place in the west section. The loss dropped Damen to third place and practically ended its chances to repeat as the West section champion. Bill Shay with 13 points led the attack for Hughes. Scores:

C. Y. O. RESULTS

St. Joseph's heavyweights, 1933 champions of the Catholic Youth Organization Basketball league, yesterday were eliminated from the 1934 race when they lost to St. Mary of the Lake, 21 to 20, at De Paul university gym.

Mary Queen of Heaven, 1932 champion, defeated Corpus Christi, 35 to 29, at St. Agnes' gym, and Blessed Sacrament won from Epiphany's in one overtime period, 29 to 27, at St. Mel's.

Tonight 16 boys' and 16 girls' teams will play at Holy Trinity High, St. Philip's High school, De La Salle, St. Rita's High school, St. Michael's High school, and St. Agnes' gymnasiums.

HEAVYWEIGHT.

St. Mary of the Lake, 21; St. Joseph's, 20.
St. Margaret Mary, 19; St. Josaphat's, 15.

MIDWEST LEAGUE TO MEET.

March Brings Killdeer, Robin to Chicagoland

BY BOB BECKER.

March sees a break in the wintry hold which the cold season places upon Chicagoland. Although much stormy, fickle weather may go into the records this month, March brings that noisy shore bird, the killdeer, and that herald of spring, the robin.

The killdeer has an average arrival date in Chicagoland in the first week of March. The usual arrival of the first robin to fly up from the south [not permanent resident robins who have been around all winter] also falls in the first week of March. In some years the killdeer and the robin have delayed their arrival as late as March 15 or 18, when the spring season was late. You may see these birds before the end of February in other years. Just when they will appear depends upon the weather. When winter lingers late the birds delay their arrival, but even the early birds may be tricked by March.

A warm spell of weather in early March may bring a "spring wave" of early birds, which later in the month may be trapped by a severe snowstorm.

While visiting a number of farms in Kendall county during the last two weeks, we were impressed by the many starlings observed around barnyards and orchards. Although this bird has become quite common in Illinois and is to be seen throughout Chicagoland, we didn't realize how many starlings were joining the sparrows and pigeons around the barnyards. Flocks of 20 to 30 were not uncommon at some of the farms we visited.

Towards evening is the best time to check on these flocks of starlings. At that time they are winging in to find their roosting places for the night. The other afternoon we saw one starling fly over a cattle yard and perch on a windmill. A few minutes later we tried to get close to a flock which had flown into a tall poplar tree, but couldn't get near them. They moved to a nearby orchard before we came within 150 yards of them.

A number of silos used by pigeons as roosts also are occupied by starlings. These foreigners seem to be at home anywhere. It is not surprising that bird fans throughout the state are becoming worried about the increase in European starlings in Illinois.

Downstate in the orchard growing sections crow hunters have found starlings coming into orchards and roosting with the crows. On one raid against a big crow roost the hunters killed more than 100 starlings, although in the darkness when they were shooting they didn't know that these birds were roosting in the pear trees with the crows.

TONIGHT'S GAMES.

Purdue at Illinois.
Minnesota at Wisconsin.
Indiana at Michigan.
Western Reserve at Ohio State.

The Big Ten basketball race will come to a close tonight with seven teams playing their final games in which only the runner up positions will be at stake, Purdue having already clinched first place with 10 victories and one defeat.

The Boilermakers meet Illinois at Champaign in a game which will enable them to add to the new Big Ten team scoring record, set Saturday night against Indiana. Purdue now has a total of 486 points, bettering the previous mark of 474 set by Indiana in 1928. Other conference games on tonight's card find Wisconsin meeting Minnesota at Madison and Indiana facing Michigan at Ann Arbor. Ohio State plays a non-league game with Western Reserve at Columbus.

Badgers Need Victory.

Considerable interest attaches to the encounter at Madison, where the Badgers need a victory over Minnesota to tie Northwestern for second place. The Purple wound up their 12 game schedule with a 30 to 22 triumph over Chicago Saturday night to give them a final standing of eight victories and four defeats. Wisconsin likewise has lost four games, and a victory over the Gophers will enable it to tie the Wildcats.

The Badgers remained in the fight for runner up position by handing Iowa its sixth licking of the year Saturday night. The scohe was 35 to 22. Wisconsin's steady rise to a first division berth has been one of the features of the race. After dropping their first three games the Badgers came back strong to win all of their remaining games except their return game with Purdue a week ago.

Lyle Fisher of Northwestern maintained his hold on first place in the conference scoring column by bagging nine points against Chicago for a season's total of 118 points. He is trailed by Norm Cotton of Purdue, who has 115 points and needs only four against Illinois tonight to slip into first place.

Haarlow Is Stopped.

Northwestern held Bill Haarlow, Chicago's high scorer, to eight points Saturday night, thus holding the Maroon flash to 109 points for the season. In the first game against Northwestern earlier in the season Haarlow scored 21 points. Individual scoring:

AMERICANS BEAT SENATORS, 3-0, IN SLOW GAME

New York, March 4.—(AP)—The New York Americans resumed their drive for a play-off position in the National Hocky league's Canadian division tonight by defeating the Ottawa Senators, 3 to 0. The victory left the Americans 4 points behind the third place Montreal Canadiens.

Warm weather and rough ice hampered both teams, and play was dull. The only outstanding play was the one on which Rabbit McVeigh made the third goal after Bill Brydge and Bob Gracie had given New York a 2 to 0 lead in the second period. McVeigh feinted Al Shields and Scotty Bowman out of position and fired from between them. Summary:

Tilden, Vines Again Beat Cochet, Plaa

Detroit, Mich., March 4.—(AP)—The United States professional tennis team of William T. Tilden II. and Ellsworth Vines continued its dominance over the French combination of Henri Cochet and Martin Plaa tonight, taking two singles matches and one doubles match.

Tilden and Vines teamed up to take the doubles match from Cochet and Plaa, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4. Vines' service was the deciding factor in the doubles contest while Plaa performed brilliantly for the French team.

In the singles matches Tilden defeated Plaa, 6-3, 1-6, 6-4, 6-4, while Vines defeated Cochet, 6-4, 4-6, 7-5, 6-4.

TILDEN HERE TOMORROW

Bill Tilden and his troupe of international tennis stars, including his fellow countryman, Ellsworth Vines, and the two Frenchmen, Heuri Cochet and Martin Plaa, will arrive in town tomorrow morning for their two day series of matches at the Broadway armory.

The first match will be played tomorrow night, with Cochet meeting Vines and Tilden playing Plaa. A doubles match between the American and French players is also on the first night's program. On Wednesday night the singles order will be reversed. Plaa will play Vines and Tilden will clash with Cochet, his old rival of amateur days.

Neither of the French players has appeared in Chicago before although both are familiar figures on the eastern courts where Cochet has competed in a number of Davis cup matches while Plaa was present as coach of the French team.

Considerable interest has been evinced in the present tour of the professional stars. In their opening matches in New York they played before capacity crowds in Madison Square Garden where the Americans won both singles matches and the doubles as well.

HAWKS SIGN UP AMATEUR STAR; REPORTS TODAY

Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, president of the Chicago Blackhawks, announced last night the Hawks have signed Joseph Stanley Covaleski Grabowski of Oshawa, Ont., one of the star forwards of the Ontario hocky association.

Jo-Jo, as he is known, is only 19 years old. He weighs 160 pounds. Grabowski has only one eye, having lost an eye in a mining explosion in Cobalt.

Grabowski, who has been negotiating with the Blackhawks for some time, will arrive in Chicago this morning and will work out this afternoon at the Stadium with the team. The Blackhawks endeavored to sign Grabowski in January after Manager Tommy Gorman had seen him play against the Toronto Nationals, but Oshawa was then fighting for the championship and Grabowski refused to consider a professional contract.

On Saturday the Blackhawks again got in touch with Grabowski and made arrangements to bring him here. He refused to come to Chicago, however, without his own manager and coach, Jess Spring, of Toronto, who is a scout for the Hawks. Grabowski was discovered by Spring in northern Ontario, where he was playing for Cobalt in the Silver Country league.

If Grabowski does not make good with the Blackhawks he will remain in amateur company.

Preps to Play Saturday for City Titles

Dates and sites of the semi-final and final games for the Chicago Public High School league lightweight and heavyweight basketball championships were announced by Athletic Director A. H. Pritzlaff yesterday. The finals will be played Saturday, the heavyweights at White City and the lightweights at Loyola university gymnasium.

Lane Tech will meet Marshall's heavyweights in the semi-finals tomorrow afternoon at Crane Tech, while Englewood and Tilden play in the other contest at White City. In the lightweight division Roosevelt opposes Senn at Roosevelt Wednesday and Phillips faces Lindbloom at White City. The schedule:

HEAVYWEIGHTS.
[Tomorrow.]
Lane Tech vs. Marshall, Crane gymnasium, 4 p. m.
Englewood vs. Tilden, White City, 4 p. m.
LIGHTWEIGHTS.
[Wednesday.]
Roosevelt vs. Senn, Roosevelt gymnasium, 4 p. m.
Phillips vs. Lindbloom, White City, 3:30 p. m.

Waukegan, defending champion, will meet Wauconda in one of the opening games for the northern Illinois district championship at Waukegan tomorrow. In other games Antioch meets Deerfield and Fox Lake plays Libertyville. Waukegan, which won 13 out of 16 games, has captured the district title for the last six years.

The La Grange district tournament will open Wednesday. Morton of Cicero, 1932 state champion, will meet Wheaton in the first game. Other teams entered in the tournament include York, Riverside, Bensenville, Downers Grove, Franklin Park, and West Chicago.

Morton's boxing team will oppose Armour Tech at Morton Friday night. Tony Zazeck has been named to replace Steve Ruzich on the Morton squad. Stelton or Roth will fight for Morton in the featherweight class.

Final games in the east and west divisions of the Chicago Catholic High School league will be played Friday night. Joliet already has clinched the east section heavyweight title, while St. Mel has won the west division lightweight championship. The heavyweight champions in both sections will be eligible to compete in the eleventh annual national Catholic basketball tournament at Loyola university gymnasium March 21 to 25.

STEVENSONS BEAT EDELWEISS IN PIN MATCH

The Stevenson Heating upset the first division Edelweiss team for two games with a 3,230 series last night in the Classic Bowling league. The anchor man Otto Boehm turned in a 707 series.

Baby Ruths had high series for the league, 3,243, which gave them two victories over Moulding-Brownell. Jack Bishop turned in 706 and Oscar Knebelsberger 700. Pete Petersen's 278 game was top.

132,000 WATCH IOWA QUINTET DURING SEASON

Iowa City, Ia., March 4.—[Special.]—More than 132,000 persons saw the University of Iowa basketball team in action during the 1933-'34 season, according to figures released by Charles S. Galiher, business manager of athletics.

Attendance at the Hawkeyes' eleven home games totaled 86,400, with the conference home game attendance 61,400. The record crowd here was 13,200 at the Purdue encounter Feb. 17. The 1933-'34 attendance set a new season's record in the fieldhouse.

Gary Team Wins A. A. U. Basketball Championship

South Bend, Ind., March 4.—[Special.]—The Club Sar team of Gary, Ind., won the Northern Indiana Amateur Athletic union sectional basketball tournament tonight by defeating the Studebaker Athletics of South Bend, 27 to 24, tonight. The victory qualified the Club Sar team for the A. A. U. regional tourney at Louisville, Ky., starting Friday.

GALESBURG FIVE CAPTURES STATE CATHOLIC TITLE

Jacksonville, Ill., March 4.—(AP)—Corpus Christi of Galesburg, turned back Cathedral High of Springfield, tonight, 16 to 11, to win the Illinois Catholic prep basketball title, and qualify for a place in the national tournament at Loyola university March 21-25.

Cathedral led 8 to 6 at the half, but Corpus Christi, with Carl Thielbert showing the way, staged a brilliant rally to go out in front in the third quarter. The Cathedral defense held Corpus Christi to one field goal in the last period, but also gave the Galesburg team opportunities for free throws, which decided the issue.

Each of the finalists placed two men on the all-tournament team selected by the officials. Thielbert and Burke of Cathedral were named forwards, Seastedt of Corpus Christi was placed at center, with Knox of Cathedral and Bernbrock of Quincy at guards.

SHAMROCKS WIN OVER MILWAUKEE HOCKY TEAM, 5-0

Finishing the first round and all but one game in the second round, teams in the Central A. A. U. Amateur Hocky tournament played three games last night at the Coliseum before 1,500 fans.

The Shamrocks defeated Milwaukee, 5 to 0. Before the final period ended a free for all took place after Johnson of the Shamrocks, tangled with Smith, Milwaukee right winger. Eight minor and two major penalties were handed out.

DANDRUFF
Soon Destroys the Hair

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get some plain ordinary liquid Arvon; apply it at night when retiring, using enough to moisten the scalp and rubbing it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid Arvon at any drug store. It won't cost you more than thirty-five cents (35c). No matter how much dandruff you have, this simple remedy never fails.

C. Y. O. Stars to Play Minneapolis Sextet Tonight

In addition to the three weekly Catholic Youth Organization hocky league games to be played at the Coliseum tonight, a game between the Minneapolis Catholic Boy All-Stars and a team composed of the best players in the local C. Y. O. league also is scheduled.

The all-star game, scheduled for 8:15 o'clock will be preceded by the Evanston C. Y. O.—Our Lady of Grace clash at 7 o'clock. Holy Rosary meets St. Anthony immediately after the all-star battle while St. Adrian and Central C. Y. O. wind up the night's schedule at 10:30 o'clock. Central continues to pace the league with St. Nicholas, neither team having been defeated thus far. Lineups for tonight:

In 1932 Caserio did not compete in Golden Gloves. That year he won the Central A. A. U. title and then took the National A. A. U. championship, defeating Carmen Barth of Cleveland in the finals. According to the plan for selection of the United States Olympic boxing team, both Barth and Caserio qualified for the trials at San Francisco. By a twist of fate Barth whipped Caserio on points and represented the United States against the world in the Olympics. Fred, however, was a member of the squad. Barth won the Olympic 160 pound championship, and now is boxing professionally.

In 1931 Caserio defeated the middleweight champion of France. In 1933 he again won a Golden Gloves title and again defeated the captain of the New York team. He finished the season with an international victory over the champion of Ireland.

FLAMES FATAL TO SECOND GIRL IN AUTO CRASH

Lena Calbri, 18 years old, 336 North avenue, Highwood, died last night at the Highland Park hospital of burns received in a head-on automobile collision in which Bernice Swan, also 18, 68 Michigan avenue, Highland Park, was burned to death yesterday morning a mile west of Deerfield in Lake county.

The girls, students at the Deerfield-Shields township High school, were being driven home from a dance in Wheeling by Robert Kruse, 18, of Wheeling, when the car crashed into one driven by James Belmonti, 20 years old, 334 Ashland avenue, Highwood. Both machines burst into flames. Passing motorists dragged out Kruse and the Calbri girl, but could not extricate Miss Swan.

Blame Crash on Fog.

Kruse also was seriously burned, and two occupants of the other car, Frank Belmonti, 20 years old, a brother of James, and Peter Somers, 19 years old, 239 Evolution avenue, Highwood, were injured. All were taken to the Highland Park hospital. Kruse admitted he had parked in the road, saying he had done so because of a heavy fog. Belmonti charged Kruse's lights were off.

Two women died in the Swedish Covenant hospital yesterday of injuries incurred in a collision Saturday at Devon and Crawford avenues.

The victims were Miss Mae Watters, 50 years old, of Savannah, driver of one of the cars, and Mrs. Maria Fullam, 52 years old, of San Pierre, Ind., who was riding with her. Mrs. Fullam's husband, William, 52 years old, and their daughter, Miss Anna Fullam, 20 years old, were injured, as was the driver of the other car, Mrs. Theresa Termathy, 40 years old, 3954 Lawrence avenue. Witnesses told police Miss Watters failed to halt at Crawford avenue, despite a stop sign.

Toll to Date Is 215.

There were five other motor deaths in Cook county yesterday, increasing the toll for 1934 to 215. The victims:

Adolph Cholewa, 44 years old, 1534 Tell place. Died in St. Mary's hospital of injuries received when he was struck by an automobile driven by William L. Kathe, 35 years old, 2249 North Spaulding avenue, while crossing Ashland avenue near his home Saturday.

Stanley Smolucha, 52 years old, 2946 North Halsted street. Died in county hospital last night shortly after he was struck by a car in front of his home. John Snell, 55 years old, 1114 Roscoe street, the driver, was captured by other motorists several blocks away from the scene.

John Kozick, 40 years old, 1639 North Lincoln street. Killed almost instantly when his car struck a safety island at North and Washtenaw avenues, throwing him through the windshield.

Eskill Oslund, 60 years old, 5008 North Clark street, died early today in Edgewater hospital from injuries received Sunday when he was struck by an automobile wriven by Graham Murphy, 5012 Winthrop avenue, at Ashland and Winona avenues.

Unidentified man, about 30 years old, and well dressed. Killed intantly early today when he was struck by an automobile driven by Gustave Hoffman, 2126 Summerdale avenue, in front of 2906 Lincoln avenue.

Lauren Rousey, 32 years old, 2360 Carolina street, was killed yesterday morning when the specially designed trailer truck he was driving from Detroit to Aurora with four new automobiles crashed into a telephone pole a mile east of Aurora on Illinois highway 18. Police believed that Rousey fell asleep at the wheel. He was the father of three children.

BILLY GALLAGHER DIES; INTRODUCED SINGING WAITER TO BROADWAY

New York, March 4.—(AP)—William J. [Little Billy] Gallagher, familiar in the theater and in sports for forty years, and the man who is said to have introduced singing waiters to Broadway, died today. He was 65 and had been ill for sometime.

Gallagher, who ran "Billy Gallagher's" once famous restaurant, used singing waiters after they became popular on the bowery. Many of his entertainers later became famous in Tin Pan alley, in vaudeville and on the legitimate stage.

Many a man or woman in bad luck used to turn to Gallagher, and he was never known to refuse a helping hand. It is said he once was a millionaire.

Before his death, word reached Broadway that blood was needed for a transfusion. Scores of theatrical friends volunteered. Jack Sheerin, doorman at the restaurant for many years, was chosen. Twice he gave blood. For a third transfusion the blood of a brother, Joseph, was taken.

WIDOW OF AID TO SUN YAT-SEN DIES IN NEW YORK

New York, March 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. Ethel Lea, widow of Homer Lea, who was military adviser to Sun Yat-sen, first president of China, died today in the Presbyterian hospital after a brief illness. She is survived by two sons of her first marriage, Joseph Bryant Powers and Albert H. Powers, both of this city, who are representatives of foreign newspapers.

Going to China with her husband in 1911, Mrs. Lea brought him back to the United States when he became ill the next year. He died in Ocean Park, Cal., in November, 1912. He held the rank of general in China. Later President Sun invited Mrs. Lea to return to China and serve the republic as an adviser on western customs. She declined.

WILLIAM ASTOR CHANLER DIES IN MENTONE, FRANCE

New York, March 4.—[Special.]—William Astor Chanler, 66, African explorer, soldier, and once a Tammany representative in congress, died today in Mentone, France, according to private advices received here. He had made his home in Paris for a number of years. Mr. Chanler was a descendant of John Winthrop, Peter Stuyvesant, Robert Livingston and the Marions of South Carolina. He was a great-grandson of the first John Jacob Astor, the son of John Winthrop Chanler and Margaret Astor Ward Clark.

William Astor Chanler was a brother of Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler, once lieutenant governor of New York; Robert Winthrop [Sherif Bob] Chanler, and John Armstrong Chaloner. Chaloner changed his name after being adjudged insane in New York, whence he escaped to Virginia. From there he sent the famous message, "Who's looney now?" to "Sherif Bob" when Robert Chanler was forced to make a large cash settlement on his former wife, Lina Cavalieri, the opera singer. Later Chaloner was found sane and given control of his New York estate.

GEORGE BRENNAN, RETIRED SCHOOL PRINCIPAL, DIES

Funeral services for George A. Brennan, a principal in the Calumet school district for more than 50 years prior to his retirement eight years ago, will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday in the Bethany Reformed church, Prairie avenue and 111th street. Mr. Brennan died early yesterday at the age of 78 years. He lived at 24 West 110th street.

Mr. Brennan was an authority on the flora and fauna of the Indiana dunes, much of his material being collected in his book, "Wonders of the Dunes." He was also considered an authority on history in the Calumet district. He was active in Calumet community affairs.

Mr. Brennan is survived by his widow, Mrs. Sophia Marie Brennan, a son, S. B. Brennan, and three daughters, Mrs. Peter Hannema, Mrs. Albert Engelsman, and Mrs. Jack Leegwater. Burial will be at Mount Greenwood cemetery.

JUDGE GENTZEL WILL BE BURIED THIS AFTERNOON

Funeral services for Judge Robert E. Gentzel of the Superior court will be held at 2 p. m. today in the chapel of Rosehill cemetery with the Rev. Preston Bradley officiating. The burial will be private. Judges of the Superior, Circuit, and Municipal courts have been named as honorary pallbearers.

Judge Gentzel, who had been a member of the Superior court since his appointment in 1927 to fill a vacancy, died suddenly Saturday in his home at 7050 Elmwood avenue, where he lived with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Gentzel. Death was attributed to a heart attack. He was 58 years old.

N. Y. POLICE WARN OF STOLEN 'RUM'; IT IS ARSENIC

New York, March 4.—[Special.]—A commonplace theft from a drug salesman's parked automobile near Madison Square Garden caused police teletypes to clatter a frenzied alarm today. In every station house patrolmen were urged to spread a warning to as many citizens as possible.

The thieves, instead of getting whisky, as they apparently thought, obtained arsenic dissolved in alcohol—a deadly poison.

The poison, in bottles some of which are not unlike fancy whisky containers, has a distinct liquorlike aroma. Much of it is pleasant to the taste.

WIFE OF RETIRED ARMY OFFICER LEAPS TO DEATH

San Diego, Cal., March 4.—(AP)—Mrs. Katherine D. Boughton, 50, San Diego clubwoman, died today from injuries suffered when she jumped from a second story window of a convalescent home, official records stated. She was the wife of Lieut. Col. Roland W. Boughton, U. S. A., retired, and had been ill several months.

Boy, 4, Ends Long Trip Alone to Meet Mother

Lugging a small suitcase and his face wreathed in a proud smile meant only for his mother, Buddy Ekwert, 4 year old son of Charles Ekwert, arrived yesterday from Baltimore on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad at the Grand Central station. The boy, who had been on a visit to his grandmother, made the trip alone and, according to the conductor, "was a very good passenger during the whole trip." Buddy and his mother will drive to California to join Mr. Ekwert, a former boxer, who is now training boxers.

JOHN ALDEN, 73, EDITOR AND POET, DIES IN BROOKLYN

Descendant of Alden in Longfellow's Poem.

Brooklyn, N. Y., March 4.—(AP)—John Alden, 73, a direct descendant of the John Alden who came to America on the Mayflower and associate editor of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, died today after being ill since Thursday.

Alden, a New York and Washington newspaper man since 1885, was one of the founders of the Gridiron club in Washington, an organization of newspaper correspondents.

After being graduated from Rutgers college in 1882 Alden spent three years in graduate work, then became a reporter for the Brooklyn Times. Later he became dramatic critic and Washington correspondent for that paper.

Becomes Magazine Editor.

He became managing editor of the Troy, N. Y., Press in 1887, remaining there until 1893, when he joined the New York Recorder as an editorial writer. Four years later he became editor of the magazine Fame, retaining that post until he started with the Brooklyn Eagle in 1901. For a short time before that he was an editorial writer for the Springfield, Mass., Union.

For the last thirty years, lacking two days, Alden wrote a daily poem on the editorial page of the Eagle. His last poem, written in advance, was published Saturday.

Ninth in Direct Line.

Many of his readers thought his name above the poem was a "pen name." It was not, as he was the ninth in direct male descent from the John Alden and Priscilla of the Mayflower and of Longfellow's "The Courtship of Miles Standish."

Always helpful to younger workers on the paper, Alden once told a questioner his philosophy as characterized by his poems. "To take a poke at shams," he said. "To take the under dog's view."

Alden's wife, the former Cynthia Westover, died in 1931. Before their marriage she was a newspaper woman.

SERVICE TODAY IN HONOR OF DR. CURTIS NELSON

Memorial services will be held this morning at the chapel of St. Chrysostom's church for Dr. Curtis Nelson, 202 East Hillside avenue, Barrington, a member of a socially prominent family. Dr. Nelson, who was 31 years old, leaped or fell to his death Friday night from a fifth floor room of the Presbyterian hospital where he had been receiving treatment for a nervous disorder. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Murry Nelson, 44 East Elm street. His widow, Alice, is the daughter of Prof. Charles G. Little of the Northwestern university law school. The family will attend private funeral services at a crematorium after the memorial service.

SMALL GAINS ARE SHOWN IN GRAIN PRICES

Traders Puzzled by Market's Action.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat traders are puzzled over the immediate trend of the market. The churning process, within a 7 cent range during the last two months, has made it unprofitable for operations on either side of the market.

Seemingly the market is little affected by supply and demand developments and Washington news has resulted in causing sharp breaks and bulges. Trade is dominated entirely by hopes and fears. Factors which years ago would normally result in a definite trend now fail to cause even a fractional change.

Await New Factors.

For many weeks the trade has awaited something which would break the deadlock and start an old time speculative buying or selling movement. Good rains have fallen in the winter wheat belt and the private reports show improvement in the outlook in that section as compared with Dec. 1. Yet new crop futures at the finish on Saturday were higher than the previous week.

Wheat prices closed Saturday with net gains of ¼ to 1⅝ cents compared with the previous week. September finished at 88¼ cents, while May was 88 cents and July 87⅜ cents. Range of prices follows:

	May.	July.	September.
Monday	.86 -87¼	84½-85⅝	85⅝-86¾

Steady inroads are reported in farm reserves of corn as the result of the shortage in supplies of oats and other feedstuffs. While there has been an estimated 150,000,000 bushels of corn sealed in cribs as collateral for government loans, prospects of reduced stocks later in the season are commencing to have a market effect.

Corn Gaining Friends.

A more friendly feeling toward the buying side of corn was noted last week. Stocks of grain which were sent to eastern ports before the close of lake navigation last fall are being rapidly reduced and with the opening of navigation this spring the visible supply is expected to show a sharp reduction, while the movement to terminal markets is likely to be small.

According to Nat C. Murray, the average price paid to farmers for corn in Iowa, Nebraska, and Minnesota ranges from 33 to 35 cents per bushel or 10 to 12 cents less than can be secured from the government. On this basis it is figured the May delivery in Chicago would have to advance to around 60 cents before it would start those who borrowed government money on the grain to sell.

Corn showed relative strength during the last week and closed Saturday with net gains of 1 to 1¾ cents, with May at 51⅞ cents, July at 53⅞ cents, September at 55¾ cents. Range of prices follows:

	May.	July.	September.
Monday	.49⅝-50⅝	51⅜-52⅝	53⅝-54⅛
Tuesday	.49⅝-50½	51⅜-52½	53⅜-54⅛

Oats Prices Lower.

Sufficient scattered liquidation has developed in oats to result in a lower range of prices and the market has lost ground compared with corn. Anticipated shortage in supplies has failed to develop and many traders who bought oats early in the season have been gradually going out of their lines, while the support has not been aggressive.

Net gains of ⅝ to ⅞ cents were shown last week, with May and July closing Saturday at 35½ cents and September at 35 cents. Range of prices follows:

	May.	July.	Sept.
Monday	.33⅝-34⅞	33½-34½	32⅝-34
Tuesday	.34⅛-34⅞	33⅜-34⅝	33¼-34

Await Polish Rye Decision.

Rye traders await a decision from the United States government as to whether the Polish rye imported into this country within the last few months will have to pay an extra duty.

National Bank Assets Over 21 Billions

Washington, D. C., March 4.—(AP)—National bank assets reached $21,747,438,000 at the close of 1933—a new high since last March's bank holiday. The figures were made public today by J. F. T. O'Connor, controler of the currency, in a summary of statistics on the Dec. 30 national bank call.

The year-end assets were held by 5,159 licensed national banks. They represented an increase of $548,834,000 over assets held by 5,057 licensed banks on Oct. 25, and a $886,992,000 boost over assets reported by 4,902 banks last June 30.

Loans and discounts, including rediscounts, were $8,101,150,000 on Dec. 30, as compared with $8,257,937,000 at the October call and $8,116,972,000 at the June reckoning.

National banks at the beginning of 1934 held $4,469,147,000 in government securities representing increases in the two and six month periods of $357,502,000 and $437,571,000, respectively. Other bonds and securities held aggregated $3,401,625,000 for respective increases of $18,355,000 and $61,570,000.

Balances Show Increase.

Balances due from correspondent banks and bankers, including reserve with federal reserve banks, totaled $4,060,818,000 as compared with $3,833,678,000 and $3,793,460,000 on the respective preceding calls. Cash holdings of $343,117,000 represented increases of $13,331,000 and $54,639,000.

Active banks at the end of 1933 had paid $14,934,000 into the deposit insurance fund.

A capital stock figure of $1,588,250,000 on Dec. 30, represented par value of $1,589,454,000 composed of $140,295,000 in class A preferred stock, $4,400,000 in class B, and $1,444,759,000 in common.

The controler said the book value of capital stock had increased respectively $21,552,000 and $72,603,000 and the par value $21,928,000 and $72,249,000 since Oct. 25 and June 30.

Surplus Funds Decrease.

Surplus funds of $880,670,000, undivided profits of $236,022,000 and reserves for contingencies of $197,224,000 totaled $1,313,916,000, and represented $42,987,000 and $26,991,000 decreases since the last two calls.

National bank note circulation at the year-end was $778,566,000 as compared with $746,913,000 in October and $730,435,000 in June.

Deposit liabilities increased $534,674,000 over October and $730,435,000 over June to a total of $17,589,882,000. Of the year-end total, $2,290,257,000 was due to banks, $554,736,000 was in government deposits and $8,351,967,000 in other demand deposits.

Pay No Interest.

Since enactment of the 1933 banking act last June 16, demand deposits have not drawn interest except where state law has required interest payments on state funds. Officials said banks therefore were earning less on state funds despite increased amounts.

Time deposits were $6,292,922,000 on Dec. 30. This sum included $570,497,000 in postal savings, $662,366,000 in time certificates of deposits and $4,544,084,000 in saings accounts represented by 12,669,100 pass books.

The percentage of loans and discounts to total deposits reported as of Dec. 30, was 46.06 as compared with 48.42 at the October call and 48.39 in June.

1,200 Banks Reopen.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 4.—Of the 4,013 banks that failed to reopen immediately after the national banking holiday last March and the 598 that closed in the preceding two months of 1933, 1,200 have been reopened or replaced, while 3,349 are in liquidation or awaiting final action, according to the American Banker.

In February reopening of banks or chartering of replacement institutions as reported numbered 121, of these sixty-one were under national charter and sixty were state chartered institutions. This compares with 186 such reopenings reported in January by this publication, and the average of 123 a month since last April. Mergers of closed institutions have accounted for another small percentage of reduction in the totals of unreplaced.

"The net result of the bank closings and reopenings of 1933 to date is that of the 18,390 banks reported by the Federal Reserve board on Dec. 31, 1932, 15,041 were reopened or replaced up to March 1, 1934," the review says.

Canadian Silver Output in December Declines

OTTAWA, Ont., March 4.—(AP)—Production of silver in Canada in December last totaled 1,086,434 ounces, a decrease of more than 200,000 ounces as compared with 1,328,713 ounces produced in the corresponding period of 1932, says a report issued today by the dominion bureau of statistics. The average price of silver in December last was 43.3 cents and at this price the output was worth $470,966. During the year 1933 world output of new silver amounted to 161,360,000 ounces, compared with 169,232,000 ounces in the previous year.

STEEL ACTIVITY RISES 1 POINT TO 48 PER CENT

Total 200 Per Cent Over Last Year.

In contrast with the stagnation in steelworks operations, reduced to only 15 per cent of capacity, one year ago, when the country was confronted with banking moratoriums, the rate now stands at 48 per cent, or one point more than last week, according to the magazine Steel.

This month production and shipments should more precisely indicate actual consumer demand than during the final month of the last quarter, when price increases effective Jan. 1 were driving in anticipatory tonnages. Prices of practically all steel products have been reaffirmed for next quarter, and the recent reductions in hot strip and "Ford special" sheets have been canceled.

February Bookings Doubled.

During February, the magazine reports, steel tonnage booked by leading producers was twice as much as that for January, and there is some prospect that the volume in March will double last month's.

There has been a concomitant rise in pig iron output. Daily average production during February, amounting to 45,426 gross tons, was 15.3 per cent more than in January and was the largest since September. Total output at 1,271,935 tons was 3.7 per cent higher than in January. From 86 stacks operating at the opening of the month the number rose to 90 at the close.

4 Centers Reveal Gains.

Operations last week improved in four producing centers, held steady in three, and declined in two. At Wheeling the rate rose 8 points to 77 per cent; Cleveland, 2 to 79; Buffalo, 5 to 55, and Pittsburgh, 3 to 31. Plants at Chicago maintained their output at 44. Detroit 79, and Birmingham 52. Production fell 14 points to 65 per cent in New England, and 2 to 52 at Youngstown.

Automobile manufacturers are increasing their production schedules, according to Steel, though specifications have slackened with the reaffirmation of prices for the second quarter. "Labor difficulties in the automotive industry are being smoothed out almost as soon as they occur," observes the review.

Rail Orders 39,000 Tons.

Orders of steel rails last week totaled 39,000 tons, of which 29,000 were placed by the Chicago and North Western, and orders for fastenings 8,170 tons, including 6,370 for the same road. The Erie is to spend funds of the Public Works administration on 42,121 tons of rails and 12,340 of fastenings. The Pennsylvania has ordered 7,000 tons of cast steel underframes.

The week's structural awards rose nearly 100 per cent to 23,721 tons, including 12,300 for the superstructure of the postoffice at Manhattan, N. Y. Bids will be taken shortly on 5,000 tons for the Camden, N. J., approach to the high speed line over the Delaware river bridge at Philadelphia, and on 4,500 for a bridge at Omaha.

While the composites for iron and steel and for finished steel remained the same, that for scrap moved up 25 cents to $12.20, the highest since October, 1930.

LATE RECOVERY ERASES EARLY LOSSES ON CURB

New York, March 4.—(AP)—Lower levels were tested on the curb exchange last week but after intermittent declines and rallies, the list finished without much change. Trading was dull most of the time but broadened in a late buying spurt Friday.

Early hesitancy resulted in declines of 1 to more than 2 points among the leaders. Specialties, particularly, were hard pressed. Rubber shares were in good demand with General Tire and Rubber and Fisk issues moving higher. Oils encountered scattered selling with Gulf Oil and Standard Oil of Indiana dipping moderately. Among public utilities Electric Bond and Share held well but American Gas and Electric attracted light offerings around midweek. Columbia Gas and Electric rebounded strongly after an initial sag.

Alcohols resisted selling well although dealings were quiet. Metals generally fluctuated narrowly. Parker Rust Proof virtually canceled a 3 point loss and other shares responding to the late buying included Pie Bakeries, Bower Roller Bearing, A. O. Smith, Swift, Waco Aircraft and Brown Forman distillers.

PROFIT OF $140,921 FOR 1933 REPORTED BY CONTAINER CORP.

The Container Corporation of America made a net profit of $140,921 in 1933 compared with a loss of $1,380,363 in 1932, according to the annual report of President Walter P. Paepcke to the stockholders. The company operated at a loss of $908,436 in 1931.

Mr. Paepcke said that profit realized on the purchase of the company's own bonds and debentures in anticipation of sinking fund requirements was included in income but was credited direct to surplus.

Net sales totaled $15,419,759 in 1933 compared with $11,457,966 in 1932. Current assets as of Dec. 31, 1933, totaled $4,223,837 compared with $3,089,689 at the end of 1932. Current liabilities at the end of 1933 stood at $1,327,255 compared with $634,653 at the end of 1932.

The 1933 report discloses a gain of $441,576 in working capital, a reduction of $427,000 in funded obligations, and acquisition during the year of $683,900 par value of bonds, debentures, and preferred stock at a cost of $295,537. It was stated that the pay roll increase due to the signing of the President's reemployment agreement was $1,800,000 on an annual basis.

Mr. Paepcke said that earnings for January and February indicate it is probable that the earnings for the first quarter of 1934 will be sufficient to cover the interest, preferred dividend and a good part of the common dividend requirements for the quarter. He added, however, that there should not be any expectation of early dividend disbursement.

ALL TIME RECORD FOR GOLD IMPORT SET IN FEBRUARY

New York, March 4.—The month of February established an all-time record for movement of gold from one continent to another with receipts from Europe at the port of New York aggregating $411,000,000, according to the New York assay office.

This is more than double the amount that fled from the country in the two months of December, 1932, and January, 1933, which recorded the largest outflow in such a period of time since the war.

Starting with the fall of 1931, when England abandoned the gold standard, up to the time export of gold was stopped by presidential order in March, 1933, more than $1,300,000,000 of the metal left American depositaries for Europe. This total included ordinary routine business transactions which involved export of the metal, but the majority of it was assumed to be for the purpose of hoarding.

BUCYRUS-ERIE REDUCES 1933 LOSS TO $990,818

Bucyrus-Erie company reports for the year ended Dec. 31, 1933, a net loss of $990,818 after the deduction of taxes, depreciation, and other charges including special reserves of $188,260. In 1932 there was a net loss of $1,840,715.

The loss for last year plus dividends of $122,944 paid on preferred stock reduced the earned surplus to $6,338,834. In 1932 dividends of $392,136 paid on the preferred stock resulted in a deficit of $2,232,851. While total shipments and bookings for the year were less than those for 1932, the reduction was confined to domestic business as foreign business increased.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 4.—Net income of the New York Telephone company for 1933 was $28,516,316, which was equal, after preferred dividends, to $6.79 a share earned on the average number of common shares outstanding. In 1932 it earned $27,671,139, or $7.01 a share on the average number outstanding. After the payment of common dividends of $81,704,000 last year there was a deficit of $4,812,684, comparing with one of $3,657,861 after $29,704,000 common dividends in 1932.

"An improvement in the business of the company was experienced in the latter part of 1933," James L. Kilpatrick, president, says in his report. "In the final four months, taken as a whole, new telephone installations exceeded withdrawals by 10,464. In the full year period there was a net decrease of 119,342, or 4.96 per cent. The total number of telephones in service at the end of 1933 was 2,288,262.

"The total operating revenue was $183,400,445, compared with $197,977,153 for 1932, a reduction of $14,576,708, or 7.36 per cent. Net telephone earnings on the book cost of the average plant in service were at the rate of 4.49 per cent, compared with 4.53 per cent for 1932."

DAVIS ANNOUNCES MILK INDUSTRY ORGANIZATION

Washington, D. C., March 4.—(AP)—Chester C. Davis, farm administrator, today announced a coördinating organization for the milk industry of the country with regional committees.

He named A. H. Lauterbach of Plymouth, Wis., manager of the National Cheese Producers federation, to head the dairy section of the farm administration, replacing J. H. Mason of Des Moines, Ia., who resigned to become head of the bank for coöperatives at Omaha, Neb.

Some members of the coördinating regional committees also were announced. These groups, Davis declared, will enable the farm administration to more effectively carry out its plans for establishing higher returns to milk producers and controling production under a nation-wide program to be announced in a short time. U. M. Dickey of Seattle, Wash., who had been mentioned as a candidate for the dairy directorship, was unable to accept the appointment because of business reasons, Davis said.

Barnsdall Corp. Reports $1,942,635 Loss for 1933

Barnsdall corporation and subsidiaries report for year ended Dec. 31, 1933, net loss of $1,942,635 after interest, taxes, depreciation and other charges, compared with net loss of $847,072 in 1932.

FRIGIDAIRE SALES PLAN FOR 1934 TO BE TOLD BY EXECUTIVES TODAY

Executives of Frigidaire, subsidiary of General Motors corporation, will meet today at the Palmer house with several hundred of the company's representatives in this distributing area.

The group is touring the main cities of the country in order to lay Frigidaire's 1934 advertising and selling plans before more than 15,000 dealers and salesmen. Leaving here tonight for Detroit the party expects to be back at headquarters in Dayton, O., by about the middle of March.

"Expenditures for sales effort and advertising promotion of any company are based on sales expectations. The best key to Frigidaire's attitude for 1934 is the fact it is planning an expenditure for advertising much greater than that in 1933.

"As is the custom of our company, the bigger share of this expenditure will go to daily newspapers which never have failed us in our merchandising activities."

QUIET TRADING RULES WEEK IN METAL MARKETS

Tin was quieter, but fluctuations were narrower. Slight declines early in the week recovered later in sympathy with the action of sterling. Lead was steady and unchanged. Moderate daily buying from various consuming branches for March shipment was reported. Demand was centered in nearby requirements, with little interest thus far for April needs.

Zinc was quiet, with inquiry confined to prompt carloads lots with smelters holding prices unchanged. While somewhat better interest in antimony was attracted by continued firmness of Chinese prices, forecasting higher futures replacement costs, business was still limited. Sellers held firm, however.

Bethlehem Net Loss for Year Is $8,735,723

The pamphlet report issued yesterday by the Bethlehem Steel corporation for 1933 showed a deficit of $8,735,723 as compared with a deficit of $19,404,431 in 1932. Income for the year before interest charges and depreciation amounted to $11,472,584 as against $694,738 in the preceding year, the company reported.

The net billed value of products shipped and of other classes of business done by subsidiary companies during 1933 was $120,163,374, as compared with $96,892,488 for the preceding year. The volume of business booked during the year was $157,279,186 as compared with $85,946,548 in 1932. Unfilled orders on Dec. 31 amounted to $67,684,749 against $30,568,937 at the close of the previous year.

"Operations of the steel plants for the year averaged 28 per cent of capacity as compared with 16.9 per cent in 1932," the statement says. "There was a substantial increase in the rate of operations commencing about May and reaching a peak in July, 1933. The low point in the 1933 rate was in January.

"The plan of distributing available work among the regular pay roll force was in effect throughout the year, and was supplemented by the provisions contained in various codes of fair competition and which have directly affected the corporation, limiting the hours of work of various classes of employés. The daily average number of employés during the year was 33,504, as compared with 30,364 in 1932.

Employés Earnings Small.

"Notwithstanding the increases in rates of wages during 1933, the earnings of many employés were small due to the low rate of operations."

The company paid no dividends on common or preferred in 1933. Unpaid accumulations on the preferred amounted to $10.50 a share at the end of the year.

The number of stockholders at the year end totaled 88,377, of whom 3,610 held both common and preferred shares.

JAPAN PASSES GREAT BRITAIN IN PANAMA TRADE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA CITY, March 4.—Panama's imports from Japan during January and February exceeded the volume for the same period in 1933 by nearly half a million dollars, and for the second time beat Great Britain, which has always held second place, with the United States easily leading. During January and February, 1933, Panama's total imports were $1,161,323, with those for the same period in 1934 being $1,597,656.

During February imports from the United States amounted to $458,699, with Japan in second place with $122,423 and England's imports being $59,549. Next was China, with $42,598 in imports.

Japan's sales to Latin America for the first nine months of 1932 were $11,500,000, and for the same period in 1933 they were $31,500,000.

Riverside Bank to Pay 20 Pct. Dividend Tomorrow

Charles F. Knapp, receiver for the First National bank of Riverside, announced yesterday that a second dividend of 20 per cent has been declared for creditors who have filed claims against the bank. Dividend checks will be ready for distribution at the bank tomorrow. The bank closed on June 27, 1932. When it closed it had liabilities of over $274,000, which consisted of secured liabilities of $111,000 and $163,000 of unsecured liabilities. The secured liabilities have been paid in full and a dividend of 25 per cent has been paid on the unsecured liabilities.

STOCK PRICES PUSH FORWARD UNDER NEW DEAL

Industrials and Rails About Double.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 4.—Like nearly every other institution of country-wide importance the stock market has covered a tremendous lot of ground in the year that has elapsed since the "New Deal" government issued its memorable order last March decreeing the general bank holiday.

Industrial and railroad share prices have about doubled, rising 80 to more than 100 per cent, respectively, on the average, while the utilities, in spite of the various hindrances and handicaps, such as adverse rate and regulatory legislation under which they have had to labor, are nearly a third higher than they were when the exchange closed along with the banks. Dozens of issues have quadrupled their pre-moratorium rating and instances could be cited of prices appreciating ten or even twenty times over during the twelve months. Part of the advances may be attributed to inflationary measures on the part of the administration.

Averages Near Highs.

The "averages" are now hovering just under their high levels of the year recorded early last month. The extreme peak of THE TRIBUNE'S index on fifty representative issues was 98.27, recorded on Feb. 5. The average closed Saturday at 93.07. The high of the 1933 summer rise was 98.05 registered on July 18. Last year's low was 46.85 scored on March 2.

For the last two weeks or more the list has been idling in what the trade calls a trading range waiting for light on some of its major uncertainties, chiefly on the Fletcher-Rayburn bill looking to regulation of security exchanges. The measure was up for an airing last week and intimations were forthcoming that some of its most prominent teeth might be drawn before it comes up for a final vote, but the prosposed changes were far from alleviating the street's anxiety.

Fear Margin Rule.

From all accounts the 60 per cent margin requirement is destined to ride through and this is the "regulation" that is keeping the market guardians awake nights. One of the chief fears entertained on account of the bill is that it would, if passed in anything like its present form, bring out a new wave of liquidation, particularly from banks holding collateral for loans. In face of this threat adherents of the bullish viewpoint have been inclined to withhold commitments and the result has been little more than a time marking professional market.

The first real show of strength in some two weeks appeared just before the finish of Friday's trading, when the list under the stimulus of the General Electric dividend forged ahead more than 2 points on the average. The rally was of no more than technical dimensions, however, a fraction of the newly won ground being given up in yesterday's trading.

Expect Business Rise.

Prognosticators of the bull persuasion make much of the portents for an acceleration of the recovery trend in business during March, particularly of advance estimates forecasting the stepup in production in the "basic" steel industry to 50 per cent of capacity over the next two weeks. Some of the major automobile plants are working at capacity and the strike situation, which threatened serious drawbacks for that business last week, has disappeared except at a few plants.

Preferred Stock

Since the submission of the Plan and Agreement of Reorganization of Federal Public Service Corporation, dated November 15, 1933, the Reorganization Committee has received the deposit of over 83% of the First Lien Bonds, over 78% of the Convertible Notes and over 80% of the Preferred Stock. The rate of deposits the last three weeks indicates the probability that sufficient additional securities will be received within thirty days to enable the Committee to declare the Plan operative. The time for receiving deposits has accordingly been extended to March 31, 1934, but in view of the circumstances there is no assurance that any further extension can be granted.

The Committee therefore urges all those who have not deposited their securities to do so promptly.

TARIFF REVISION IS URGED AS AID TO COMMERCE

Foreign Policy Group Gives Outline of Program.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 4.—The United States should adopt a policy of "orderly international cooperation" if it would avoid a dictatorship, preserve our democratic institutions, speed domestic recovery, and forestall another world war growing out of trade rivalries, according to the joint committee on commercial policy of the Foreign Policy association and the World Peace foundation.

As specific recommendations in the furtherance of this policy, the committee in a report made public today advocated, among other things, tariff revision through reciprocity negotiations for the purpose of increasing trade, the delegation of power by congress to the President to change tariffs, fix quotas, and effect reciprocity agreements, an international currency agreement based on the purchase of goods by creditor from debtor nations, and the resumption of international lending under certain conditions.

Differs from Roosevelt Plan.

"Regarding the delegation of tariff powers to the executive, the report differs from President Roosevelt's message and the administration bill introduced in congress last week, which would enable the President to act without recommendation by the federal tariff commission. The committee urged that investigation and report by "a reorganized tariff commission or other administrative body" precede presidential action.

Generally speaking, however, the report is akin in spirit to the President's message on the need for stimulating foreign trade through the lowering of tariff barriers, and to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace's recent pamphlet warning of the danger of continued economic nationalism to our free American institutions.

Emphasizing the need for prompt action, the committee asserted that the existing "anomalous" situation could not last much longer, and that the United States must begin to formulate a long-range commercial policy immediately "as a matter of self interest."

Favors Orderly Program.

"To prevent the displacement of a large section of our agricultural population, to find new jobs for the unemployed, and to raise the standard of living of the American people, the committee favors the adoption of an orderly program of international trade," the report said.

"The committee is convinced that such a program is also necessary to prevent the growth of regimentation which has appeared in the countries that have attempted to develop greater self-sufficiency. The vast reorganization of industry and agriculture which a program of economic isolation demands would be extremely painful and probably could not be carried out within a short time except by outright dictatorship. No lip service to democracy can insure the preservation of our institutions unless the fundamental defects in our economic system are corrected. Far from removing such defects, the policy of economic nationalism merely accentuates them."

Relationship with Peace.

"The greatest immediate contribution which the United States can make to forestall a new world catastrophe is the inauguration of a foreign trade program based upon the principle of a voluntary and mutually advantageous exchange of goods and services. This implies a readjustment of the American economic structure so as to make possible the absorption of imports; any effort to resume a one-way trade will mean further disorganization. The American people must become import as well as export minded."

UNITED AIR LINES FLYS 44 PCT. MORE PASSENGERS IN '33

United Air Lines passenger traffic rose 44 per cent last year and mileage flown increased 12 per cent over 1932, the company reported yesterday. Passengers carried numbered 127,693 and mileage totaled 14,714,415.

Express volume reached a half million pounds, an improvement of 175 per cent but air mail carried declined 154,203 pounds to 3,182,165. Air mail revenues represented 45 per cent of total income during the first six months of 1933, the balance being made up by passenger and express revenues.

The report says that 95 per cent of the 1,250,000 miles of flying scheduled monthly were completed. The company is now flying 6,875 miles of airway in 20 states.

LAST WEEK WITNESSES CONTINUED GAINS IN CHICAGO BUSINESS

Local business is in a far better situation now than it was a year ago, when the banking moratorium commenced, observes the Chicago Association of Commerce. Last week wholesale, retail, and industrial interests maintained the improvement which had marked February.

How much business has expanded over that of last year is indicated by one large wholesaler which announced: "Incredible as it may sound, our sales for January and February were about 67 per cent ahead of the same months in 1933. We are paralleling 1921."

Other wholesalers, as well as retailers, report more modest but nonetheless substantial improving. The house furnishings trade has lately forged ahead, according to the association. Both at Chicago and in fields supplied by local wholesalers, rugs and furniture were in greater demand last week and instalment buying increased. Local plumbing and allied concerns announce many new commitments.

MONSANTO EARNS $5.14 LAST YEAR, BEST ON RECORD

Plan Stock Dividend of 100 Per Cent.

Last year's earnings were the largest in the 30 year history of the Monsanto Chemical company, according to the annual report for 1933 mailed yesterday to stockholders.

The record was established despite sharply curtailed operations which prevailed in the first two months of the year, for, with the return of confidence as the year wore on, orders flowed in heavily, enabling the concern to close the period with a substantial backlog.

Net income after all charges and taxes amounted to $2,221,207, equal to $5.14 a share on 432,000 shares of stock outstanding. This compares with $1,012,698, or $2.37 a share, in the preceding twelve months. Earnings provided a substantial margin over Monsanto's yearly dividend rate of $1.25 and directors voted a special payment of 75 cents a share, which was disbursed Dec. 29, 1933, together with a week's bonus to employes.

Assets Total $7,191,303.

Current assets at the close of 1933 were $7,191,303, including cash and government securities of $2,055,361, and current liabilities aggregated $1,-874,762, against $6,393,262 and $1,117,-591, respectively, at the end of 1932.

In his letter to stockholders accompanying the report Edgar M. Queeny, president, says that a principal factor influencing the favorable trend was the opportunity provided by the upturn in business for Monsanto to realize on the investment of approximately $9,000,000 which it had made during the last six years in new and more efficient plant.

Sales expanded 32.8 per cent. Percentage gains were marked in those products entering the textile, rutber, paint, and dyestuffs industries, while many products which find outlet in the so-called heavy industries lagged behind normal.

May Increase Shares.

Stockholders have been notified Mr Queeny states, that a proposal to increase authorized capital stock com 500,000 to 1,250,000 shares will be submitted at the annual meeting March 27. Approval also will be asked to capitalize $4,320,000 of paid in surplus and to distribute the additional capital stock thus created among stockholders share for share.

According to Mr. Queeny directors intend, in the event the proposed changes are approved and if future operations justify, to pay dividends at the rate of 25 cents a share on the increased capitalization, which will be equivalent to $2 a share on the present capitalization, compared with the current rate of $1.25.

H. M. BYLLESBY INCURS $202,012 LOSS DURING '33

Operations of H. M. Byllesby & Co. in 1933 from trading and underwriting securities resulted in a deficit of $94,-603, which with the addition of other charges brought the total deficit to $202,012, the company's annual report reveals. This compares with net income in the preceding year of $377,-343.

Surplus as of Dec. 31, 1932, of $2,-039,687 was reduced to $897,294 at the close of 1933 as the result of the deficit, writedown of investments and establishment of a reserve for notes and accounts receivable, totaling $940,-381. Notes payable were reduced $242,-200 during the year to $2,956,300.

John J. O'Brien, president, who signs the report, says the investment banking business has been practically at a standstill due to present economic conditions and the burdensome restrictions imposed on corporations by new federal and state securities laws.

"We believe contructive legislation will eventually be enacted by congress which will again permit a free capital market," he asserted. "A substantial portion of your company's revenue is dependent on the underwriting of new securities and any constructive legislation will materially increase our earnings."

VICK CHEMICAL AND STERLING REPORT INCOME

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 4.—Two of the companies that were major units in Drug, Inc., issued today their annual reports for 1933 as independent concerns. They are Sterling Products, Inc., and Vick Chemical, Inc.

Net income of Sterling products for the entire year was $8,161,976 after all charges. This was equivalent to $4.66 a share on 1,750,700 shares outstanding. Net income in 1932 was $9,-348,314, or $5.34 a share, on the same capital basis.

Net profit of Vick Chemical, Inc., for the full year was $2,339,296, equivalent to $3.34 a share on the 700,280 shares of stock outstanding. This compares with a net of $3,209,275 in 1932, or $3.74 a share, on the basis of the new capitalization. Of the net in 1933 $1,442,746 came after disolution of Drug, Inc., on Sept. 1.

FEWER HOLDERS OF STOCK SHOWN BY BIG CONCERNS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 4.—The sharp increase in the number of stockholders in the United States which occurred throughout the first three years of the depression was arrested in 1933 and replaced by a downward trend, a compilation made public today reveals.

An analysis of data submitted by 217 principal corporations in the United States and Canada shows a decline of 0.94 per cent in the total number of stockholders in 1933, contrasted with an increase of 7.27 per cent in 1932, and gains of 14.5 per cent in 1931 and 27 per cent in 1930.

From Dec. 31, 1929, to Dec. 31, 1932, there was a gain of 56 per cent in the number of stockholders. The high point appears to have been reached in the spring of 1933, according to supplementary data furnished by many of the corporations. Subsequent declines in numbers of stockholders, however, brought the number on Dec. 31, 1933, to a point about 54.4 per cent over the close of 1929.

Data from 205 Concerns.

While information was supplied by 217 corporations, compilations were made of the holders of only 205 corporations, so that truly comparable figures could be obtained. The other companies were affected by circumstances other than normal, such as growths by merger, retirement of certain stocks and other developments.

These computations involve an aggregate of 1,127,418,986 shares at the end of 1933, of which 1,046,904,973 were common and 80,514,013 preferred. These figures compare with 1,186,657,143 common and 106,642,788 preferred shares listed on the New York Stock exchange at the close of 1933, showing the ground covered by the survey.

Corporations reviewed in the tabulations include not only leading companies listed on the New York stock exchange, but also principal companies traded on the New York curb exchange, the securities market of the New York produce exchange, and on other exchanges, or over the counter.

Many Listed Issues Covered.

Substantially more than three-fourths of all shares listed on the New York stock exchange is included in the survey. All corporations with 1,500,000 or more shares outstanding were invited to furnish information for this analysis, and responses were received from a large majority.

For the purpose of interpretation, the companies were divided into more or less related groups. The figures show continued increases in 1933 in the stockholders of banks, insurance companies, and manufacturing companies. Decreases occurred in most other categories, with railroad stockholders returning to a point only slightly above the close of 1931.

Philippine Sugar Exports to U. S. Improve Sharply

Raw sugar shipments from the Philippines to the United States from Nov. 1 to Feb. 15 amounted to 481,983 long tons compared with 344,925 tons during the same period in the previous year, the Coffee and Sugar exchange reports. Refined shipments were 23,744 tons against 18,576 tons.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Loew's.

Investors' Guide: Being a subscriber to your paper, I would like information on Loew's.—K. D.

Answer: Loew's, Inc., is the only major motion picture exhibitor and producer that has come through the last four years without experiencing a loss. Others have had to sustain heavy losses and some, unable to stand the strain, went into receivership.

Loew's expanded according to a well organized plan prior to 1929. Expansion was virtually completed by 1928. Thus, when competitors were engaged in a scramble to acquire outlets at inflated prices in order to assure outlets for their pictures, Loew's was enjoying its integrated position, exhibiting its pictures through theaters acquired at prices approximating the much talked of normal price level of 1926.

Theaters were acquired not for the purpose of dominating any particular territory but as direct money-making investments.

The company has been successful in producing pictures that have found a ready response from the theater-going public.

Earnings were not immune to general business conditions. Increased theater attendance during the present season, however, enabled the company to report net income of $1,595,000, or 95 cents per common share, for the twelve weeks to Nov. 23, 1933, more than double the $742,000, or 36 cents per share, reported for the corresponding 1932 period.

1933	$ 84,939,000	$ 4,034,000	$2.35
1932	107,416,000	7,961,000	4.80
1931	120,480,000	11,830,000	7.43
1930	129,521,000	14,600,000	9.65

On Aug. 31, 1933, current assets, including cash assets of more than $11,000,000, totaled $36,421,000, and current liabilities were $5,924,000. Debenture 6s, due 1941, total $8,965,000, and subsidiary long term debt totals $19,795,000. There are outstanding 188,349 shares of $6.50 dividend, no par preferred, and 1,464,205 shares of no par common. The common pays 25 cents a quarter. Dividends in 1933 totaled $1, against $3 a share in 1932, 1931, and 1930.

The preferred deserves a fairly high rating. The common is medium grade.

Answer: No dividends were paid on stock of Western Union Telegraph company in 1933. In fact, nothing has been paid on it since the dollar a share disbursement on April 15, 1932.
